U. S. SPURNS CHINESE DEMANDS

Borah Brings Charges Against Kellogg

CURRENT COMMENT
by Chester H. Rowell

"MA" FERGUSON'S wholesale jail delivery is of course an outrageous abuse of the executive power. Since that power must reside somewhere, and must in its nature be arbitrary and uncontrolled, the obvious moral is that we should not elect governors who will use it that way.

But inexcusable though it is, "Ma's" adventure in clemency may turn out to be an instructive experiment. We lock up people, partly to satisfy our instinct for revenge, but chiefly because we regard them as unsafe at large. We think that human rights can only be protected by putting away those who have disregarded them. Now comes "Ma" and turns the whole lot loose. If such persons are not safe at large, Texas will become an unsafe place to live in. If, on the contrary, Texas remains peaceable, one of our pet theories is challenged.

AFTER all, what is the purpose of "punishment?"

An international Congress of Penal Law, to which the writer happened to be American delegate, discussed that question for three days at Brussels this summer. One faction insited that it was "la peine"—punishment, penalty. The other insisted that it was the security of society. Since both sides agreed that, in practice, both purposes must be taken into consideration, the debate struck an American outsider as decidedly academic, chiefly interesting as illustrating the highly-trained subtlety and precision of Continental lawyers. Finally the more liberal school, under the leadership of Enrico Ferri, of Italy, won the vote.

* * *

THEORETICALLY, most of us would take the side of "the protection of society." But consider some extreme cases.

Prison authorities all report that murderers are, on the whole, their highest-grade and most normal prisoners. That is doubtless due to the fact that murder is the most normal of crimes—probably the only one that most of us have ever been personally tempted to commit. Most murderers are only tempted once, and the majority of them would be perfectly safe at large, with no risk of their ever committing another murder, if they were turned loose unconditionally the day after conviction. But would any one advocate doing so? Society would be safe, but the human instinct for revenge upon the highest of crimes would be unsatisfied.

At the opposite extreme is the so-called Baumes law, now making trouble in New York. Under that law, any criminal convicted of his fourth felony is automatically sentenced to life imprisonment, even though the final crime of itself would call for only a brief term. From the standpoint of the protection of society, that also is justified. Any man who has been convicted of four felonies has doubtless committed many others, and is a habitual criminal. He is going to spend much of his life in prison, under repeated sentences. He will not be particularly worse off himself, and society will be much safer, if he is sent up once for all, after the fourth conviction. As a protection to society, the law is correct. But the conscience of many judges revolts at punishing a man with life imprisonment for grand larceny, for which, by itself the law prescribes perhaps a year's term. It is too severe a revenge for too small an offense.

Evidently, after all, we "punish" to punish.

PROFESSOR Herrick, of Harvard, urges the study of Russian in American colleges. Some colleges now offer the study, and it is taken by a few students, but for the most part it is neglected. It is a good idea, though it will be slow in spreading. Most students, in this lazy age, would be terrorized at the supposedly insurmountable difficulties of the language.

Most of these difficulties, in fact, are fictitious. Contrary to reputation, Russian, when well spoken, is a very musical language, and is not particularly difficult to pronounce. English-speaking students would find it easier to "get their tongues around" Russian than French sounds. The spelling is, to be sure, somewhat unphonetic, but much less so than English. The alphabet looks hard, but it is soon learned, and when learned, it turns out to be much simpler, for the purposes of the Russian language, than the impossible combination with which we seek to transliterate it into our Latin alphabet. The grammar is a real job, but not an impossible one. And the vocabulary, while strange at first, has some real advantages. Russian combines the advantage of German, in being able to build itself up out of its own elements, with the hospitality of English, to words and roots of foreign origin. It is a rich and musical language, with a great literature, and it opens a new world.

If you want a real job, but one worth while, learn Russian. If you are looking for a "snap," study Spanish.

Idaho Senator Says Secretary of State Deleted Parts of His Testimony

Montanan Declares Graft Marks Banker Rule Over Republic of Nicaragua

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Secretary of State Kellogg deleted important portions of the record of his Nicaraguan and Mexican testimony before the senate foreign relations committee, Chairman Borah, of the Committee, declared today, in a statement announcing the committee had decided to refuse Kellogg's request that his version of his testimony be made public.

Wholesale graft has characterized "the banker-state department rule over Nicaragua for the last 17 years," Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, declared in the senate today, charging that President Coolidge omitted important facts in his message to congress on Nicaraguan affairs.

Asking questions concerning election of President Diaz, of Nicaragua, and the extradition of Liberal Leader Sacasa, Wheeler said:

Information Withheld

"It would be interesting to know why this information, which must be in possession of the state department was withheld by the president. Was he ignorant of the facts? If so, who is responsible? If he was not ignorant, what motive honorable to himself and to congress could have induced him to withhold this information?

Wheeler said it would be impossible to comment on the administration's Latin-American policies because they changed every 24 hours and therefore he confined himself "to the president's message which cannot be changed."

He charged Secretary Kellogg had one day embraced the doctrine of Mexican arbitration, but denied it 24 hours later.

"The American people are not fooled," said Wheeler. "They know that this cry of Bolshevism and of protection of lives and property in Nicaragua is but an effort of this administration to justify war with Mexico.

"When the Robinson resolution was introduced in the senate, we read in the press that the secretary of state would welcome arbitration, only to find that he had changed his attitude again in 24 hours. How can one, under such circumstances discuss the administration's policy? If it has one, there is not a member of the senate knows what it is today, or if he does, he does not know but what it will be changed in 24 hours.

Where Does Coolidge Stand?

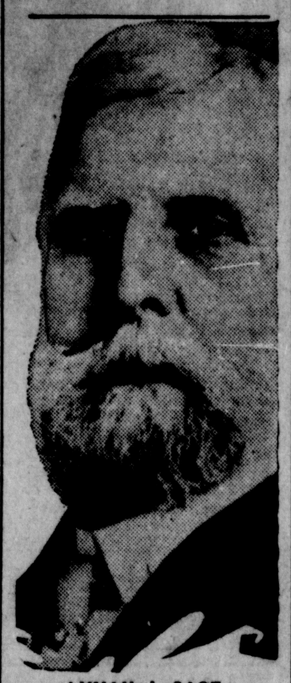

"'Stand behind the president,' someone cries. I should like to, but where does he stand?

"Wholesale graft has characterized the banker-state department control of Nicaragua for the past 17 years. Patriotic Liberals and Conservatives agree on this. Behind the paper statements of prosperity, the real conditions stick out plain. The operating expenses of the railroad increased from $30,000 to approximately $300,000, and no improvements were made. The customs duties were increased 100 per cent. So bad have been conditions many people have left the country.

"The country in its every aspect is absolutely under the merciless heel of the state department and the New York bankers. Nicaragua is this moment in the bitterest bondage in which any free people ever found themselves.

"Who is there in this body who is not ashamed of the treatment we have accorded to Haiti and Santo Domingo? If the true stories of these countries were known to the American people, they would blush with shame."

L. J. Gage Dies

LYMAN J. GAGE

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 26—Lyman J. Gage, 91, secretary of the treasury under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, died of pneumonia at noon, today, in his home here. Gage had been ill since Sunday. At first, according to his physicians, it was believed he would recover, but because of his advanced age his constitution failed to withstand the effects of the disease.

MOTHER TELLS OF BROWNING'S SUICIDE THREAT

Mrs. Heenan Says Cinderella Man Sought to Kill Girl, Self

(By United Press)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Mrs. Katherine Heenan, mother of Frances "Peaches" Heenan Browning, charged in court here today that Edward Browning once had threatened to kill his wife and commit suicide.

She was called as a witness after "Peaches" had completed her own recital of her married life.

Browning, she said, returned home from his office one night and complained of being tired. He threw himself on a bed, and "acted queerly," she said.

"Dorothy Sunshine (Browning's adopted daughter) was at home at the time," Mrs. Heenan testified.

"She wanted her tea downstairs. Browning came out of his room, ordered her tea served and then returned.

Carries Phial In Hand

"Pretty soon he came out and had a little phial in his hand.

"'I don't know what is the matter with me,' he said. 'My heart is bad.'

"He kept on acting queerly and then exclaimed: 'I'm going to kill myself and you.'

"He was talking to Frances."

Mrs. Heenan said she told Browning she would call the police.

"He put the phial back in his pocket and then he pleaded with us to forgive him and said he would not do anything like that again.

Mrs. Heenan testified that Browning told her that "If ever we separate, no judge will decide against me because of the good I have done for people."

"The newspapers will keep me on the front page and you will be downed like the other Mrs. Browning," she said Browning told her. Browning and his wife were divorced.

"Who gave your daughter the name of Peaches?" she was asked.

Fire Perils Hollywood's Movie Row

(By United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26.—Fire and a series of explosions in the Associate Exhibitors, Pathe, Inc., offices, here, today, which for a time threatened an entire block of film exchanges, known as "Movie Row," destroyed the interior of the two-story stucco and wood Pathe structure.

The fire of unknown origin spread with spectacular rapidity and firemen fighting the blaze were endangered by exploding films, which shot flaming celluloid in every direction. Four companies poured chemicals and water on the blaze for more than an hour before it was subdued.

A score of employes escaped without injury. Extent of the damage coul dnot be determined until a check of the contents of the building has been made.

BILL FOR BOULDER DAM STRIKES SNAG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill met a snag today in the house rules committee, which will delay action until "some details are ironed out," according to Chairman Snell.

Senators Sheppard and Mayfield, Democrats, Texas, today introduced identical amendments to the dam bill, providing that the measure shall not be construed as denying recognition of any existing rights in Mexico in waters of the Colorado river system and shall not prejudice the negotiation of a treaty with Mexico affecting such rights.

Snell pointed out that the contract for disposition of the Colorado waters was now unconditionally ratified by only four states. Arizona has announced opposition, Utah has recently rescinded its approval and California has approved only conditionally, he said.

Utah's action, Snell said, was an important factor in causing his committee to hold up action on the special rule asked by Chairman Smith, Republican, Idaho, of the irrigation committee.

Snell said he still hopes for agreement to permit a house vote before March 4.

STATE HIGHWAY WORK TO RESUME

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—Highway activities in all parts of California, at a standstill pending the appointment of a new state highway commission by Governor Young, today moved forward, under orders of the new members, following their first formal meeting.

Among projects approved by Ralph W. Bull, of Eureka, chairman of the commission, and Commissioner J. P. Baumgartner, of Santa Ana, included:

Additional surfacing on the Yosemite lateral, in Mariposa county, in anticipation of next summer's heavy traffic, $20,000.

The state highway engineer was authorized to call for bids for the construction of the following projects:

Reconstruction of 3.7 miles of state highway between La Mesa and El Cajon, San Diego county.

Grading and rock surfacing, in preparation for oiling, of six miles of the Cholame lateral, from Estrella river easterly, San Luis Obispo county.

VISALIA EDITOR NEW PRINTER FOR STATE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—After considering applications from more than a dozen persons, Governor Young has announced the appointment of Charles A. Whitmore, Visalia editor, to the position of state printer, at a salary of $5000 a year.

Whitmore will succeed John E. King, who will return to Riverside county to resume his former occupation as publisher of the Hemet News.

Whitmore was a member of the state board of education from 1914 to 1918, while King has just begun a term as member of the same board, having been appointed by Governor Richardson, just before his retirement.

ARCHITECT JAILED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Arthur J. Scholz, San Francisco architect, was held in the city jail here today, to await removal to San Francisco, on charges of failure to provide.

BAN CHAPLIN FROM SCREEN IN PASADENA

IS EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

Action First of Its Kind Taken in California, As Result of Divorce Case

(By United Press)

PASADENA, Jan. 26.—Charles Spencer Chaplin and his inimitable clowning have been banned from the screen indefinitely by this city, almost within hearing of the grinding cameras of the film colony, it was announced today.

The step was taken by the Pasadena board of censors, taking a negative view of the comedian's moral standing, as the result of the sensational divorce complaint filed by the comedian's wife. The ban will be effective until further notice, the board announced in a formal statement.

"Chaplin has earned the right to exclusion," the Rev. C. V. Cowan, head of the Pasadena board of review, answered tersely, on being questioned regarding the action. "His moral attitude is no example for young people."

The action was the first of its kind to be taken in California, home of the movie industry. Cowan declared that all theater owners in the city had acceded to the request that Chaplin's fun-making antics be banned indefinitely from the theaters of this city.

The ban followed a request for permission to show one of Chaplin's old pictures in a Pasadena church. Cowan refused the request and, at a meeting with other members of the board, took steps to blacklist the comedian's productions.

He declared that the board had been urged by many residents of this city to take such action for some time.

MRS. CHAPLIN MUST STRUGGLE ALONG

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Lita Grey Chaplin must struggle along in some fashion without support from her estranged actor husband, until February 1, it was apparent here today.

The action, that suddenly turned the tide of adversity sweeping against Charlie Chaplin since the filing of a sensational divorce complaint by his wife, was in the form of a writ of prohibition restraining the payment of $14,400 alimony and other court awards.

Chaplin's first legal victory in the case came in the second district court of appeal, where attorneys for the comedian argued that the superior court had acted without jurisdiction in awarding the temporary alimony.

A formal hearing was set for February 1. Meanwhile the injunction becomes effective by the court order of Presiding Judge Conrey and Associate Justices York and Hauser.

CHAPLIN MAY NOT RETURN FOR MONTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Charles Chaplin may not return to Los Angeles for a month, Nathan Burkan, his attorney, told the United Press today.

Chaplin is fast becoming his normal self. He has seen two shows this week. On Monday night he saw the musical comedy, "Oh Kay" and last night "Yours Truly." He takes automobile drives and walks in the afternoon sleeping most of the morning.

Burkan said members of his law firm, who were in Washington earlier in the week, would call on Internal Revenue Collector Bowers today or tomorrow, to post bond to free the property of the Chaplin Film corporation from the lien the government imposed last week to cover alleged back income taxes due.

House Will Take Up Farm Relief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The McNary-Haugen bill will be taken up in the house next week, the rules committee decided today. By that time, Chairman Snell announced, the pending appropriation bill will be out of the way.

REVISION OF TREATIES TO BE DEFERRED

Coolidge Rejects Request For Early Withdrawal of American Courts, Troops

STABLE RULE NEEDED

President Insists Representative Government in China First Requirement

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—President Coolidge has rejected the Chinese Nationalist demands for immediate treaty equality, despite the grave anti-foreign movement menacing American lives and property in China.

His decision will be outlined in an official state department memorandum, to be made public here and abroad tomorrow.

The memorandum will express the sympathy of this government with Chinese aspirations and will commit the United States to revision of the so-called unequal treaties as soon as a stable representative Chinese government is able to negotiate.

But the memorandum will insist that abrogation of extra-territorial treaty privileges, under which American courts and troops are maintained in China, be by gradual and progressive steps, rather than by immediate and complete change.

Chaos Prevents Settlement

The memorandum will point out that this government, in line with its policy of supporting gradual and conditional change in China's treaty status, has participated in conferences at Peking to increase Chinese tariffs and seek modification of extra-territoriality. It will add that only the Chinese chaos and non-appearance of representative Chinese officials to complete the new surtax schedule with the powers has prevented settlement of the tariff dispute.

While expressing entire agreement with the Chinese desire to throw off the "foreign yoke" involved in extra-territoriality, the memorandum will state this government's conviction that Chinese laws, courts and the political situation do not now afford adequate protection for American life and property, which would be dependent solely upon these Chinese institution if American courts and troops were withdrawn.

Hope For Improvement

This government will repeat the hope, however, that China will soon be able to provide conditions of order and progress which will justify the United States in its desire to relinquish to Chinese officials and institutions the protection of legitimate American interests.

This will depend, according to the memorandum, upon reform of fairly stable and responsible central government able to speak for the Chinese people and to enforce its laws.

The memorandum will be in general agreement with the policy favored by Silas Strawn, of Chicago, American commissioner at the recent extra-territoriality conference, and the policy advocated by Minister MacMurray, at Peking.

It will commit this government to a much slower program of change than that urged by the Porter resolution, which has been favorably reported to the house.

MULTITUDES CHEER DEPARTING TROOPS

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Jan. 26.—Amid the cheers of throngs lining the docks and the tooting of sirens, 1000 British marines and two detachments of aviators left for China today aboard the steamer Minnesota.

Warships and harbor craft, with sirens tied down, escorted the steamer out of the harbor, recalling World war scenes.

The troops are the first of the British expeditionary forces being assembled for the defense of Shanghai.

HAVENS OF SAFETY ARE BEING RUSHED

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26.—Havens of safety, at which Americans would be concentrated in the event of a great emergency, today were being prepared by the U. S. consulate, as reports arrived from Hankow, 100 miles to the south, that the Chinese troops defending Shanghai were being defeated by Cantonese Nationalists.

Meantime, the work of addition to the barricades around foreign settlements continued.

Foreign authorities were concentrating all forces for a determined defense of the city. Defense plans included the creation of a neutral area extending approximately five miles around the city. All roads and railways will be commanded by artillery and machine-guns.

Fire on Steamer Is Believed Out

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 26.—Without further advices from the Margaret Dollar, of the Dollar line's intercoastal fleet, the fire reported in her hold at a point 350 miles south of here, late last night, was believed to be practically extinguished today.

At that time, steamers in the vicinity of the Dollar boat were informed that no assistance was needed.

The fire, according to meager reports, was disovered in hold No. 1 and confined to that portion of the steamer. The Margaret Dollar is due in San Pedro tomorrow.

BANDIT SLAYS POLICEMAN WHO TRAPPED HIM IN STORE

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 — A city-wide man hunt was in progress here today for the bandit, who shot down and fatally wounded Traffic Officer Parley L. Bennett, 32, following a hold-up staged in the Brodin millinery store, in the downtown district.

Bennett died enroute to the hospital, late yesterday, after attempting to prevent the escape of the bandit, who was trapped in the store after looting a safe of $70.

Police posses searched the Hayward hotel several hours later, following a report that the murderer was barricaded in a room there. The man escaped through a side entrance, after holding hotel employes off with a revolver.

Bennett was shot three times when he entered the store in answer to a call for help from A. Brodin, proprietor.

QUICK JUSTICE IS DEALT GEM THIEF

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Within 24 hours after he committed a jewel robbery here, E. J. Miller, who is said to have escaped from a prison near Boston, began serving a sentence from three to five years today. Miller's alleged prison record in Massachusetts was revealed through information received from the California state bureau of criminal identification, at Sacramento.

COOL AND CLOUDY WEATHER PREVAILS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Cool and cloudy weather visited the major portion of Southern California today, with the weather bureau forecasting unsettled conditions for tomorrow.

A disturbance moving over the northern Pacific will bring Southern California continued cloudiness tonight and unsettled weather tomorrow, according to the forecast.

TRAVEL TO SOUTHLAND IS HEAVIEST EVER RECORDED

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Following a survey of daily reports on incoming trains, C. L. McFaul, assistant general passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific railroad, announced today that, during a two-month period from November 15 to January 15, more travel had been recorded into Los Angeles, than during any equal period of time.

"The demand for splendid accommodations has grown at a greater rate than the travel," he said.

"It is all an evidence that not only a greater number of people are coming here, but a greater number of people of ample means are coming. This in a large measure may be ascribed to the work of the All-Year Club of Southern California.

BROWNING THREAT OF SUICIDE TOLD

"Mr. Browning did," was the answer.

Mrs. Heenan said that her daughter had given all orders to the chauffeur who moved them from Kew Garden inn, on October 2, when Mrs. Browning left her husband.

Peaches was the first witness at today's hearing.

"In what business were you engaged at the time of your marriage?" was the first question.

Peaches breathed deeply as though the question was less cutting than she had expected.

"None," she answered.

"But you have been employed?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes. In the summer of 1925, I was a sales girl in a department store."

"How much did you earn?"

Received $15 Weekly

"Fifteen dollars a week."

Mrs. Browning then said she had attended school in the Bronx, New York, until the time she was burned about the face and neck with acid, which was in March, 1926.

Browning, all the while, was studying a paper and paid no heed to his wife's testimony. Once he arose, walked across the room and returned with a large suit case with the initials "E. W. B." upon it in big red letters.

John E. Mack, attorney for Browning, then introduced a series of newspaper articles headed "Why I Left Daddy Browning." One article was illustrated with a picture of Mrs. Browning in a bathing suit. She admitted having posed for the picture.

A sheaf of letters, many in Peaches' handwriting, numerous newspapers and other printed and typewritten papers were then offered in evidence and some identified.

2 Are Hurt When Speed Boat Burns

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 26.—Capt. C J. Christensen and Engineer Nielson were recovering from serious burns here today, suffered in an explosion and fire which burned the 57-foot schooner yacht "Chipsa," last of California's famous old speed boats, to the water's edge, late yesterday..

The boat was set afire off Point Vicente when her fuel tanks exploded. Captain Christensen and Engineer Nielson were rescued by the navy mine sweper King Fisher, which played water on the burning craft.

The "Chipsa," built in San Francisco in 1879, held speed and distance records for more than 20 years. She was still in good condition and was valued at $10,000.

BLONDE OR BRUNETTE? HUBBY ATTEMPTS TO STRAIGHTEN OUT THAT ETERNAL TRIANGLE

The path of the possibly-divorced seems beset with difficulties, if one were to judge by the expressions on the faces of three Community Players, taking prominent parts in "Enter Madame," to open in the Temple theater next Tuesday night. Madame Lisa Della Robbia, (Mona Summers Smith) seems inclined to stern judgment on her almost-divorced husband, "Gerald Fitzgerald" (Warren Fletcher) and the blonde little widow to whom he is engaged, "Mrs. Flora Preston" (Dorothy Mayhew.)

Dog, Cat and Parrot Carry 'Heavy' Roles in Presentation

"Enter Madame," the vehicle with which Santa Ana Community Players will open their season next Tuesday night, has had its cast members named at various times in the columns of The Register and in every case, three decidedly important members have been omitted. When interviewed today, in regard to the omission, they expressed themselves in manners befitting their respective temperaments. Their characteristics, it may be noted in passing, may be inclined to differ in some essentials, but not in the nervousness that is so largely a part of the true artistic temperament.

The dog, when asked to put, in as concise form as possible, his feelings at having been ignored, merely growled. The cat disdainfully walked away and the parrot attempted to assume a lofty indifference to the subject in hand by walking to the farther end of his high perch and calling for a cracker in domineering tones, as much as to say that he was so prominent in speaking roles that it showed lack of proper artistic understanding upon the parts of those whose duty it should have been to place him in the lead in any remarks about the cast.

Victor Morrison, stage carpenter with the Players, daily bewails the fact that a young menagerie is used in "Enter Madame," for the three animals are in his care at the theater and, since all are of nervous temperament and ample voice, the detail of keeping them quiet during rehearsals before their entry is due is one that is well calculated to give him pause and breed fears as to the results on the four nights of the performance, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, in the Temple theater.

PFAU NOT GUILTY OF WILD DRIVING

Lee Pfau, prominent Newport Beach real estate dealer, today was found not guilty of reckless driving in police court.

Judge J. F. Talbott, who heard the case, ruled that the evidence against Pfau was not sufficient.

The arrest of Pfau followed an automobile accident at Edinger and South Main streets, on January 3, in which Mrs. Theodore Neil, Santa Ana, suffered slight injuries. Witnesses for the defense and prosecution testified that the drivers of the two machines did not see each other until both cars were almost in the center of the intersection.

Pfau testified that he was taking several easterners through the Orange belt on a tour of inspection at the time of the accident.

After thinking it over, you couldn't find a worse place to get your watch fixed than at this shop. Why, everything is old-fashioned—tools, equipment and the proprietor, who learned his trade in a boiler factory. He is also physically unfit and has indigestion, tonsilitis and housemaid's knee. This shop has not even the distinction of being cheap.

PLAGUE OF MICE MAY LAST YEARS

TAFT, Jan. 26.—The warning of S. E. Piper, mouse extermination specialist, of Washington, D. C., that the epidemic of mice in the Buena Vista lake region may last two or three years, has not disheartened residents of the district, they indicated today, as they continued their determined battle against the rodents.

Piper's statement, made in a preliminary report to the Kern county board of supervisors, has been taken by those who live in the district infested by millions of mice to be a possibility that may be eliminated by a hard and concentrated warfare against the little animals.

Furthermore, the residents of the district are of the opinion that Piper's first complete report on the plague will be much more optimistic than the statement to the supervisors, because he has admitted that statement was "very superficial."

The mouse-killing expert was working today on this report and said he believed it was possible it will be made public tomorrow.

Escaped Federal Convict Captured

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 26.—Frank McGoldrick, one of three prisoners who escaped from the federal penitentiary here last night, was captured today.

McGoldrick, hiding in some brush near the Soldiers' home, two miles from the prison, was captured without a struggle by Capt. John M. Martin, in charge of the evening watch at the penitentiary.

Prison guards continued to comb the vicinity of the home for the two other convicts.

Banker Addresses Hi-Y Members

Harry Hanson, assistant cashier of the First National bank, addressed members of the Hi-Y club at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. last night, using as his topic, "Thrift." More than 40 attended the dinner for which music was rendered by the Hi-Y orchestra and Harvey French, flute player.

A Hi-Y deputation team, composed of the Hi-Y quartette, orchestra and four boys who will make short addresses, will go to Westminster Sunday night, and assume charge of regular Sunday evening services, it was announced.

Freed of Killing

REV. J. FRANK NORRIS

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 26.—"I knew the verdict could only be freedom."

That was the only comment the Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth fundamentalist preacher, who was acquitted Tuesday of the murder of Dexter E. Chipps, would give concerning the verdict.

Dr. Norris left the courtroom with his wife and two little sons immediately after the verdict had been read and was followed by a throng of friends who wished to shake his hand and congratulate him on the outcome of the trial, which had attracted nation-wide attention.

A WORD OF COMFORT

No man would give away to an impulse to challenge God's justice and love, if he paused to realize that the temptation is presented to him by the powers of evil masquerading as righteous indignation and outraged virtue.

It is hard for an aching heart to discern the poison hidden in the suggestion that you have been unfairly treated and should rebel against God.

Ask God to open your eyes that you may see Him as He is and become worthy of the love He bears you.

KRIEGER—At 822 Lacy street, January 25, 1927, Mrs. Pauline Krieger, aged 68 years. Funeral services will be held Thursday, January 27 at 10 a. m. from the Smith and Tuthill chapel. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery, the Rev. Mr. Schmoock officiating.

UNDERSEA MOUNTAIN

LONDON, Jan. 26.—A tall peak out in mid-Atlantic, Mount Laura Ethel, would tower high among the lofty ranges of the Rockies, but its summit falls fathoms short of sunlight, according to scientists here. Another buried marvel is the Congo canyon, bigger than the Grand canyon of Arizona, but submerged far under the surface of the Atlantic.

Never A Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is always wavy, with never a Marcel. And it always has a glow. The reason lies in a hair dress made exclusively for me. It was perfected for me by great experts when I had my long hair bobbed. Now all toilet counters supply it under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c.

I cannot conceive of a girl or woman going without it when she knows. No one who sees my hair will do so. Nothing else I have ever found makes hair so lustrous, so wavy, so fluffy, so abundant. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

POLITICAL WIND IN FRANCE IS SHIFTING ABOUT

PARIS, Jan. 26—France has been holding some parliamentary elections that stand in importance about midway between the English bye-elections for a single member and our mid-term congressional elections. The results are not likely to change the political complexion of the legislature, but they serve to indicate which way the political winds are blowing.

The result this time has been a distinct gain for the Left or less nationalistic parties, especially the Socialists. The pro-Poincare president of the senate was defeated, while the anti-Poincare president of the chamber was promoted to the senate. Former President Millerand, a confirmed Nationalist, was retired to private life, while one or two Communists are to enter the senate, a new experience for both the Communists and that august body.

The Socialists signalized their new position by securing the election to the presidency of the chamber, M. Bouisson, one of their members, over M. Maginot, who was M. Poincare's minister of war when that doughty Nationalist sent the French forces into the Ruhr.

It is clear that the country and the parliament are decidedly opposed to any further adventuring of that kind. M. Briand's policy of reconciliation and peaceful progress receives renewed assurances of support. M. Poincare holds office upon sufferance. As long as he manages to control the financial situation he may remain premier; but the moment he essays any role other than that of money-doctor he invites removal instanter.

An interesting sidelight upon the election is the persistence with which the eastern departments — those exposed to German aggression—return Nationalist deputies.

OFFICERS DETAIN ELOPING COUPLE

Harry Miller, 17, 4204 Folsom street, Los Angeles, and Vashti Moffett, 17, 131 Record street, Los Angeles, came to Santa Ana yesterday afternoon for the purpose of being married, but deputy sheriffs detained them after it was learned that they were wards of the juvenile court in Los Angeles, according to James Smith, deputy sheriff, arresting officer.

The pair is being held in the county jail until Los Angeles officers come here today to return them to Los Angeles, it was said.

Said to be runaway boys from Los Angeles, Edward Reynolds, 17, 804 South Los Angeles street, and Louis Morales, 415 South Olive street, were arrested in Anaheim yesterday afternoon and lodged in the county jail, where they are being held for Los Angeles juvenile authorities.

HONOR MUSICIANS

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Clara Damrosch Mannes, a member of the famous American Damrosch family, recently received a rare honor from the French government—the rosette of an "officer de l'instruction publique." The decoration granted the woman musician recognizes her services as an artist and educator. She is greatly interested in the teaching of music to children.

Dr. Ada Henry arrived in Santa Ana Monday from her home in Bozeman, Mont., for a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. W. B. Keller, 804 West Fourth street. Dr. Henry states that she brought nearly everyone in Montana with her, as she was a passenger aboard the Union Pacific special, made up of three sections of ten cars each. This is the mid-winter excursion put on by the railroad from Butte, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dowd, of Trinidad, Colo., are guests at the home of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ashen, 1516 French street. Mr. Dowd is a retired railroad man, having been connected with the Colorado and Wyoming railroad. They will make their home in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Battles have come to Santa Ana from Ottawa, Ill., to make their home, and have purchased a house near the county hospital in the Berger Half Acres. Mr. Battles is a retired farmer, and is a brother of Mrs. Charles F. Hoes. He and his wife will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoes and family at 2056 Bush street, until they are settled.

Mrs. Stella E. Melton, hat designer at Rutherford's Millinery, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at her home, 2056 Bush street.

Mrs. Sam Jernigan and Miss Flora Pritchett have received word of the death of their sister, Mrs. C. D. Rankin, which occurred last Thursday in Bynum, Tex. Mrs. Rankin has been an invalid for four years, following an automobile accident four years ago, when her back was broken and she was paralyzed. Mrs. Jernigan was badly injured in the accident which occurred about twelve miles from Bynum.

John Holt is confined to his residence, 718 East Chestnut avenue, because of illness.

R. R. Briney and daughter, Mrs. Beulah Crehbeil, of Abilene, Kan., are here on a visit to P. L. Briney and family. The men are brothers. The visitors are making their first trip to Southern California, and have been delightfully surprised at the beautiful and prosperous appearance of the southland. Mr. Briney has a brother living at Long Beach and one at Torrance. He is also an old friend of John Cochran, of this city.

Mrs. Herbert Veitch and Miss Blanche Bennett of Great Falls, Montana, are here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bennett and sister Mrs. William W. Jones.

Friends of Scott Cunningham, 813 West Pine street, who underwent an operation at the Santa Ana Valley hospital two weeks ago, will be glad to know that he is improving. He was removed to his home last Thursday.

T. J. Hunter, district manager for the Equitable Life Insurance company with headquarters in the Spurgeon building, is booked to leave over the Southern Pacific on Friday for New York City, where he will attend the managerial conference of his company, to be attended by managers and district managers in the United States. Mr. Hunter will stop over two days in Weatherford, Tex., and a day in Oklahoma to visit relatives and will be home about February 13, returning with other delegates on a special Union Pacific train.

Mrs. F. A. Rogers, who was for many years a local representative of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company, and lived at the Meyer apartments, has moved to Glendale, where she has relatives. Mrs. Rogers, however, often comes to Santa Ana, where she still has business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Shugart and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shugart were hosts Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Delmar Bruck, (Louise Shugart) Mr. Bruck's father, Charles Bruck and Mrs. M. Crimm, all of Glendale.

VILLAGE BELLS KEPT RINGING FOR 250 YEARS

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The chimes of a church bell ringing out over the midlands these winter evenings recalls a curfew that has been kept for more than 250 years.

Grimstone, near Melton Mowbray, is a picturesque old world village which dies on the southern declivity of the Wold hills and still retains its stocks where public offenders are punished.

Two and a half centuries ago, a Grimstone woman lost her way while walking from Melton Mawbray to her home in a snowstorm. But for the tolling of the church bell, which enabled her to find her way, she would have perished in the cold. Thankful, she bought the field wherein she first heard the sound of the bell and bequeathed its income to future bell ringers, provided the bell should be tolled every evening from October to April.

The bell rings out the day of the week and also the month. Although the deeds have been lost these many years, the curfew still is faithfully kept every evening at 8 o'clock and the woman's field is let at public auction each Easter.

Capistrano Y.L.I.

Capistrano Institute, No. 104, Y.L.I., extended a hearty welcome last night to its new institute deputy, Miss Katherine Kelly of Los Angeles institute, who with Miss Edna Le Blanc, also an old friend of Capistrano, who came down to install the incoming officers.

The meeting in Knights of Columbus hall was well attended, more than 60 members being present. The hall was beautifully decorated with mustard blossoms, just now coming as the first signs of spring, and which were artistically arranged in large baskets.

Two candidates, Mrs. Julius Meyer and Miss Donovon, were initiated into the institute, the well-drilled flag team adding much to the beauty of the ceremonies.

The committee for the recent very successful card party reported $35 cleared.

The institute was asked to pledge help in support of a number of refugee Mexican nuns, who will be brought to Santa Ana in the near future, according to the earnest request of Right Rev. Bishop Cantwell. These nuns were driven from their homes in Mexico, their furniture and belongings confiscated, their houses turned into public schools, and in civilian dress those who had money fled to the United States, where the people of the border states are sheltering the defenseless women. The institute voted endorsement of the plan and will do its share in the good Samaritan work.

Miss Kelly, deputy grand president, assisted by Miss Le Blanc, grand marshal, installed the following officers: past president, Miss Clara Biesener; president, Mrs. Stella Engelman; first vice president, Miss Beatrice Reilly; second vice president, Miss Ada Markel; recording secretary, Mrs. Caroline Y. Barnett; financial secretary, Mrs. Sandon; treasurer, Mrs. Helena Markel; marshal, Mrs. Lilian Markel; inside sentinel, Mrs. Ida Evans; outside sentinel, Mrs. Rose Ashen; organist, Mrs. Zola Maag; trustees, Miss Anne Lieberman, Miss Allie Pierson, Mrs. Marie Voss Kuhler, Miss Agnes Lieberman and Miss Mary Banks.

Mrs. Olive Lopez, on behalf of the institute, presented beautiful corsage bouquets to Miss Kelly and Mrs. Engelman, the latter also receiving a check in appreciation of the fine work done by her during the past term in the president's chair, to which she was re-elected.

The Rev. Father P. A. Connolly, pastor of St. Anne's parish, was present and gave an excellent address on "Organization." He was followed by Miss Kelly, who expressed her joy at again being Capistrano's deputy, and Miss Le Blanc, who was a frequent visitor in Santa Ana when Capistrano was but an "infant."

Tables, centered with airy flower pots in which grew sprays of mustard, were used upon which to serve refreshments which carried out the spring motif. The next meeting will be held on February 8.

School District Name Is Changed

A resolution, officially changing the name of the Placentia-Richfield union school district to Placentia union grammar school district, was adopted late yesterday by the county supervisors, who previously had signified approval of the petition filed to request the change of name.

1926 GRAND JURY COMPLETES ARDUOUS TASK AND MEMBERS GO BACK TO EVERYDAY LIFE

Nineteen citizens of Orange county, members of the retiring grand jury, today were picking up the threads of every-day private life, after devoting seven weeks to public service.

The 19 men and women were returning to office or household duties with sighs of relief at completion of an arduous task, they admitted. The 1926 grand jury was an exceedingly busy body in attending to its business of being a public "busy-body."

The last act of the jury was the filing of its report to the county supervisors, late yesterday. This was done by Foreman A. W. Griffith and Mrs. Nora Earl Fairbanks, secretary. The report was accompanied by the filing of an expense account and salary demand, showing that the grand jury cost $2352.30. The grand jury of 1925 cost $1969.60.

From reports of its activity, the 1926 grand jury was probably the most harmonious that has been empaneled in the county. Praise for this and other features of its work was expressed by Mrs. Fairbanks, the secretary, after the grand jury was discharged.

"This grand jury worked hard and always in entire harmony," said Mrs. Fairbanks. "With a single exception, there never was a minority on any point, all action being unanimous.

"We put in seven weeks of the most conscientious and exacting labor. I have served on a grand jury before and I know that this grand jury really worked. Its members showed excellent ability and I want to pay a compliment to the women who served on this jury with me. They all were particularly well equipped with intelligence and judgment for the tasks they encountered.

"Foreman Griffith certainly was the right man for his place. He showed the utmost consideration for the views of each juror and handled the business in a manner very pleasing to all who worked with him."

Members of the grand jury were Foreman A. W. Griffith, Secretary Nora Earl Fairbanks, W. W. Armstrong, P. G. Beissel, John Beneke, W. A. Culp, B. R. Douglas, P. C. Edmunds, J. H. Edwards, H. Enderle, Samuel N. Fuller, L. M. Gardiner, Martha Goodale, Beulah H. Keller, O. B. Newcom, Lola B. Pearson, Mit Phillips, Theo. M. Sammis and Henry E. Warren.

LENGLEN BALDWIN ROMANCE SCOUTED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—The reported impending marriage of Suzanne Lenglen, tennis star, and Baldwin Baldwin, scion of the prominent California family, was characterized as incredible here today.

At the office of the Anita Baldwin estate, it was said that although Baldwin and his wife were separated no divorce proceedings were in prospect.

"They are living apart but the report that Mr. Baldwin is to marry Miss Lenglen must be erroneous," an officer of the estate said.

According to Los Angeles county records Baldwin married Miss Nell Wilson two years ago, and the marriage is still in effect.

Permission Asked To Increase Stock

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company has applied to the state railroad commission for permission to issue $50,000,000 additional common capital stock, to be used in retiring outstanding bond issues and to reimburse the company for improvement expenditures since 1922. This issue will be voted upon at the annual stockholders' meeting, to be held February 24. It will bring the utility's total capitalization to $185,000,000 if granted.

More Women In England 'Broke'

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The number of women bankrupts in England during 1925 totaled 440, or 27 more than in the previous year, board of trade statistics show. Millinery and dressmaking had the greatest number of failures, 47, while of the others 37 were drapers, 33 grocers, 21 clothiers and outfitters and 20 lodging-house keepers, four school mistresses and one doctor.

The Chauncey Huffs Arrive Tomorrow For Visit

Excitement prevailed today at Anapauma rancho, (perhaps more familiarly known as Hewes ranch) when Mr. and Mrs. D. Eyman Huff received a telegram from their son, Chauncey Huff of New York City, that he and Mrs. Huff were on the Santa Fe "Chieftain" speeding westward and would reach here tomorrow morning.

The message was Mr. and Mrs. Huff's first intimation that their son and daughter-in-law were coming just at this time, although the visit has been anticipated as an event of sometime during the spring or summer months.

Their host of friends are eagerly anticipating meeting the charming young wife of Chauncey Huff, for while she had been a frequent California visitor in the days of her girlhood, the courtship and marriage took place in the east after Mr. Huff went to New York to represent the California Fruit Growers' exchange, and this is her first return to the westerr coast since she joined the ranks of the young matrons. The senior Mrs. Huff visited them in New York last spring.

The family will form a happy little group Friday night at the annual dinner dance of Santa Ana Country club, celebrating the formal opening of the clubhouse two years ago.

Magazine Contributor Follows in Footsteps Of Talented Mother

It will be of much interest to readers of "Adventure," that magazine of thrilling stories many of which are founded upon happenings in real life, to find the name of Harry R. Peterson among the authors represented in the current issue.

"Scavengers of the Sea" is the title chosen by the young man for his tale, which recounts the adventures of a school of corbina, that game surf fish which is so much prized by fishermen not only for its edible qualities, but for the sport which landing it entails.

The author is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Peterson of this city and Laguna. Mrs. Peterson, writing under the name of Alice Fessenden Peterson, is the author of many interesting stories and articles especially on nature subjects, that are in strong demand among the magazines. "Scavengers of the Sea," would seem to indicate that her son has been gifted with the same marked powers of observation, of sensing the dramatic in a situation, and of recounting a tale in an interesting manner, as his distinguished mother.

The story, as explained by the author in the pages of "Adventure" devoted to chat aout contributors, was founded upon an incident coming to his attention in Alamitos bay.

Mrs. Peterson, whose observations of jungle life at a time when she visited in Panama, yielded a host of interesting tales and experiences which have been incorporated in a book, "Jungle Stories," has contributed a series of Nature Stories to Laguna Beach Life, all of which show the knowledge and powers of observation of the scientist, combined with the ability of a natural teller of tales. The happenings recounted in so interesting a manner, all have their locale in Laguna.

Woman Writes of Perils in China

In a recent letter from China, received by Mrs. Mary Rowley, 614 Bush street, from her daughter, Miss Grace Rowley, the missionary stated that at that time her school, which is located in Weihsien, Shantung province, northern China, was in danger of attack. The school is surrounded by many bandits, who are soldiers who have not received their pay from the government.

Miss Rowley writes that people are crowding into the large cities and that there are no boats to take them away. The school in which Miss Rowley has been teaching for many years under the patronage of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, is near the port of Tsingtau.

Miss Rowley recently returned to China after a year's furlough, the greater part of which she passed in Santa Ana with her mother and friends.

Blacksmith Fined For Wild Driving

Pete Olds, 49, El Toro blacksmith pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, early today, and was fined $250. He paid the fine. Olds was arrested on the Irvine boulevard several days ago by Jimmy Cain, state traffic officer. He had been free on bail since his arrest.

Children's Clothing Among Needs of Day Nursery

How many of Johnnie's little outgrown sweaters have you hanging in the clothes closet, not discarded because "they will come in handy some day," but never used because they are outgrown anyway? How many of Mary's cunning gingham frocks have been neatly washed, ironed and put away against that same mythical "some day" because they are a bit too faded for her to wear to school?

It wouldn't be very much trouble for you to collect the sweaters and place them in a basket with the crisp little faded but still good, ginghams on the top, and send that basket to the Ebell day nursery where the articles of clothing will find immediate use for the little people there and the children whose clothing needs are supplied by the nursery.

"We need such things so badly" today declared Mrs. T. D. Knights, chairman of the day nursery committee of Ebell society. "We hope that mothers of small children will send us the out-worn clothing of their youngsters, for we can use it all. Women's clothing too will come in so well just now and even men's shirts which have become too worn at collar or cuff lines, for continued service, may so easily be converted into aprons for our children."

Mrs. Knight stated that if anyone has garments which they will donate, they may call any member of the day nursery committee and the articles will be gladly called for. This committee numbers Mrs. Knights, Mrs. Walter Vandermast, Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mrs. E. A. Noe, Mrs. John Cloyes, Mrs. Harry Spencer, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs. L. M. Forcey and Mrs. J. William Taylor jr.

Little Music Pupils Enjoy Parties

Children of Lowell and Spurgeon schools who have completed the first course of twelve piano lessons in the "melody way" as taught by Miss Maurie Hamil, kindergartner at Spurgeon school, have been entertained by their teacher, each class enjoying in turn the hospitality of the Hamil home, 1901 North Main street.

Children from the Lowell school class were the first to have a party of their very own, and Miss Hamil had them give an impromptu program, each child given the privilege of choosing any composition studied in the course, to play as a solo. They also did a number of rhythms and played several games in which Hubert Dale took an amusing prize.

Late in the evening Miss Hamil assisted by her mother, Mrs. Jay C. Hamil, served ice cream and cookies. The children of the melody way class were Donald Gammell, Marie Lewis, Lillian McClelland, Mildred Veale and Melba Davenport, Eileen Butler, Garnet Lundak, while a group of private piano pupils enjoying the evening with them were Hubert Dale, Dorothy Kloess, DeMont Galbraith, Beatrice Hinkle, Berenice Larson and Forest Neal.

On the most recent evening, the litle people of one of Miss Hamil's Spurgeon school classes were entertained and much the same plan was followed except that since the guests were fewer in number, they were asked to given their program differently. Since all are taught the art of transposition, each played every piece taken so far, in at least three different keys while the one boy of the group, Master Dick Phillips, (son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips) played every piece in six different keys and one of them in seven. One little maid, Ruth Curran, gave a noteworthy performance also, as she has no piano at home, and learns by a keyboard with the exception of the class at school.

Children in the group were Dick Phillips, Ruth Curran, Rena Lindley, Dorothy Grace and Persis Davis. Before the evening drew to a close, they too enjoyed a series of merry games and refreshments of ice cream and cookies, and when the party was over, all were safely delivered at their homes by Miss Hamil.

Although the number of clergymen in the Church of England has steadily decreased for the past ten years or more, the income of the church continues to increase.

Birthday Celebration Enjoyed by Group Of Little Maids

All in pink were the floral decorations of the E. G. Gable home, 517 Virginia street, in honor of the eleventh birthday of the little daughter of the home, Dorothea Ellen Gable, and all in pink was the charming little maid herself, as she greeted the group of young friends who assembled in response to her mother's invitation.

It was a very pretty sight indeed to see the bevy of children as they entered into the enjoyment of a series of games introduced by Mr. and Mrs. Gable. A number of prizes were offered in the different contests, which of course added to their interest. One of the most enjoyable features however, was the presence of the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, who entertained the youngsters in the interval just preceding refreshments.

Supper tables were attractive with their pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern. At intervals, cake baskets held pink and white bonbons, and a great birthday cake with eleven pink candles presented a most inviting appearance. After Dorothea Ellen had blown the candles out, the cake was served with pineapple ice. The children found their places by means of pink name cards, while napkins too harmonized in color with the prevailing decorations.

This same glowing color was noticeable throughout the rooms and one especially striking flower basket was composed of creamy roses shading into pink hearts.

Many gifts were showered on the party honoree by her young friends who included Gwendolyn Griffen, Ione Hooven, Florence Liggett, Ruth-Ellen Dunlap, Mildred Beckman, Muriel Bray, Maxine Decker, Jean McClay, Kathleen McDerman, Monna-Mae Reinhart, DeLacy Cook, Marilyn Shands and Carol Shands.

Sharing the joys of the children were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Gable, The Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Porter, Mrs. Abigail Porter, Mrs. H. E. Reinhart and Mrs. Dolly Shands.

Civil War Veterans Of Dixie-land Are Entertained

No matter how bright the rays of sunlight that come into the lives of veterans of the Civil War, all pale for those who once wore the gray of Dixieland, in comparison with the annual dinner on the anniversary of Robert E. Lee's birth, at which they are honored guests of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Naturally then, the Santa Ana Veterans of the Confederacy are still recalling the many happy features of the 1927 celebration held recently in the social rooms of the Spurgeon Memorial church. Chief in the day's interest was the southern dinner menu served at mid-day by women of the church and many compliments were showered on them for the deliciousness of the fare.

There were many members of Emma A. Sansome chapter, U. D. of C. to share in the enjoyment of the occasion, and as their guests, were a dozen or more veterans to enjoy the geniality of the affair.

For geniality reigned not only during the dinner hour but in the informal program and sociability that followed. Favorite melodies of the south were sung in unison and then Mrs. Cornelia H. Phillips, president of the Emma Sansome chapter, introduced the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the host church, who gave one of his most interesting addresses on "General Lee's Contribution to Education."

The Rev. W. L. H. Penton, rector of the Church of the Messiah, was asked to choose his own topic for a talk and added appreciably to the program value and interest with reminiscences of General Lee. He was followed by James W. Nuckolls in two appropriate songs which were much enjoyed. Miss Hester Covington was his accompanist.

The Rev. Mr. Sewell gave a most interesting talk on the life of Stonewell Jackson whose birthday comes so close to that of Robert E. Lee, that it also is celebrated in the same connection. Following him was a favorite member of the organization, Mrs. Thomas H. Bond, whose soft southern speech is particularly well adapted to the presentation of the poems by Paul Lawrence Dunbar and other writers of negro dialect.

The program closed with an interesting talk on Stone Mountain Memorial and the progress of the wonderful work, given by Mrs. Victor Montgomery whose interest in the subject, leads her to keep abreast of all developments there.

During the remainder of the all-too-brief afternoon, the veterans with their sons and daughters, chatted of those stirring days of the Civil War and many were the amusing or dramatic incidents recalled by the Wearers of the Gray.

At a depth of a mile the ocean bed is well illuminated by the luminous organs of the fish living there, according to one scientist.

Quill Pen President Greets Members of Literary Club

Quill Pen club members and several guests met Monday night at the home of their leader, Mrs. J. F. Adams, 415 South Birch street, where roll call was answered by short original sketches portraying various emotions.

Miss Minnie Childs, an honored guest of the club, added very materially to the program by reading one of her clever stories, "The Light at Sunset," a published article, and further relating incidents of her very interesting literary career.

Mrs. Blanche Brown's story, "The Boomerang," was well plotted and full of tense human interest throughout. Mrs. Frank Was gave a delightful and exotic romance of the tropical jungle.

Following the program, Mrs. Adams served refreshments which included a delectable fruit sherbet of her own concocting.

Members and guests present to enjoy the pleasant evening with Mrs. Adams were Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, Mrs. Fred Conover, Mrs. Herman Reuter, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Joseph Viau, Mrs. Frank Was, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. F. H. Heine, Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. H. A. Smith, Mrs. Sue Merryfield, the Misses Minnie Childs, Gladys Thomas and Herma Smith.

Postmen

Every day and all the time, he is on the job. Every fellow's job is the hardest in his own opinion, but none are more steady than the postman's. We always welcome his arrival. What tho' the 1c matter and the bills do make standing room always, there is still a chance of a thin little billet doux to warm us all over.

Reports have it that his pay check is putting on weight. We hope so. He earns it and he ought not to die before he gets some of the bouquet.

Postmen can thank their lucky stars that they do not have to read the letters they carry. Especially some that we write. We never could. More than that, double meanings creep in. Remember that last black eye we sported. That came through writing a letter of condolence. It's that bad and it's getting worse.

The postman's life demands rugged health. It's a long call before you find a postman that does not appreciate milk as the factor that keeps him roarin' to go. So Soft—So White

By Edna Wallace Hopper.

Nearly every woman who sees them envies me my hands. They ask me how I keep them so soft, so white, so young.

They know that I travel all the time. My stage work encounters all sorts of grime and dirt. In most cities the water is hard. Yet the most sheltered women rarely have such hands. They never chap.

The reason lies in a hand lotion perfected for me by great experts. I apply it whenever I wash my hands. It is not greasy or sticky. It disappears at once. And it overcomes all that water does, all that soap does, all that grime does to the hands. Also all that weather does, all that the years do. My own hands form evidence supreme.

This hand lotion is now supplied by all toilet counters. It is called Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Hand Lotion. The price is 60c.

I urge you to try it. I think I have tried nearly everything of this kind, but nothing compares with this. A guarantee comes with it. Your dealer will return your money if it does not please. Go get it and see what it means to you.

She Could Never Have Done It With Piles!

Bless the American girl who has glorified all the sports! She makes a pretty picture in the water, and is a plucky swimmer, too. Piles are unthinkable for active women. If you have them, you ought to know this simple thing to do.

At any hour or moment that you have the least distress or discomfort from piles, use a simple Pyramid pile suppository—and go happily on your way! The worst hemorrhoids, even bleeding and badly protruding piles respond at once to the soothing suppository applied in perfect privacy. But bear the name in mind: Pyramid is the one every druggist has, usually the only one he will sell his patrons. Pyramid is marvelous. Why suffer another single half-hour with painful piles?

Sixty cents the box, the world around, or free box to try, if you mail coupon:

FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION OF ORANGE COUNTY BILLS SEEN BY ASSEMBLYMAN C. D. BALL

Having returned from Sacramento, where he attended the short session of the state legislature, Dr. C. D. Ball, assemblyman from Orange county, today declared his belief that every one of the 20 bills introduced by him in the assembly would receive favorable consideration by the legislature.

Commenting on the legislature, the assemblyman said that plenty of evidence was presented during the session to emphasize the fact that Gov. C. C. Young has a strong working control of the state body.

Stating that many of the measures he introduced were presented at the last minute, Dr. Ball said that he did not have time to digest all of them, but that during the period of adjournment he would inform himself of the purposes of all the bills so that he could give them intelligent presentation at the proper ime.

The list includes bills increasing the number of deputies in some of the county offices and raising the salaries of some of the deputies, the measure carrying out recommendations of the 1925 grand jury; establishing a maximum tax rate of $1.25 for cities of the fifth class; creating an Orange county flood control district and setting up the machinery for its operation; granting certain tidelands and submerged lands to the city of Newport Beach; amending the juvenile court law to permit establishment of an elementary public school and a secondary public school in connection with the detention home; relating to the absence of county officers from the state, and revision of criminal procedure.

Water Bill Ball's "Pet"

Declaring that while all of the measures are of interest, the assemblyman said that the bill of greatest county-wide interest is that concerning the organization of a flood control district. Conservation of waters of Orange county streams long has been a hobby with the assemblyman and it may be consistently said that assembly bill No. 114 is his "pet."

Section two sets forth that "the objects and purposes of this act are to provide for the control of the flood and storm waters of said district and the flood and storm waters of streams that have their source outside of said district, but which streams and the flood waters thereof flow into said district, and to conserve such waters for beneficial and useful purposes by spreading, storing, retaining and causing to percolate into the soil within said district, or without said district, such waters, or to save or conserve in any manner all or any of such waters and protect from damage from such flood or storm waters, the harbors, waterways, public highways and property in said district."

Providing for full authority over the district by the board of supervisors, the measure sets forth that the board, in its discretion, may employ special counsel and appoint such officers as may be deemed necessary, prescribe their duties and fix their compensation.

There are no "ifs" and "ands" as to what the supervisors must do, after the bill is passed, in taking preliminary steps to the floating of a bond issue. In the language of the bill, "it shall be the duty of the supervisors to employ competent engineers to investigate the best plan to control the flood and storm waters of such district."

Majority Vote Necessary

Following acceptance of report and recommendations by engineers, the "board shall, with out delay, call a special election and submit to the qualified electors" the proposition of incurring a bonded debt in the amount recommended by the engineers as necessary to carry out the project. A majority vote only is required to carry a bond issue.

Taxes to meet the interest charges and bond retirement each year are to be levied and collected at the same time as the general tax levy is made.

The tidelands bill grants to the city of Newport Beach lands bordering upon, in and under Newport bay situated below the line of mean high tide and not heretofore granted to that city or to the county of Orange. Such lands may be leased by the city to private persons and corporations for a period not in excess of 50 years, but cannot be sold.

The Orange county detention home, in Santa Ana, is the only home in the state conducting a school—in effect, it is a training school rather than a detention home, for the children are under supervision the full 24 hours of each day, teachers being in charge during the day and a matron at night.

Juvenile Home Schools

Assembly bill No. 164 is the designation of the measure introduced by Dr. Ball providing for maintenance of schools at juvenile homes. Its provisions are not limited to Orange county. They are available to all counties that may wish to adopt them.

When schools are instituted, the juvenile wards will have no vacation periods, except at the pleasure of the school board and except on school holidays, teachers' institute week and Christmas week.

The bill provides that the board of supervisors, by ordinance, "may provide for the establishment and maintenance of school facilities in such detention home and the schools maintained in such detention home shall be maintained by the governing board of the elementary school district and of the high school district, respectively, in which the detention home is situated, and shall be conducted in the same manner and under the same conditions, as nearly as may be possible, as are other elementary and secondary schools of the school districts, except that the school shall not be closed on school days—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each school week during the calendar year, except on school holidays and during the day or days on which the teachers' institute is in session and the week in which Christmas day occurs."

Funds for maintenance of such schools are to be derived in the same manner as for public schools.

Commenting on the bill today,

LEGION COUNCIL INDORSES FAIR LAND PURCHASE

Purchase of land adjacent to the site of the Orange County fair, to be used as a county civi cand recreational center, has been unanimously indorsed by the American Legion, Orange county council, Stuart Cundiff, of Newport Beach, commander, today notified J. H. Hunt, manager of the Orange County Fair association.

The legion executive council members felt, it was said, that the site of the fair and the land adjoining it was the only logical place for a civic and recreational center and that the fair grounds should be incorporated as part of the land-buying operations.

Not a week goes by but that several organizations in the county indorse the proposal to purchase the land, which has been offered the county at what ahs been considered, by competent appraisers, as a very reasonable figure, Hunt added.

In a short time, Hunt sai dhe believed, sufficient indorsements will have come in to make it advisable to lay the proposed purchase before the supervisors for action. Two of the supervisors are known to be ready to vote for the purchase now, the fair manager said, and with at least one of the remaining three on the board the opposition is saidto be purely technical.

The civic and recreational center would be the ideal spot for the erection of an Orange county memorial hall, Hunt said he had been informed by prominent legionnaires. Under the state law, the supervisors are authorizedto levy a small tax for the purpose of raising funds for the erection of the legion building and, if they cannot see the way clear to levy the small tax themselves, the matter may be taken directly to the people in an election, it was pointed out.

SOLO FLIGHT MADE BY POMONA MISS

Another girl has graduated from Eddie Martin's air school.

Marcella Huyette, pretty Pomona miss, is the latest girl to complete training under the tutelage of Martin. She made her solo flight Sunday.

Miss Huyette, at the completion of her flight, was congratulated by Sacha Hall, who was the first girl student to solo at the Santa Ana airport.

Miss Huyette made her solo flight after 11 hours of instruction.

Reckless Driver Draws $250 Fine

Laurence Collino, 28, 354 Magnolia avenue, Glendale, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving in Justice John Landell's court, in San Juan Capistrano, yesterday and was fined $250, which he paid.

Collino was arrested with his friend, H. E. Collage, 27, 4158 Verdon street, Los Angeles, Sunday night, by state officers, after his machine had collided with the officers' car.

LeRoy Warren, county probation officer, said that approval of the bill by the legislature and adoption of its provisions by boards of supervisors would be an advance step in the method of handling delinquents committed to detention homes.

Need More Funds

The Santa Ana city government has been laboring long under the disadvantage of insufficient funds to conduct affairs of the city as various councils have believed they should be conducted. Santa Ana is a city of the fifth class, operating under a state charter limiting the tax rate to $1 on the $100 assessed value. The bill presented by Dr. Ball provides a maximum rate of $1.25.

"Riders" were held more or less responsible for failure of a similar bill, adopted by the last legislature, to meet with approval of ex-Gov. Friend W. Richardson. Dr. Ball anticipates success for the new measure.

WOULD LESSEN LOCAL DISTRICT TAX BURDENS

Designed to effect a more equatable distribution of tax support between the University of California and the various junior colleges and, at the same time, lessen the burden carried by local tax districts, are recommendations contained in resolutions adopted last night by the Santa Ana board of education.

Copies of the resolutions will be sent to State Senator Chester M. Kline, Riverside, and to Assemblyman C. D. Ball, Santa Ana, with requests that they support legislation as indicated therein.

The resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, all tuition charges of students attending the first and second, or freshman and sophomore, years of the University of California, either in Berkeley or Los Angeles, are met in whole through funds provided by taxes levied upon the whole people of the state, and

"Whereas, the tuition costs of students attending the various junior colleges, except where such colleges are merged with teacher colleges, must be largely met by taxation of the property within the junior college district, thus placing on such property of the junior college district a double taxation, and

"Whereas, the organization of the junior colleges has been productive of large relief to the state university, now therefore be it

"Resolved, that we urge upon the legislature of the state of California the justice and propriety of amending the act providing for the appropriation of said funds for such junior colleges so that each junior college should be entitled to receive from the junior college fund $2000 per annum as the junior college allotment and, in addition thereto, $200 per unit of average daily attendance during the preceding school year."

Jack Bain Comes As Successor to Watts at Walker

Jack Bain today assumed his duties at the West Coast-Walker theater as orchestra leader and master of ceremonies, succeeding Way Watts who has been at the local playhouse for the last six months in the same capacity. Watts opened today at the Westlake theater, Los Angeles, as master of ceremonies.

Bain comes to the West Coast-Walker from San Bernardino where he has been orchestra leader in the West Coast theater for 13 weeks. Before his connection at San Bernardino, he was an entertainer at the Lafayette cafe, Los Angeles.

Pays Fine After Entering Bastile

Charged with speeding, H. H. Peterson, Costa Mesa truck driver, paid a fine of $20 in the county jail last night, a short time after his arrest in Costa Mesa, and was released.

He was arrested several weeks ago on a speeding charge and appeared in San Juan Capistrano's justice court, where a fine of $20 was levied. He was given time to pay the fine and the time expired before Judge John Landell received the money, so a commitment was issued.

Peterson was arrested by State Officer Harry Aldrich, in Costa Mesa, late yesterday.

HARRY HOLMES WILL ADDRES Y.M.C.A. MEET

"The Supreme Opportunity of Our Generation" will be the subject of the address by Harry H. Holmes, of New York City, before the annual meeting of the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A., next Tuesday night, it was announced today by O. H. Barr, president of the association.

Holmes is field secretary of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches. In this work he is closely associated with Fred B. Smith, chairman of the executive committee of the organization. Smith is remembered by many Santa Anans as the speaker who was on the program at the Y.M.C.A. state convention, held here two years ago.

Holmes was the speaker at the annual dinner of the Y.M.C.A. two years ago. His return for this year's meeting is welcomed by the association officials.

The annual dinner will be held next Tuesday night, at the Y.M.C.A., beginning at 6:30. It will not be limited to members of the association. Women are invited to attend. Dinner reservations are now being received and must be made not later than Monday.

CONSTRUCTION FAULTS CALLED ARGUMENTS FOR UNIFORM CODE

Exchange Secretary Thinks Regulations As Proposed Would Correct Situation

SLEEPER'S WARNING TIMELY, SAYS TWAY

Asserts Building Investigation Would Be Welcome To Reliable Contractors

Evidences of flimsy construction in some Orange county houses, as revealed recently by County Assessor James Sleeper and R. C Patton, employed on the assessor's staff as building appraiser, present further argument for an Orange county building code and strict enforcement of its provisions, in the opinion of William J. Tway, secretary of the Orange County Builders' exchange.

"Although the glaring and extravagant examples cited are too extreme to be considered generally prevalent," Tway expressed the belief that the "horrible examples" cited should be the subject of grave consideration on the part of builders and persons intending to build houses.

However, "the word of warning by Mr. Sleeper and Mr. Patton, while pointing to striking instances of inferior construction, should not throw the whole housing situation into a panicky state," the builders' exchange secretary said, because "reliable contractors and house speculators . . . . can stand upon their reputation and financial worth, a point which should be considered first by the person contracting with them.

"Warning Is Timely"

"For this reason," continued Tway, "Mr. Sleeper's warning is timely. The substantial contractor and speculator would welcome such an investigation. It would serve to add to the worth of his work or his property. The unreliable contractor or speculator would be forced from the field because he could not bear investigation.

"To concur in and, perhaps, amplify Mr. Sleeper's remarks, I would say that there are three major stipulations, which, if complied with, would result in better and more permanent building," the secretary holds, and he listed these stipulations as follows: A county-wide building code of high standards; a demand that number one

DIRECTORS OF COUNTY FAIR DECIDE UPON OLD SETTLERS' DAY AS 1927 SHOW FEATURE

Old settlers of Orange county will be assigned a special day at the Orange County fair in September, it was announced today by J. R. Hunt, manager of the fair, following a session of the board of directors, at which consideration was given to the assignment of special days to various groups.

One of the most interesting days in the series of dates when the fair was held in Huntington Beach was "Old Settlers'" day and Hunt and the directors anticipate making the event this year one of the big features of the show.

The annual picnic of pioneers of the county will be held in Orange County park the last Sunday in June and it is expected that plans for the fair day will be taken up and discussed at that meeting.

The manager said that many requests are being made by various organizations for special days and that the board now is busy lining up the organizations in a schedule of dates which will be satisfactory to all.

Knights of Pythias Day

The Knights of Pythias will be extended an invitation to sponsor the first day. Hunt pointed out that this organization each year holds its annual picnic on this date and said that there is possibility of the annual event being made a feature of the first day of the fair, Monday, September 5, Labor day.

As tentatively arranged, plans call for a special program of entertainment, to be presented by the organization in the afternoon, in front of the grandstand.

"The American Legion of the county is planning on taking a big part this year and likely will have the program for the first two nights, Monday and Tuesday," Hunt said. "Tuesday, in all probability, will be designated as Legion day and legionnaires will present the program and take active part in staging the spectacular stock parade in the afternoon.

"Women's day and children's day and Service clubs day also will be designated. Friday has been set aside as Masonic day.

"The horse show will be held on the same three nights as last year, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, with the newly-formed Orange County Riding club likely sponsoring the event.

Dog Show Planned

"Dr. Cushman, well known dog fancier, together with others interested along the same line, will stage an American Kennel club show the last two days of the fair. This will be the first time that Orange county has had the honor of entertaining the highest class of canines in the country and undoubtedly this will be one of the big attractions of the 1927 show.

"Appointments now are being made by the various chairmen and official announcement of acceptances will be made at the next meeting of the board of directors."

Rice forms the principal food of at least one-third of the inhabitants of the world.

DR. C. D. BALL UNDECIDED ON DEATH PENALTY

Declining to take a definite stand on the issue, Dr. C. D. Ball, newly-elected assemblyman from Orange county, today intimated in an interview, that he is not favorably impressed with a proposal to abolish capital punishment.

Questioned as to his attitude toward bills introduced in the state legislature, providing for the removal of the death penalty from the statutes, Dr. Ball replied that he needed more time to study the pros and cons of the proposed legislation. He stated, however, that he would make known his stand before he returns to Sacramento.

While not taking a definite stand against the proposal, he questioned the advisability of doing away with the death penalty, the removal of which, he thought, would stimulate crime and lead to anarchy.

Sculptor Worried Over Bobbed Hair

LONDON, Jan. 26. — Bobbed heads are all a mistake, in the opinion of Sir William Orpen, president of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers, and one of Britain's most distinguished artists.

"My conclusion is that women should never have cut their hair," said Sir William, his theory being that women's heads are too badly shaped, and their faces too large.

"Bobbing was bad enough," the artist declared, "but shingling is worse—and as for the Eton crop, I feel quite uncomfortable when I have to sit next to it."

Sir William believes shorn hair is merely a passing fad. "It can't last," he asserted, "because it isn't beautiful and exciting enough."

From an artistic viewpoint short hair is not at all inspiring. The artist said: "The modern shingled woman—at any rate in the indigestible mass—will never inspire a type in art comparable to the Ancient Greek type, for instance."

"Of course there is the rare woman who has a beautifully shaped head, and does look wonderful bobbed," Sir William admitted.

EFFICIENCY OF SHOTGUN SQUAD IS POINTED TO

Chief of Police Rogers Is Desirous of Adding Another Patrol to Force

Santa Ana's "shotgun squad," composed of Officers R. H. Barnard and C. V. Adams, whose duties are to patrol the residential districts of Santa Ana throughout the night, is responsible for 22 of the 54 arrests made since the first of the year, records at the police station show.

The "shotgun squad," which was organized by City Marshal Claude Rogers a little over a year ago, has been a success from the start, giving residents more protection than any method employed by police here in recent years, in the opinion of City Marshal Rogers.

Patrolling of the residential districts is not the only work of the squad, however. It has orders to work anywhere in the city, on any kind of a case, at any time, Rogers said. The squad has chased speeders, arrested vagrants and prowlers, taken the ill to hospitals, cleared wreckage, answered burglary calls and arrested "drunks."

Rogers is pleased with the squad, he said today, and, because of its success, wants to add another such squad to the police force. At the present time the two men, in a machine, cover the entire city each night. If two squads were on duty, Rogers pointed out, one could be assigned to the south side of the city and the other to the north, thereby furnishing better protection.

The "shotgun" squad gets its name from the fact that the officers are armed with sawed-off shotguns.

This Tale's Truth Even If Title of Magazine's 'Lion'

A copy of the Lion Truth, weekly publication of the Santa Ana Lions club, mailed in an envelope and addressed to him here on May 13, 1926, reached Alan A. Revill, club musician, yesterday, a little more than nine months after it was placed in the Santa Ana post-office.

Since it was mailed, the publication has had a tour around the world, according to notations on the envelope.

The envelope was addressed to "Alan A. Revill, 1008 Camille street, City," but in some inexplicable way it found its way to Canton, China. On Nov. 24, 1926, it was remailed from that city, with notation, "try Camilla, Ga., U. S. A." It arrived at the latter point on Jan. 6, 1927, and was returned to Santa Ana Monday.

In explaining the situation of the letter's travels, T. E. Stephenson, postmaster, said that it probably was due to the letter getting into a package of letters addressed to Canton. He said that when five or more letters addressed to a foreign point accumulate in an office, it is the custom to tie them together and send them in one bundle.

EXCHANGE CLUB INDORSES CAMP GROUNDS PLAN

Indorsing the plan of the city council for location of free camping grounds at Forest Home for Santa Ana residents only, the Santa Ana Exchange club yesterday volunteered the service of its membership in assisting the city in clearing a site for a camp.

Action of the club followed a brief address by City Attorney Charles D. Swanner, presenting observation made when he visited the site last week in company with other city officials.

The attorney pointed out that the 11-acre tract at the present time is in its natural state, rough, cut up by ravines and covered with rocks and trees. He suggested that the service clubs of the city could perform a civic work by volunteering assistance in preparing the grounds. He emphasized the point that the city is short on funds for carrying out, immediately, improvements the council would like to make.

Swanner was appointed a committee to take up with the city authorities the proffer of the clubs and to work out details for a visit to the site by the Exchangites. It is hoped that the club will be assigned a definite piece of work and that what it does will work in nicely with plans for final development of the grounds.

As discussed at the meeting yesteday, the club will make the event something of a holiday affair, going to Forest Home some Saturday and doing the work that may be assigned.

In the absence of President Art Bowman, Vice President G. K. Scovel, Gene Douglas, secretary, officiated at the meeting.

C. H. Way, member of the new Exchange club in Balboa, was a visitor.

Singers Must Maintain High Grades to Continue in Organization

Illustrating the manner in which membership in the Santa Ana Boys' chorus, sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce, aids in creating more interest in regular scholastic work in the public schools, is the report by Mrs. F. H. Beeson, director of the chorus, to the effect that nearly a score of boys, whose membership in the singing organization was threatened by low grades have made up their delinquencies to hold their places in the organization.

In order to be a member of the chorus, a boy must stand high in his studies and if he does not give the proper attention to his studies he is dropped, the director said. In this manner, membership in the chorus has proved a decided scholastic stimulant, the director pointed out.

The boys are to be heard in their third concert Thursday night of this week in the high school auditorium, the concert to begin at 8 o'clock. A group of songs on that program will be directed by Miss Esther Jean Davis, director of music in the Frances E. Willard junior high school.

Many Santa Ana persons have sent in money for tickets, in some cases accompanying their checks with letters commending the junior chamber of commerce for promoting the chorus, the only one of its kind on the Pacific coast.

Maybe He Knows Now He Was Bit Under Weather

H. E. Hickson, auto painter, 619 West Second street, who was arrested Sunday on a drunk charge and who requested a physician to examine him, at his own expense, was found guilty in Judge J. F. Talbott's police court and sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Incidentally Judge Talbott remembered that Hickson had been granted parole on a liquor charge not so long ago and this did not aid the man materially when sentence was passed.

Hickson told the judge that he though the parole time was just up.

"Is that the reason you got drunk?" the judge asked.

RIDER HAGGARD AUTOBIOGRAPHY POPULAR BOOK

Written in as fascinating a manner as "She," "King Solomon's Mines" and "Alan Quartermain" is "Days of My Life," an autobiography by H. Rider Haggard. The autobiography, which is in two volumes, is in the city library and is proving popular, according to Miss Jeannette McFadden.

"Days of My Life" was edited by C. J. Longman, a year after the death of Rider Haggard, which occurred in 1924. Longman, a friend of Rider Haggard, had had the copy for the books in his possession for a number of years, but at the author's request did not publish them until after Haggard's death.

A great part of the first book is taken up with the six years which were spent by the author in Africa. He was sent there as a member of the staff of Sir Henry Bulwar, governor of Natal, when he was only 18 years of age. Despite his youth, he soon was given positions of honor, one of which took him into the Transvaal, where he spent some time in studying the natives and in learning their customs. Altogether Haggard spent six years in Africa.

The second book deals with his later life and tells of the trouble he had during his earlier years in persuading publishers to print his books. One incident tells of the writing of "King Solomon's Mines," which now is one of the best known of the writer's books. Following the writing of the story, Rider Haggard could find no publisher who would print the book, which necessitated its lying unread for many years.

Two other books, which recently have been added to the library shelves are "Foundations of a Republic," by Calvin Coolidge, and "The New Democracy," by Woodrow Wilson. In these books appear most of the speeches made by these two men and in "The New Democracy" are many articles written by Wilson for various magazines.

7 Foreign Lands Represented at Church Service

Germany, Canada, England, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, all were represented at last night's evangelistic services in the First Christian church, held under the direction of the Musical Bentons, traveling evangelists. And from the United States natives of 28 states were present.

More than 400 attended the services: 43 from Illinois, 35 from Iowa, 23 from California and the remainder, in varying numbers, from 25 other states and seven foreign countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benton and A. F. Ritchey are conducting services in Santa Ana every night and have proven popular, according to the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

103 STUDENTS WILL GRADUATE FROM JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOLS

Exercises Will Be Held in Poly Auditorium Friday Night; Public Is Invited

'BOOK REVIEW' TO FEATURE PROGRAM

Cranston to Award Certificates and Hammond to Accept Promotion Class

A "book review" depicting the progress of the student from the time he reads Mother Goose rhymes, in the first grade, to the time he studies Ben Hur, in the ninth, will be presented Friday night at the promotion exercises for the 103 students of the Julia C. Lathrop and Frances E. Willard junior high schools, in the Santa Ana high school auditorium.

The program in addition, will consist of musical numbers and play skits, in which the students, themselves, take part.

The high school auditorium will be open to the public.

103 Students In Classes

This year's mid term class, numbering 103 students, is of average enrollment.

The customary procedure will be followed in awarding the certificates of promotion. The classes will be presented by H. G. Nelson, principal of the Julia Lathrop junior high school, and by W. S. Kellogg, principal of the Frances Willard school. J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, will award the certificates. The students will be accepted into the high school by Principal D. K. Hammond.

Invocation will be asked by the Rev. W. L. Edgin.

A vocal solo, "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," (Cadman) will be sung by Ernest Cardwell, of Julia Lathrop junior high school.

Julia Lathrop students will present the "book review."

First grade—Sunbonnet Babies, Old Mother Goose, Little Bo Peep and Little Red Riding Hood.

Second grade—Jack and Jill.

Third grade—Hiawatha.

Fourth grade—Robin Hood, Little John, Will Scarlet.

Fifth grade—Robinson Crusoe, Hans Brinker, Meg, Jo, Beth, Amy.

Sixth grade—Priscilla and John Alden.

Seventh grade—Evangeline, Rip Van Winkle, Ichabod Crane, Mrs. Wiggs, Rebecca.

Eighth grade—Huckleberry Finn, Tom Sawyer, Julius Caesar, Mary Antony, the Other Wise Men.

Ninth grade—Ben Hur, Barbara Worth, Flower of Monterey.

Double Quartet to Sing

A mixed double quartet, from the Julia Lathrop junior high school, composed of Jean Peacock, Helen Truman, Jean Smith, Helen Rodriquez, Ernest Cardwell, Lee Gross, Lecil Slaback and Harry Motley, will sing "Mighty Lak' a Rose," by Nevin.

Frances Willard junior high school students will give an orchestra number, "The Lotus Flower," by Schuman. Those in the orchestra are Claribel Thompson, Helen Orr, Annabel McFadden, Grace Miller, Harry Moore, Richard Robbins and Fredrick Herman.

A skit, "It Might Happen," will be acted by Gladys Earley and Bess Marie Simmons, of Frances Willard junior high.

The girls' chorus, of the Frances Willard school, will sing a three-part song, "Moonlit Meadows," by A. Czibulka.

Exclusive Crosley. Gerwing's.

FAULTS CALLED ARGUMENT FOR UNIFORM CODE

lumber and materials be used in construction; a willingness on the part of the contracting party to pay a number one price for a number one job.

Concerning the building code referred to, the following comment was made by Tway:

Code Adopted Here

"For the last two years the Orange County Builders' exchange has labored, under the guidance of a building expert, to draft a building code that would greatly increase the minimum standards for building. It is the hope of the exchange to make this a county-wide regulation. The code has been adopted by the Santa Ana city council, but official publication was withheld as the city officials assert that they have no funds to defray the cost of publication, which is necessary to make the measure a law. The vote, as taken, represents only good will and a favorable attitude toward the measure.

"The code also has been presented to the official boards in Newport Beach and Fullerton, but no action has been taken. While the builders' exchange has, in no way, solicited the support of Mr. Sleeper, his article . . . . points to an evil which the builders' exchange hopes to correct and it should have full weight in bringing about in Orange county and Orange county cities the adoption and enforcement of the uniform building code compiled by the builders' exchange.

"The weakness is that all house buyers cannot be warned; some would not heed a warning; some would not know the proper course to pursue to protect themselves, even though a warning were given and heeded. The answer to the problem is a strict building regulation, fully enforced, which will do everything possible, legally, to 'make a saint of a sinner.'"

The secretary amplified his views as follows:

Eliminate Poor Material

"The first point already has been stressed. The second point would eliminate poor material. Inferior lumber, even though placed according to strict regulation, will not produce a sound, enduring structure. The third point somewhat hinges on the first and second. Without strict regulation and without close adherence to grade rules for material, the substantial and responsible man cannot compete with the 'fly-by-night' contractor and speculative builder because the lot owner or the prospective home owner will not pay the price. He would, perhaps, be glad to pay the price difference if he knew all the conditions, but he does not. In building, as in everything else, you undoubtedly, 'pay for what you get.'

"In stressing certain points in his warning, Mr. Patton urged examination of the foundation, the type of wall and stucco base construction, the kind of frame work, stringers, joists, etc., and the inadvisability of judging the cost of a house by the amount of the building permit.

"The code sponsored by the builders' exchange requires foundations according to the state housing law, provides for heavy piers and chimney foundations and makes compulsory an inspection of the trenches and forms before a foundation is poured. It provides that walls in stucco construction be sheathed solid with wood not less than 13-16 of an inch thick, that much heavier wire netting and metal lath be used than commonly used and that such netting or lath be furred out with metal, not wood, in order to provide for a substantial key or clinch. As to framework, the code eliminates all 2 by 3 timbers and provides that floor and ceiling joists and rafters, as well as studs, be placed 16 inches on center or less. These points strike at the very heart of the weaknesses pointed out by Mr. Sleeper and Mr. Patton. The size of the building permit cannot be regulated by building restriction, but it is fair to assume that the higher the standard the more the cost of the structure will be as compared with the purported cost.

Strict Regulations Needed

"It is quite impossible to legislate people into doing good, sound business, but it is wholly possible to increase the standards under which business is conducted. To reiterate my position, as spokesman for the builders' exchange, I contend that strict construction regulations and an unwavering demand for materials of merit will greatly heighten the standards and the results in the building industry.

"We feel sincerely that the uniform county building code will be a great forward step. We wish to thank Mr. Sleeper and Mr. Patton as officials, for stressing a bad condition in building. We publicly invite them, if they find the code to be of merit, to lend their official prestige and their good offices toward bringing about a strict county building regulation.

"May I take this opportunity, also, to thank The Register for allotting space for these views and also to urge upon The Register the necessity of educating the public to a demand for better building. It should result in a substantial aid to county banks and financing companies, protection for the home buyer, a boon to the legitimate builder and material dealer and the assurance of a prolongation of the assessed values in Orange county."

In olden times it was a popular belief that pearls, boiled in meat, made the latter a cure for ague.

AT THE THEATERS

A scene from "That Model from Paris," current attraction at the Yost theater.

WEST COAST WALKER

In the feature photodrama now at the West Coast-Walker theater, "Wings of the Storm," there is depicted a remarkable story of a dog's triumph over nature. It is, in a sense, a picturization of the thought expressed by the noted Belgian author and playwright.

In the role of the dog who is a weakling at birth, the runt of the litter of thoroughbred police dog puppies, and whose development is directly dependent upon his environment and treatment, Thunder, a beautiful police dog, gives a cleancut, vividly impressive performance. It is directed by J. G. Blystone, to whom unstinted praise is due for the fine spiritual quality and scenic beauty of the cinema.

Exteriors for the film were made in the picturesque region centering about Mount Rainier in Washington. Virginia Brown Faire, Reed Howes and William Russell appear in the human drama that is the background for Thunder's activities.

YOST THEATER

Bert Lytell is known among his intimates as a great practical joker and whenever the debonair Lytell is in the vicinity he is watched rather closely. It was during the filming of "That Model From Paris," the picture now at the Yost theater, that he was able to elude the vigilance of his fellow actors and play a practical joke on the four members of the cast.

During a scene where Marceline Day, Eileen Percy, Craufurd Kent and Ward Crane are drinking a supposed cocktail, concocted by the butler, George Kuwa, Lytell, unobserved, mixed the ginger ale with bicarbonate of soda, and went off on the side to watch the effects of the drink. The joke was a success as far as Bert was concerned, for the faces of the four players after drinking the concoction showed very plainly that it did not have the taste of nectar. The scene had to be reshot, with Lytell making himself scarce.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

At the Yost Broadway theater there is a charming love story packed with drama and bubbling over with comedy. Doris Kenyon and Lloyd Hughes are featured.

Directed by Alfred E. Green, the film sustains a high degree of entertainment value and abounds in real punches that make spectators gasp. Comedy contrasts with touches of pathos, thrills with tense drama, suspense with surprise "kinks."

A supporting cast of real artists creates some strongly marked characterizations that will be remembered. Philo McCollough, Louise Fazenda, Virginia Lee Corbin, Hallam Cooley, John Patrick and Ethel Wales contribute some of the outstanding work of their respective careers.

The plot abounds with surprises, so little of it should be told. Suffice to say that it deals with the inheritance by the heroine of six million dollars, subject to a very tricky proviso. To get the money, she must resort to a daring method, and through it cleverly outwit two watchful spinster aunts.

WESTMINSTER

WINTERSBURG, Jan. 26.—One hundred persons are being prepared for by the dinner committee of the Happy Workers, who will meet on Wednesday in the church hall. A fine dinner has been planned by the workers and in the afternoon the gathering will be addressed by Mrs. C. A. Marcy, second vice president of the Orange County P.-T. A. Every home in Westminster is expected to be represented, as the local P.-T. A. has been invited to meet with the church organization for the day and the speaker was selected in compliment to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hays entertained Sunday afternoon, John Rosencrant, of Lordsburg, New Mexico, and Mrs. Hester Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nelson, of Long Beach.

Mrs. L. B. Hay is a guest of Mrs. Raymond Penhall. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hoffman, of Costa Mesa, and Glenn Hurst, of Santa Ana, visited Sunday with the Raymond Penhalls.

Mrs. Ora L. Schieber, principal of the local school, is taking a course in educational administration in Santa Ana at the junior high school.

The children at school are enjoying a brand new basketball at the recesses.

Alvin and Alma Bird from the Oceanview school were new pupils in school on Monday. Their parents have moved onto the five-acre Dr. Pullen ranch.

There will be a meeting on Wednesday night of principals and coaches from several schools to decide on details of a track meet. They will meet with Mrs. Ora L. Schieber in the school auditorium, and the heads of the following schools will be present, with their coaches: Talbert, Oceanview, Los Alamitos and Seal Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haxton have decided to name their twin daughters, Ruby and Ruth. The twins arrived about 11 days ago and are in splendid health.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Hodge, of Riverside, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnett.

Mrs. Selma Kolod and the little friend who accompanied her, Elenore Mills, returned to their Los Angeles home Saturday, after a pleasant week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger. Mr. and Mrs. Mansperger spent Sunday in Willowbrook with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morrow.

Mrs. H. O. Smith and Mrs. Ralph Baxter were guests Sunday afternoon in Santa Ana of Mrs Stella Jordon.

Mrs. R. Burke spent Monday in Long Beach.

"The Protection of the Public can be Insured by Pasteurization. It is the Only Safe Way."
DR. C. H. MAYO

THAT is why your rich, creamy Crescent Milk is pasteurized. Nothing is added to the milk. Nothing is taken away. It is heated to a temperature 67 degrees BELOW the boiling point; maintained at that temperature for a half hour and then suddenly chilled to 40 degrees. It is kept at that temperature until it reaches your doorstep.

.....and this is only one of the safeguards which the Crescent Creamery Company employs to MAINTAIN its record as distributors of the finest milk. Crescent producing dairies are paid on the basis of the richness and food value of the milk they supply...not on quantity...laboratory technicians are constantly testing...milk is handled only by sterilized apparatus...and an efficient pick up and delivery system insures that it comes to you twenty-four hours sooner than the time limit established by law.

And these safeguards in turn help to explain the quarter of a century of steady growth and ever-increasing popularity which the Crescent Creamery Company has enjoyed.

Aged Couple, Suffering Acutely from Rheumatism, Neuritis and Indigestion, Find Quick and Permanent Relief in Tanlac and Praise It Highly

"From the day I was fortunate enough to line up with Tanlac," says Mr Emil Langhans, ex-cavalryman and retired customs official, "it has kept my health and strength up to highest standard."

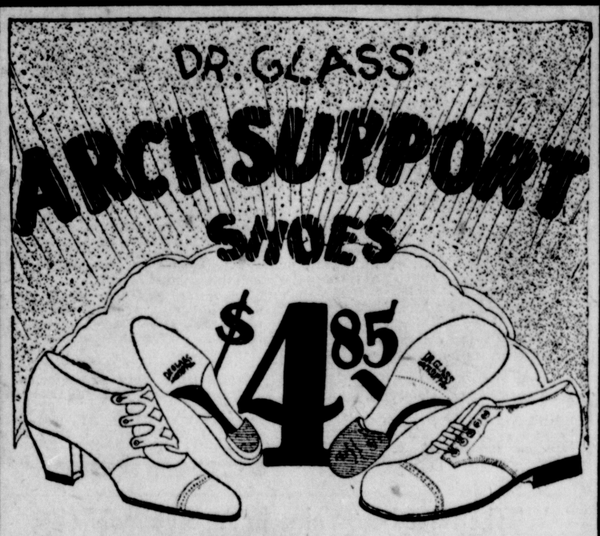

Sitting in his comfortable home at 2219 107th Avenue, Oakland, Calif., Mr. Langhans told how Tanlac had rebuilt strength and vigor for himself and his charming wife. "Tanlac worked wonders for my wife," he said. "She had suffered from high blood pressure, neuritis and general rundown condition. Tanlac relieved her.

"I had sciatic rheumatism—suffered for five years with it—so that I could sleep but little, on account of the pain. Kidney trouble, indigestion and loss of appetite had reduced my strength to a low ebb.

"Since taking Tanlac my health, as well as that of my wife, has been remarkable. Though I am retired, I could resume my old work any time. No rheumatism—nor kidney trouble—in past two years. I never miss an opportunity to praise Tanlac."

Old and young, from coast to coast, unite in praising this famous remedy of nature. Made of roots, barks and herbs, according to the exclusive Tanlac formula, it is an amazing tonic medicine. All good druggists sell Tanlac. Get a bottle today! Over 40 million bottles sold.

BOARD OF EDUCATION ADOPTS RESOLUTION SETTING FORTH NEED OF NEW SCHOOL PLANT

Official action, looking toward the erection of a new junior high school plant in the north section of the city, was taken last night at the board of education meeting, when the trustees, following representations by a citizens' committee, adopted a resolution setting forth the necessity of such construction and recommending the project to the incoming board of education, to be elected next April.

Recommendations regarding the disposal of the properties belonging to the Frances E. Willard junior high school, on North Main street, also are contained in the resolution adopted by the school trustees, which is as follows:

"Whereas, this board recognizes the necessity for some action to be taken in the near future to obtain a new location for the Frances E. Willard junior high school, we therefore,

"Recommend, that the incoming board of education co-operate with the city council in an effort to have the city take over that school for a civic center and that the funds derived therefrom be used in the erection of a new junior high school in some suitable location in the north section of the city."

Stress Need of New Plant

The need of a new school plant was stressed by a citizens' committee, which appeared before the school trustees. Included in this committee was a delegation from the Frances E. Willard junior high school P.-T. A., headed by Mrs. F. H. Heine. Among the delegates were Mayor Frank L. Purinton, Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hawk, Dr. V. G. Presson, Mrs. Walter Fine and Principal Will S. Kellogg.

Mrs. Heine, president of the Frances E. Willard P.-T. A., presented a resolution, adopted by that organization, urging the school board to consider the imperative need of a new junior high school plant. She thought that the initiative of the project should be taken by the present board, which is familiar with the needs of the school district.

Chester Hawk, speaking for the citizens' committee, had many things to say about the old building on North Main street. He dealt with what he declared were fire hazards and the insanitary condition of the building. He said that the cafeteria has damp walls and poor drainage. He also touched upon the traffic hazard incidental to the constant crossing of the street by pupils attending different departments of the school.

Carrying considerable weight with the school trustees was the statement of Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, supplemented by a communication bearing upon the subject.

Dr. Presson's letter was as follows:

"This department has been interested for some time in the condition of the buildings of the Frances E. Willard junior high school. About two years ago, we condemned the cafeteria in this school as being insanitary, unhealthful and, in general, a poor place to serve food to school children. Upon protestations of members of the Parent-Teacher association of this school to allow the cafeteria to continue, so that children would not go to neighborhood grocery stores, and upon the assurance of the secretary of your board, the late Frank L. Andrews, that the building probably would be disposed of within two years, we allowed the cafeteria to continue, stating that we would expect some vital change to be made within two years. I would like to call your attention that this probationary time will be up with the closing of school this year and I respectfully request that plans be made to remedy the situation before school opens next September.

"Along the same line, I would state that from almost every standpoint the buildings of this school are not the proper places in which to educate children. They are old, dilapidated and veritable firetraps and I should like to urge, although I have no authority to condemn, that these buildings be discontinued for school purposes."

William O. Packard, city electrician, discussed the wiring in the buildings. He said that the wiring is out of date.

Asks Present Board to Act

The statements made by previous speakers were reflected by Mayor Purinton, who urged the trustees to take the initiative by making definite recommendations to the new board. He thought that it would take the new board six months to organize, hence his request for immediate action.

Principal Kellogg said that the building, at school time, could be emptied in a minute and a half.

Replying to the representations made by the various speakers, Alex Brownridge, president of the board, assured the citizens that the trustees were fully impressed with the need of a new junior high school plant. He also suggested that the city take over the premises of the Frances E. Willard school for use as a civic center.

EXPERT TELLS NECESSITY FOR ZONING IN CITY

Justification of the city council's employment of a city planning expert to develop plans for guiding the future growth and development of Santa Ana is contained in the declaration by Israel Klein, science editor of the Newspaper Enterprise association, that narrow streets, tall buildings and no zoning threaten further congestion of traffic in those cities which fail to profit by conditions existing today.

Here are the science editor's comments on the situation.

"The narrow streets of New York, most congested city in the country, point a lesson to other communities on the wisdom of planning possible city growth years ahead of time and of controlling its expansion in the future.

"In this city, more than elsewhere, two opposites have met to the detriment of traffic—the narrow streets and the tall skyscrapers.

"For the width of the streets, present city administrators can't be blamed. But other cities are being warned against imitating New York in the construction of skyscrapers.

"Here are veritable cities in themselves, sticking up into the sky alongside streets usually too narrow to handle the ordinary run of traffic. They're built in the hearts of cities, where streets were laid out years ago without the knowledge or forethought of future possibilities.

Million Lost Daily

"The result is a situation like New York's in many other cities striving to become great.

"E. P. Goodrich, traffic authority, figures that New York is losing $1,000,000 a day due to traffic congestion and that it would cost billions in reconstruction to avoid this loss in the future. Elevated and surface car lines would have to be abandoned, two and three tiers of roadways would have to be built, tunnels would have to be dug and, most costly of all, buildings would have to be sliced off and arcaded to make room for the increasing traffic.

"While he estimates the presence of about 835,000 vehicles in New York by 1930, his curve of figures goes sharply up until, by 1960, he estimates New York's traffic to run up to 2,100,000 vehicles, almost twice the number of vehicles in the entire state today.

"Since the automobiles will increase elsewhere as fast as they will in New York, a jump of almost 300 per cent in their number would cause considerable traffic difficulties in many cities of the country. Goodrich figures this jump on the contemplated basis of five persons to each motor vehicle.

Cite Three Preventives

"To avoid this possibility of congestion he, as well as most other traffic authorities, points to three preventives:

"First is the limitation in height of future buildings, to conform with the width of streets they face.

"Second is the provision of adequate platting and zoning laws, for future spread of the city.

"Third is the planning of future wide arterial highways.

"Lack of these three is what caused present congestion, it is said. Even the adoption of these principles has to be such as to allow for flexibility in the future. A street that may appear ridiculously wide today may turn out to be sorrowfully narrow tomorrow."

Eggs at Lowest Mark Since 1925

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Culminating a steady slump, the price of eggs on the local wholesale produce exchange reached the lowest price since 1925.

Extra eggs were quoted at 27 cents, down two cents from yesterday's quotations. Fresh firsts and trade eggs were 26 cents, down two cents, and pullet eggs were 25 cents, down 2.

According to the produce exchange, the price of extra eggs was 10 cents lower than at this time last year. The prices have about reached rock bottom and are not expected to go lower, it was said.

Churchmen Hold Business Session

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Representatives to the 32nd annual convention of the Episcopalian diocese of Los Angeles were occupied today with business meetings and organization sessions at St. Paul's cathedral.

The Rev. Charles Deems, of San Francisco, and the Rev. Robert Gooden, of the Harvard school, will be the principal speakers at tonight's session.

Mrs. Rebecca Hibbard, Pasadena, has been appointed president of the women's auxiliary for the coming year.

S. A. ROTARIANS HEAR JAPANESE CINEMA STAR

It was the human touch in moving pictures that drew Sessue Hayakawa to them, he said in an address, yesterday, before the Santa Ana Rotary club. The famous Japanese movie actor attended the club as the guest of E. D. Yost, owner of Yost's Broadway, a member of the club.

"After graduating from the University of Chicago," said Hayakawa, "I saw a scientific movie, in which an aquarium was pictured. The fight of a trout on a line ended with the trout breaking loose and winning his freedom. The audience applauded. Then I saw a picture in which Mary Pickford, as a poor girl, seeking food for her mother, threw out a line and caught a fish. The audience applauded.

"I studied the matter. Why did the audience applaud the escape of one fish and then applaud the catching of another? I found, on analysis, that there the note of sympathy, of human interest, was what counted.

"Thinking it over, I came to the conclusion that this note of sympathy, if properly handled, could be used to bring about a better understanding of my own people, the Japanese. I set myself to writing a scenario upon that theme and, when the picture was made, it was a decided success just because of its human appeal."

At yesterday's meeting, the system of classification used in the Rotary club was dwelt upon by William H. Spurgeon, past president of the club and at present chairman of the committee on classification. Rotary is founded on the idea of bringing together into a club one representative of each of many lines of endeavor in a city, thus reflecting the professional and business life of the city. The line of discussion was carried further in a talk by L. G. Swales, who pointed out the strength that lies in the various service clubs of the county.

RESTRAINING ORDER UNDER ADVISEMENT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26—A temporary order, restraining federal officials of the Yuma reclamation project from repairing breaks in the detention reservoir that protects the Yuma Indian lands, has been taken under advisement by U. S. Judge James.

Safety of more than 125,000 acres of land in the Yuma project depends on repairs to the reservoir before the next heavy rainfall, according to federal officials.

Attempts of the Yuma officials to close breaches in the reservoir were stopped by a restraining order from Superior Judge Larew, of El Centro, government officials claim.

Judge James denied a motion of L. J. Borden and eight other plaintiffs to remand the case to Judge Larew's court, in El Centro.

JAPANESE WOMAN'S SLAYERS MUST DIE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26. — Ray Arnold and Edward K. Sayre, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Tamae Ninomeya, a Japanese woman, must die on the gallows, Gov. C. C. Young ruled today, after making an extensive study of the case.

Mrs. Bruce Sayer, of Denver, mother of one of the condemned men, is in Sacramento, having come here to personally plead for clemency for her son, doomed to mount the gallows one week after the hanging of his partner. Arnold's father and 10-year-old son were here also, awaiting the decision of the governor.

The Japanese woman was killed at Penryn, Calif., during a robbery staged by the two condemned men, according to the testimony at their trial.

Chokes Sunday School Teacher

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Because his Sunday school teacher refused to make room for him on a bench during a "candy pull" in the Congregational church, at Athens, near here, Marvin Harris, 14, choked her into unconsciousness, according to a report to the sheriff's office today.

Harris was taken into custody shortly after the alleged attack and is held in juvenile hall. According to investigators, Mrs. Dora Colvin was entertaining members of her Sunday school class, when Harris entered and demanded that she allow him to sit beside her.

When she refused to move over, Harris is alleged to have seized her by the throat. She was revived at her home where physicians said she was suffering from shock and a bruised throat.

TONG KILLER DRAWS PENITENTIARY TERM

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Ah Sang, Chinese tongman, was awaiting transfer to San Quentin penitentiary today, where he is to spend from 10 years to life for the slaying of another tongman in Santa Barbara, last July.

Ah Sang, a member of the Hop Sings, pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree murder, in the killing of Frank Lee, Bing Kong member, during the coast tong war, last summer.

Ah Sang told Judge Victor McLucas a long story as being chosen as the "gunman" to dispose of Lee. Sang said he missed Lee on his first shot and that he and another member of the Hop Sings fired together to end Lee's life.

Sang said he was forced to join the tongmen in order to get work.

Dentist Held On Charge of Murder

SEATTLE, Jan. 26.—Charges of first-degree murder were filed here against Dr. C. C. Dobbs, Kirkland dentist, accusing him of slaying 14-year-old Letitia Whitehall, on Hallowe'en. The girl's body was found in a slough, November 14, and the discovery started a long investigation, which terminated abruptly last Saturday night, with the arrest of the dentist.

Power in your body is the only thing that keeps you from getting well. Release this power, sickness disappears and you get well. To regain your health through our work is not a probability—it is an absolute possibility. While our work is new to many, the principles we employ are the oldest on earth. Thousands of sick people have gotten completely well through Palmer X-Ray Chiropractic. Thousands at present are getting well through this same work. Why not you? To investigate costs you nothing and offers you so much, your health.

When you go to a Chiropractor insist that an X-Ray be taken so the work given you will be specific, as it is foolish to rely upon guesswork and when your body and health are at stake. Come to our office, we will gladly take an X-Ray of your spine, bearing your name and explain the exact cause of your trouble in detail. This is free and is only to show you how to get well the pleasant, easy way. You have had enough guesswork; now learn the facts as only an X-Ray will show them.

NOT ONLY MORE MILES—BUT MORE SATISFACTION PER MILE
The area of your activity and your opportunities for pleasure and profit are greatly enlarged when you buy a Certified Studebaker. In other words, you add miles to your coming and going.
People who buy cars here get the mileage the manufacturer built into them and also the satisfaction in daily driving that comes only through the responsibility and interested co-operation of the local dealer.
Come in and talk it over.

FOR ONLY $50,000

You'll have an income for the rest of time on this 20 acres, if you buy it. And, if you are looking for a grove or an investment or a business of any kind that will actually pay you, there will be no good excuse for not buying it. Because! It is now in bearing. The trees are young. There is at least $3000 worth of fruit on them. There are two houses of 6 and 4 rooms. It has a ¼ interest in a deep well pumping plant. And the location is as free from frost and destructive winds as you'll find them.

The crop will greatly multiply with age and next year will no doubt double the income of the present. We have told you, it's only $50,000 for 20 fine acres. Are you interested? No. 1620.

FOR ONLY $50,000

You'll have an income for the rest of time on this 20 acres, if you buy it. And, if you are looking for a grove or an investment or a business of any kind that will actually pay you, there will be no good excuse for not buying it. Because! It is now in bearing. The trees are young. There is at least $9000 worth of fruit on them. There are two houses of 6 and 4 rooms. It has a ¼ interest in a deep well pumping plant. And the location is as free from frost and destructive winds as you'll find them.

The crop will greatly multiply with age and next year will no doubt double the income of the present. We have told you, it's only $50,000 for 20 fine acres. Are you interested? No. 1620.

Five Reasons Why You Should Buy This Home

1—It is well built. Best material and workmanship. Will always look as it looks now, which is saying a lot.
2—It is strictly modern, of course. Also roomy and comfortable. Seven rooms with no skimping in space. Three bed rooms, largest 12x16 feet. Spanish type stucco exterior, with shrubs, lawn, stepping stones and two walnut trees. But you'll have to see to appreciate.
3—It is a corner lot, with paving on both streets in and all paid for. A $700 saving for the buyer there.
4—It is only eight short-way blocks from the courthouse, in last of new close-in tracts. Northwest Santa Ana where you find fastest growing values in the county. Restrictions.
5—You couldn't duplicate this house and this location anywhere in Santa Ana under $9500. But you can buy this property for $8200.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF FILING ASSESSMENT FOR THE WORK OF IMPROVEMENT OF NORTH BRISTOL STREET, PROVIDED FOR BY RESOLUTION OF INTENTION NO. 1665, PASSED JULY 12TH, 1926, AND OF THE TIME OF HEARING AS TO SAID WORK AND SAID ASSESSMENT.

The undersigned, the City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana, State of California, hereby gives notice that on the 24th day of January, 1927, the Superintendent of Streets of said City having made an assessment to cover the sum due for the work performed and specified in the contract made under proceedings for the improvement of a portion of North Bristol Street, initiated by Resolution of Intention No. 1665, passed July 12th, 1926, filed the same with me. I hereby fix February 14th, 1927, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock P. M., as the time, and the Council Chamber of the City Hall of said City, as the place where and when all persons interested in the work done thereunder or in said assessment will be heard by the Board of Trustees. This notice will also be published by the undersigned twice in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a newspaper published in said city. The owners, contractors or his assigns, all other persons interested in the said work or in the said assessment, feeling aggrieved by any act or determination of the Superintendent of Streets or the City Engineer in relation thereto, or who claim that the work has not been performed according to contract in good and substantial manner, or who claim that any portion of the work for any reason was omitted or illegally included in the contract for the same, having or making any objections to the correctness of the assessment, or diagram or other act, determination or proceeding of the Superintendent of Streets or City Engineer, shall prior to the day fixed for the hearing upon the assessment appeal to the Board of Trustees by briefly stating in writing the grounds of appeal.

For a description of said work, reference is hereby made to the above mentioned Resolution No. 1665.

(SEAL) E. L. VEGELY,
Clerk of the City of Santa Ana and the Board of Trustees thereof.

NOTICE OF S. A. V. I. COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company will be held in the office of said company in Orange, California, on the first day of February, 1927, at 9 a. m., for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before said meeting.

O. E. MANSUR,
Secretary.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

The annual meeting of the stockholders of The Irvine Valencia Growers will be held at the packing house of The Irvine Walnut Association near Irvine, California, on Monday, February 7th, 1927, at 2:00 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors to serve for the ensuing year and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified, and also to transact such other business as may be presented for consideration at said meeting.

W. B. HELLIS,
Secretary.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC WORK

Notice is hereby given that the City of Santa Ana, California, will receive bids up to the hour of five o'clock P. M., January 31st, 1927, for the furnishing of the following:

One deep well turbine type pump
One 120 horsepower gas engine
One 160 horsepower gas engine
One 200,000 Gallon Concrete Reservoir

According to plans and specifications on file in the office of the Water Superintendent, City Hall, Santa Ana, California.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check 10 per cent of the amount bid, to guarantee that the successful bidder will enter into contract with said City, to furnish said machines, and said concrete reservoir.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Dated this 14th day of January, 1927.

E. L. VEGELY,
City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana, California.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, California, will receive bids up to the hour of 7:30 p. m., February 14th, 1927, for the furnishing of gasoline to the City Street Department of Santa Ana for a period of twelve months from February 16th, 1927.

All bids submitted for gasoline must conform to the specifications now in effect and adopted by Ordinance No. 784 of the City of Santa Ana and to be delivered to the City Barns and placed in containers to be furnished by the City.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for ten per cent of the estimated total amount of bid to guarantee that the successful bidder will enter into a contract with the said City for the furnishing of gasoline.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated this 25th day of January, 1927.

(SEAL) E. L. VEGLEY,
Clerk of the City of Santa Ana, California.

Financial and Market News

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Following the deluge of selling in Tuesday's session, trading fell off substantially in volume today. Evidently speculative ardor had been whetted down by the outpouring of stocks yesterday.

This situation had served to curtail constructive activities and additional restraint was exercised by the growing tenality of the Mexican and Chinese complications.

Prices pursued an irregular course. Appearance overnight of U. S. Steel's remarkable favorable showing for 1926 in connection with an over-extension of the short interest brought about a fairly brisk recovery in the industrial leaders during the morning hours.

In the Rails, the rally was sustained. Pittsburgh and West Virginia resumed its rapid advance, running up to a fresh record high. Pere Marquette also displayed strength, responding to publication of its 1926 statement which set forth a balance of $14.36 a share for the common stock compared with $11.67 in 1925. Other rails which had been severely depressed Tuesday also scored good sized comebacks.

Billy Evans Says

HELEN GETTING FAT

We have always known that Suzanne Lenglen was temperamental; to this fault, we must add lack of tact.

Asked to express an opinion as to the ability of Helen Wills as a tennis player, Suzanne made the following rather uncomplimentary remark:

"She's getting too big around the hips. No fat woman can play a good game of tennis."

Instead of commenting directly on the tennis game of Miss Wills, Suzanne very bluntly says our champion is getting fat, and fat people and tennis do not mix.

Probably Mille Lenglen could have said nothing more unkind. However, there is some good in everything and Suzanne's remarks may cause Helen to go on a diet.

Only Two Reverses

Since 1910, a matter of 17 years, on only two occasions has Walter Johnson failed to win more games than he lost.

In 1920, illness and injury so handicapped Johnson that he took part in only 21 games, winning eight and losing 10. Last year he lost one more game than he won, the totals being 15 wins and 16 defeats.

Failure to reach the .500 mark would make it seem that Johnson slipped badly last season. As a matter of fact, it was the the Washington club more than Johnson that hit the toboggan.

The records show that in eight of his defeats last season, the margin of difference was one run, in five others he was beaten by two runs. Thus it is apparent that a little more batting help might have turned those 13 defeats into victories.

• • •

Many Tough Breaks

So you can just toss out Johnson's 1926 record as a concrete indication that he is fast approaching the has-been class.

While Johnson isn't the Walter of 20 years ago, he is still a mighty pert pitcher, so good that his addition would considerably strengthen the pitching staff of any club in the majors.

Johnson has had some mighty unusual experiences in his eventful career as a big league star.

Back about 1910, when Johnson was at the top of his game, opposing managers figured the odds all against their team winning when Johnson was announced as the pitcher.

In order not to waste one of the veteran stars against Johnson, it became a custom for rival leaders to name one of their youngsters to work against Johnson.

It is a matter of record, that during one season, eight rookie pitchers, some of whom didn't last out the year, bested Walter.

• • •

Ansnt Johnson's Speed

Speaking of Johnson, recalls a recent query unanswered, as to whether "Lefty" Grove of the Athletics is as fast as Johnson was in his prime.

Grove has plenty of "swift" on his ball, using Nick Altrock's word for speed, and without detracting from his stuff, I want to say right here that over a score of years I have never umpired back of a pitcher so consistently fast as Johnson.

Frankly, Walter Johnson is the only pitcher whose speed was so great that I would occassionally find myself unconsciously blinking as the ball neared the plate.

At such times I would do what the ball players insist I often do, guess where it was and probably say strike.

ANNUAL TRACK CLASSIC OPENS ON FEBRUARY 8

Juniors, with 40 on Team, Have Largest Number of Entries for Big Affair

With the interclass track meet but two weeks away, more than 100 Santa Ana high school cinderpath athletes, signed as entries, are working out daily under the watchful eye of Coach Gerald ("Tex") Oliver.

The juniors, wit hthe largest number reporting, 40 in all, are expected to give the seniors a scrap for the interclass title. The sophomores will likely cut a swath in the point total. Team captains are Parker Adams, senior; Jack Blakeney, junior; and Warren Cooke, sophomore.

Preliminary track events will be run Tuesday, February 8. Field events will be held Wednesday. Finals in the track contests will be conducted Thursday.

Indications are that the sprint events will be the most contested. Hurdle races have the fewest contestants.

Entries follow:

S. A. LIGHTIES TO PLAY TIGER '5' TOMORROW

Players on the Santa Ana Class B (130-pound)) basketball team are in a frame of mind that bodes no good for the South Pasadena lightweights when the locals, coached by Howard Lutz, invades Tiger territory tomorrow afternoon for the third round of the Coast Preparatory schedule.

The Santa Ana "Bees" are taking nothing for granted now. Defeated by Whittier last week, the Santa Anans are down to the serious business of bowling over the rest of their antagonists in the league with the chance of ending up in a tie for the championship.

Coach Lutz will probably start his regulars against South Pasadena. Captain Orville Schuchardt and Fred Fosdick will be the forwards, Melvin Beatty will be center and Delmer Brown and Lloyd Manderschied will be the guards.

South Pasadena hasn't won a game yet. Last week Pasadena, the league leaders, "took" the Tiger 130-pounders, 20 to 15, a score that indicates Santa Ana won't find a set-up. In practices this week, the lightweight five has been drilled by Coach Lutz to perfect a more polished offense for the edification of the South Pasadenans.

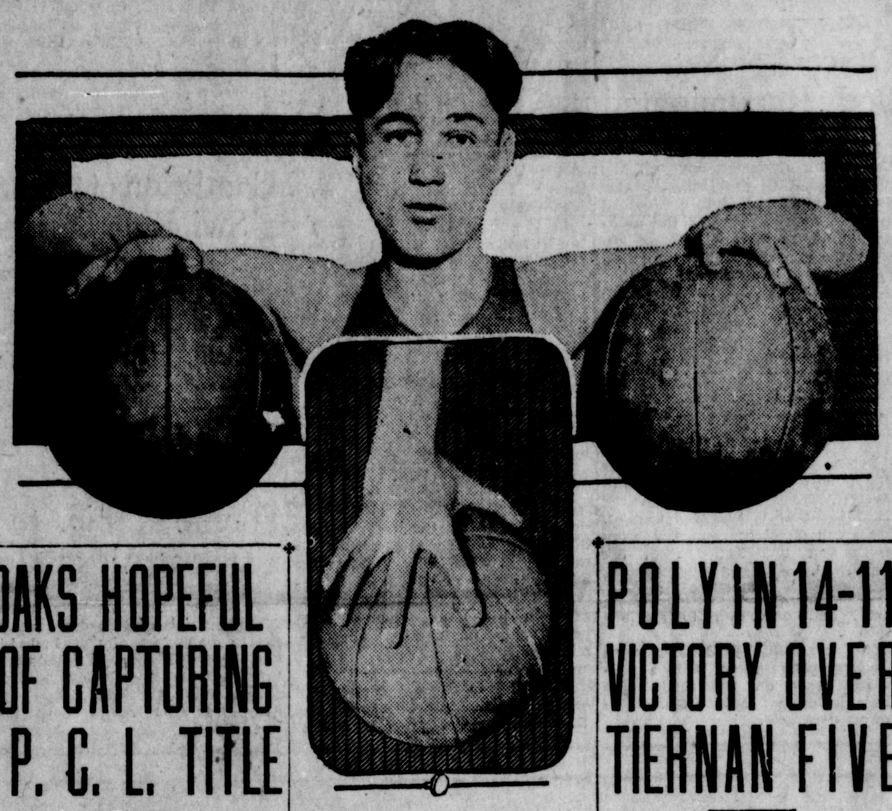

Coach Bill Foote's varsity and Coach Lynn Crawford's Class C (110-pound) outfit will remain idle today, resting in preparation for their contests Friday afternoon with South Pasadena in Andrews gym.

Yank-Brown Trade Hinted By Ruppert

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York American league baseball club, admitted before leaving Chicago for New York that a trade was pending between the Yankees and the St. Louis Browns. He would not indicate what players were involved.

PREP ATHLETE PERFORMS UNIQUE FEAT

JOHN MOLNAR

John Molnar, 16, a freshman at Waite high school in Toledo, O., can hold a basketball aloft in each hand on the tips of his fingers without resorting to paste or glue, as is shown in the accompanying photo.

Placing the cage spheres on the floor, Molnar places a hand on the top of each, grips them with his fingers and holds them aloft for several minutes.

Basketballs are not heavy, but try to lift two of them in the manner employed by young Molnar. He accomplishes the feat due to the extraordinary size of his hands, which are almost twice as large as those of an average mortal.

OAKS HOPEFUL OF CAPTURING P. C. L. TITLE

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 26.—In just three weeks Manager Ivan Howard will be hiking to spring training camp at Myrtledale, at the head of his charging Oaks, to prepare for what promises to be a hard fought season.

Howard believes his charging Oaks will charge to a pennant. Howard isn't alone. Those in the know frankly concede the Oaks and Angels just about the best chances to win out in 1927.

Howard said today a total of 41 men will report when training camp is opened February 14.

Oakland lost a valuable man in "Shucks" Pruett, whom the Phillies drafted at the close of the season, but Howard believed in Wilbur Cooper, George Boehler and Bob Hasty, his trio of hurling acquisitions, he will have more than enough to offset Pruett's loss. In fact, if Boehler alone shows the same form he did on the coast in 1925 he will more than make up for Pruett.

Mound Staff Strong

Leo Dickerman, Harry Krause, Al Gould and Art Delaney all with the club last season, are due to be on tap at the very outset of training. Howard Craghead and Pete Daglia may catch on again.

If the Oaks lack in anything it might be catchers. Al Bool and Del Baker are coming back, both much improved, but it was apparent last season that the position was not as capably filled as it might have been.

Unless some exceptionally good men come along, Jimmy Reese, Lynn Larry and Jimmy Cavency are a cinch to hold down their infield berths. Their work, as much as anything last season, made the Oaks a runner up to the pennant-winning Angels.

A fight for first base looms at the camp between Jack Fenton, Louie Guisto and Arthur Murphy.

May Lose "Buzz" Arlett

Loss of "Buzz" Arlett from the outfield, if "Buzz" goes to the majors, may be partially offset by Tommy Lovelace, from Corsicana, Tex. Advance reports on Lovelace are of such character that fans may forget all about Arlett.

Gene Valla, whose inability to get into form last season because he started training too late, advised Howard the other day he would be on hand the opening day of training. With Joe Bratcher, Ralph Shinners and Tony Governor back from last season, the race for outfield berths rests between these players and several likely looking young rookies due to report for a trial.

Among rookies slated for a trial are Lloyd Toomey, who pitched fine ball around Fresno; Ronald Michaels, Grants Pass, Ore., hurler; Roy Schlmezer, Visalia pitcher; Monroe Dean, Seattle infielder, and George Makin, of the Utah-Idaho league.

WILLARD 2ND TEAM DEFEATS LATHROP

BY BURDETTE HEINLY

Frances E. Willard junior high school got the jump on Julia C. Lathrop junior high school in the first game of the series between the second teams of the two city schools yesterday, the North Main streeters winning, 13 to 6. The second contest will be played at Lathrop school tomorrow.

Because of illness of three Lathrop players, the rival junior quintettes were unable to play yesterday. The lineup:

Willard (13)		(6) Lathrop
Tarver (2)	F	(3) Winslow
Gundrum (4)	F	(1) Forrest
Quintana (4)	C	(2) Cardwell
Johnson (2)	G	Meisinger
Markell (1)	G	Ford

Substitutions: Lathrop—Pangle for Forrest, Forrest for Pangle, Pangle for Meisinger.

California In Season's First Track Practice

BERKELEY, Jan. 26.—With a nucleus that bids fair to become a championship team, the University of California tracksters officially began their training period today under Coach Walter Christie.

In the weights, California will be well represented by Captain Elmer Gerken, and Phillips; the distance runs will be protected by Bert Stevens and Wayne Fox, while in the field events such men as Oather Hampton, high jump and broad jump; "Nibs" Hill, pole vault, and "Brick" Marcus, high jump and broad jump, will represent the Golden Bears.

Elmer Boyden, in the half mile and Les Schwobeda, miler, will compete this year for their last time. Both are rated as firsts in

POLY IN 14-11 VICTORY OVER TIERNAN FIVE

Two baskets during an extra period playoff by Don Smith, forward on the Santa Ana high school basketball team, settled a heated argument last night with the Tiernan Typewriter company quintette with the final score, 14 to 11, in favor of Coach Bill Foote's charges.

The game was a practice imbroglio preparatory to Poly's meeting South Pasadena here Friday afternoon.

Smith was the high scorer with a total of six points. For the Tiernan Typists, Herbert ("Red") Meisinger was the chief digit collector, making four points.

Many former Santa Ana high school athletic aces played on the Tiernan team.

Coach Foote used a large number of substitutes. A tall youth by the name of Walter Jordan, newly recruited for the cage squad, played center. Coach Foote is drilling him as one of the candidates for the pivotal position to replace Chet Siegel, who will become a nine semester student in February and will be ineligible for further competion.

The lineup:

High School		Tiernan Typewriter Co.
D.Smith (6)	F	(2) E.Daley
Borden (2)	F	(1) Golden
Jordan	C	(2) Linsenbard
Grebe	G	(4) Meisinger
Ehrhorn (1)	G	L. Daley

Substitutions: High school—E. Smith (2) for Borden; Siegel (2) for Jordan; Riley (1) for Duggar; Hunter for Grebe. Tiernan Typewriter Co.—Preble (2) for Daley; Burns for Golden; Paul for Daley.

Mickey Wallace to Mix With Walker

FRESNO, Jan. 26.—Mickey Wallace, Salt Lake middleweight, who meets Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, in a 10-round bout at catchweights here Tuesday night, is scheduled to establish training quarters here today.

Walker, who signed the contract Monday to meet Wallace without risking his title in Los Angeles, is due to arrive here Sunday.

JOHNSON GOT SQUARER DEAL FROM OWNERS THAN HE GAVE COBB, SPEAKER, SAYS SCRIBE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—While official baseball manifested restrained elation over the settlement of the feud between Commissioner K. M. Landis and Ban Johnson, president of the American league, there has arisen a feeling, minor as it may be, that Johnson got an unfair deal.

Die-hard partisans insist that the club owners of a league that he created and spent 25 years of his life in keeping alive and developing it to a priority over the older National league, threw him down and bribed him with a $40,000 a year salary to take a vacation and stay out of baseball.

It was generally admitted that Johnson today is physically unfit to administer the business affairs of a corporation worth millions of dollars.

Those not thoroughly familiar with the happenings of American league politics since 1919—and perhaps before that—might be justified in thinking it was unfair to "throw out a sick and doddering old man."

There is no doubt that Johnson is a subject of sympathy. The finish of his career was not a glorious one but the men who brought about the finish of his career did not act with the vindictiveness that characterized most of Johnson's acts and utterances in recent years.

After what has happened and what no doubt will happen when the commissioner restores the fair names of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, it probably will be a fair verdict that Johnson got a much better deal from his employers than Johnson gave to Cobb and Speaker.

SENATOR PEPPER MAY SUCCEED JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Senator George Wharton Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania, indicated today he would take under consideration an offer of the presidency of the American league to succeed Ban Johnson, but made it plain he had no communication with league officials. It had been reported a committee waited on him with an offer of Johnson's post.

BAN JOHNSON LEAVES FOR RESORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who was given a leave of absence by the league owners last Sunday, is attempting to regain his health at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Johnson was enroute today. He will remain at the Missouri resort for two or three weeks.

Rivers to Sub for Young Nationalista

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Georgie Rivers has been selected as the substitute for Bad News Eber to meet Young Nationalista in the 10-round main event at Hollywood Friday night. Ebers is reported ill with the flu and unable to train for the match.

Hudkins Training For Bout Feb. 1

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—Ace Hudkins is training daily at the Main Street gym for his February 1 go with Billy Alger at the Olympic auditorium. The "Nebraska wildcat" is in great condition for his first local appearance as a welterweight.

J. C. CAGE SQUAD IS DEALT BLOW AS STAR GUARD AILING

Another blow was dealt the Santa Ana junior college basketball five, floundering around in a mid-season slump, when it was learned today that Russell Kokx, regular running guard, might not be able to play tonight when the Don squad meets Riverside here.

Kokx is suffering a bad muscle bruise, commonly known as charley horse, in his leg. At best it is probable that he will play only a little of the game.

Jimmy Smith, the general emergency player, will replace Kokx.

The junior college game will begin at 8 o'clock. A preliminary Class C match between Santa Ana and Fullerton high school will be held at 7 o'clock. Both matches will be played in Andrews gymnasium.

Santa Ana and Riverside are both on the same standing in the Southern California junior college conference. Each team has been defeated twice. Their match will decide which has the better claim to second place behind the undefeated Pasadena team.

SUZANNE WILL WED AMERICAN YOUTH, REPORT

HAVANA, Jan. 26.—Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis ace, was reported today to have surrendered to the rapid fire courtship of a young American.

Baldwin Baldwin, heir to the millions of the "Lucky" Baldwin stock breeding establishment at Santa El Rio Rey, in California, is her fiance, it was said by W. H. Pickens, who signed her contract with C. C. Pyle.

Baldwin met the temperamental Suzanne at Coronado Beach, Cal., near his home, and immediately laid siege to the heart which was reported to have rebuffed noblemen and millionaires in Europe. He followed her on her professional tennis exhibition tour through the south and then here, where from the sidelines he daily watches her play.

Announcement of the engagement, Pickens said, will be made shortly.

Tilden, Tennis Champion, Will Play In Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26.—William ("Big Bill") Tilden, former national and world singles tennis champion, is the latest sport celebrity to fall for the Hollywood movie contract.

Tilden has signed to star for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer productions. "Big Bill" has appeared before the camera before and has also been on the stage but claims that he now intends to follow a motion picture career.

LEGIONNAIRES TO INITIATE 60 NEW MEMBERS

As evidence of the success of the membership drive now being conducted by Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, approximately 60 new members will be initiated into the organization at the January meeting, to be held tomorrow night in the Legion home, on Birch street. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock.

The new members have been enrolled since the first of the year, and, according to Elmer Schaniel, it is apparent that the post membership will be larger than it ever has been in the past by the end of February. The post now boasts of a membership of approximately 450.

Entertainment, tomorrow night, will be furnished by the post's new entertainment committee, composed of Ed Kolbe, chairman; George Richardson and Charles Van Wyk.

The entertainment will include several numbers by the Lions club quartet; dance numbers, by the Misses Margaret O'Leary and Helen Hull; songs, by Cy Featherly, and monologue, by Carson Smith. Miss Elsie Fluor will play for the singers and dancers.

Among the business to be taken up by the post will be the proposed purchase of a new ritual for the initiation of new members.

Members will be asked to attend the meeting of the Anaheim post, on February 4, at which State Commander John Slavich will be present. The meeting will be held in the high school auditorium, Anaheim. The Anaheim post is expecting approximately 1500 ex-service men to attend.

Man Is Jailed for Disturbing Peace

Charged with disturbing the peace in Fullerton, C. E. Davis, 36, 882 East Orangegrove avenue, Pasadena, was fined $50, with an alternate of spending 25 days in the county jail, when he was given a hearing in the Fullerton justice court. Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, brought Davis to the county jail.

82,000 Seats Proposed For Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Jan. 26.—The proposed enlarging of the Pasadena Rose bowl to a seating capacity of 82,000 will be considered at the annual meeting of the Tournament of Roses committee tomorrow.

The present capacity of 52,000 has proven inadequate for the annual New Year's Day intersectional football classic and a resolution calling for 30,000 additional seats before January 1 of next year is expected to pass.

The proposal, if adopted, would make the Rose bowl the ranking stadium on the Pacific Coast.

A. E. OLIGER VICTIM OF AUTO 'STRIPPERS'

A. E. Oliger, former secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, has fallen victim to auto thieves, according to word received here by friends.

However, Oliger is better off than most victims, in that he has recovered his machine, minus accessories.

The machine was stolen from a stall near the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce office. Operatives of the insurance company, with which the car was insured, located the machine at Lake Elsinore, where the thieves had stripped it.

Peterson Returns From Shoe Style Show In Chicago

Roy C. Peterson, of Peterson's Shoe store, returned Sunday from a month's tour of the shoe markets, which included the mammoth style show in Chicago, January 4 to 7. This event also was the occasion of the national convention of shoe manufacturers and is final authority on shoe styles.

Practically every shoe manufacturer in the country displayed new spring lines and Peterson was able to make his spring purchases with the advantages of discrimination and comparison.

Peterson says that the piquant style trend of the last few months still prevails. Light colors, some grays and pastel parchment, appear to be the most important for California wear, the darker shades going to the northern states, he said. The one-strap remains in the lead. Pumps and stepins are by far the most popular.

Peterson visited friends in Montreal, Canada, before returning to Santa Ana.

LOVER OF MUSIC

On top of this, comes the information that Clark is very fond of music; that it soothes his nerves while in training.

No doubt you are figuring that Clark is one of them there jazz saxophone players. Wrong again. He's a "wiz" on the accordion.

If there is one thing that will make me tune out a radio station it is the plain announcement that so and so will entertain on the accordion. Really accordapain would be more correct. I also draw the line on the harmonica.

Perhaps the fact that the playing of an accordion is sufficient to soothe Elky Clark's nerves, explains why he is a glutton for punishment.

BIG RUBBER MAN

Down in New York they call Johnny Risko the "big rubber man."

Incidentally, in the same burg, Tex Rickard is planning a heavyweight tournament to select a challenger for Gene Tunney. So far Johnny Risko has been entirely overlooked.

However, a big opportunity presents itself before Mr. John Risko. He is shortly to meet Jim Maloney, who has already been selected by Tex Rickard to clash with Jack Delaney as part of the heavyweight ballyhoo.

Risko has a chance to more than make good on the monicker of "rubber man" that the New York writers have hung on him. By trimming Jim Maloney he can bound from the also rans into one of the leading contenders.

Risko has surprised Tex before. His decisive defeat of Paul Berlenbach for a time considerably upset Rickard's plans.

In that bout, Berlenbach was the rubber man, as he rebounded from the floor to his feet from Risko's punches.

DUNDEE IS GAME

Joe Dundee has definitely qualified as a great fighter. His victory over Eddie Roberts recently puts him in that class.

Roberts, you will remember, is the young man who knocked Dundee out in a round in a California bout. Dundee has always insisted that he could have weathered the round, but the referee didn't think so.

In their second meeting, Roberts displayed the punch that temporarily gave Dundee's stock a setback, by dropping Dundee in the fourth round. He might have finished Joe had he been more experienced.

Dundee, after having been knocked out in the first meeting and floored in the fourth round of the second session, lasted the round and came on to glorious victory.

The win established Dundee as a courageous fighter. It is a necessary asset on the road to a championship and Dundee is bound that way.

FIELDS IS WINNER OVER HARRY BROWN

Jackie Fields, clever Jewish boy, handed Harry ("Kid") Brown, Philadelphia lightweight, a decisive trouncing in the 10-round main event at Vernon last night.

Fields' victory came in the nature of a redemption of the local lightweight class for Brown in three previous starts here had defeated Baby Joe Gans, Young Harry Wills and Johnny Adams, three Southern California lightweight hopes.

With the exception of the third and ninth rounds, which went to Brown, Fields had things much his own way.

In the third Jackie attempted a toe-to-toe combat with the tough Philadelphia boy and got much the worst of the exchange. From that point on Fields with class and speed outstepped and outboxed the wily Brown.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Nathan Forrest

Sketches By Kroesen
Synopsis By Braucher

Shortly after the battle of Shiloh, Forrest's bravery was rewarded with promotion to brigadier-general. Serving under General Bragg, an officer he cordially hated, Forrest took 1500 men and raided Murfreesboro, Tennessee, one early summer dawn in 1862. He captured General Crittenden and his staff and hundreds of prisoners before resistance could be organized.

Word came that General Nelson was dashing down from Nashville with 3500 men, bent on retribution. Forrest smiled and saw a new chance.

Hiding his wild riders in a wood until Nelson passed, Forrest dashed in behind Nelson's forces and attacked Nashville.

Nelson, outwitted, determined that Forrest should be captured and returned to Nashville at top speed. Again Forrest slipped away. He came to bear the name "Gray Ghost," and Sherman ordered that Forrest be captured or killed "if it costs 10,000 lives and breaks the treasury." ©1927 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. (Continued.)

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Clowny floundered round about the cold, cold stream, they heard him shout, "Hey, someone throw a rope to me and help me, if you please. It's true that I know how to swim, but, say, just now I'm not in trim. The water's much too chilly and I fear that I will freeze."

The other Tinies, filled with fear, went running 'round, both there and here 'cause they were panic-stricken and they knew not what to do. "Oh, goodness me," wee Coppy said, "I fear it's deep and o'er my head, or I would jump right in the stream and try to rescue you."

Then Scouty shouted, "Have no fear. The Eskimo will soon be here, and I am sure that he will tell us how to get you out." The Eskimo heard Clowny scream when he was pitched out in the stream, and promptly he had run for rope, or something else, no doubt.

So, in the meantime, Clowny tried to pull some ice up by his side, so he could hang on to something. Both his legs began to tire. He shouted, "When you get me out, my clothes will be all ice, no doubt. You'd better gather something so that we can build a fire."

Just then a chunk of ice moved by, and all heard Scouty loudly cry, "Grab hold of that one, Clowny. You can crawl up on the top. It's ragged edged and you can grip a pointed place, so you won't slip." And then the stream grew quiet, and the ice chunk seemed to stop.

Wee Clowny tried, and tried and tried to get on top—and then he'd slide. But, after while, he met success and crawled up on the ice. And then he shouted to the band, "Come on now, lend a friendly hand and get me to the shore, because this doesn't feel so nice."

(The Eskimo aids in Clowny's rescue in the next story.)

SCALP DISEASES

How much do you know about caring for your hair? Hairdressers who really know something about the condition of the scalp, say that not two women a day come to them with really clean healthy heads.

Often the trouble is only a little dandruff. But if neglected, it can become something really serious. And it isn't possible to treat a really serious scalp trouble yourself. You must have medical advice.

The worst part of any scalp trouble is that it can go on for years without you being aware of it. Now and then the scalp will feel itchy. You'll buy a tonic that looks or smells nice, or that your best friend uses; it gives your hair softness and gloss and you'll believe you are curing the trouble. In time you'll forget to use the tonic at all. A few months later you'll again notice itchiness or dandruff, and after forgetting it for some weeks, you'll hunt up the tonic again. And so it will go.

This isn't directed at you personally. But it's the usual story of how hair is looked after. Seborhoea can exist ten years without being known, meantime the hair gradually falls out, or turns gray, or the head goes bald.

If you have any suspected trouble, go to a scalp specialist. Not a beauty shop, unless you are certain whoever is in charge knows a lot, medically about scalps and hair. If there is no such person in your town, go to your own doctor. If he's bald, go to a doctor that isn't for bald doctors say comfortably that you can't keep hair from falling, and doctors that aren't bald say you can—just as the doctor who smokes a lot never takes tobacco from his patients and the one who doesn't smoke is sure to say it is bad for digestion and heart.

Having taken medical advice, intelligent advice, about your scalp, stick to the treatments. Early baldness can be cured; hair that looks dead brought to life.

Mabel H.—You will help your oily scalp if you eat less of oily and very rich, sweet foods. A condition of this kind always comes from poor elimination, and the scalp or the complexion must suffer in trying to keep the system cleared.

Instead of so many shampoos, try rubbing the oil out of your hair by using soft towels just as you would if you were drying your hair after using water on it.

Can you care for your scalp?

While you are correcting the trouble at the source, you can help it slightly if you use very cold water on the scalp as a last rinse when you must resort to a shampoo. This and the removal of the oil from the hair with the towels will be all you can do until you correct the trouble in your system.

DREAMS

One broken dream is not the end of dreaming,
One shattered hope is not the end of all,
Beyond the storm and tempest stars are gleaming,
Still build your castles, though your castles fall.

Though many dreams come tumbling in disaster
And pain and heartache meet us down the years,
Still keep your faith, your dreams and hopes to master
And seek to find the lesson of your tears.

Not all is as it should be! See how littered
With sorry wreckage is life's restless stream.
Some dreams are vain, but be you not embittered
And never cry that you have ceased to dream!

THE KANGAROO RAT NEVER TAKES A DRINK

Kangaroo Rat

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Dipodomys Deserti is his scientific name, but he is known throughout that part of the United States which he calls home as the "kangaroo rat."

This is a misnomer, as he is no more of a rat than he is a kangaroo. He is a rodent, however, but with funny long hind legs, very long tail and a kangaroo-like way of jumping around.

This tiny animal, which can cuddle in the hollow of your hand, does not, like the kangaroo, have a pouch in which it can tuck away its babies safe and snug, but like the chipmunk does have cheek pouches which are useful in carrying food and earth.

They are such attractive little creatures that the name of rat seems unkind. They are brown shading to smoky gray, with breast and throat of snowy white. Their big, soft eyes and general daintiness make them attractive pets. They differ from most rodents in that they do not hibernate. They are provident little things, however, and in the spring and fall lay aside supplies of seeds and leaves against stormy days.

The kangaroo rats make their home in the loose sands amid the creosote bushes of the desert. They dig their burrows with a perfect maze of passages, tunnels and winding corridors. These always extend amid the roots of the bushes and have as many entrances and emergency exits as an up-to-date movie theater. It is the entrance lately plugged with sand that always leads to the grass-lined nest chamber.

The only reflection that can be cast upon this fellow is that in his own home he will scrap just a little. There are only two youngsters in each family at a time and often there is a sparring match to liven things up a bit. This performance consists in leaping and then striking downward with their powerful hind legs.

The kangaroo rat is as dry as the desert itself, never taking a drink of anything, even water, depending upon the moisture in his food for such needs.

BREAKFAST—Stewed dried apricots, cooked wheat cereal, thin cream, creamed fresh beef on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of spinach soup with spinach balls, corn fritters, syrup, chilled apple sauce, "brownies," milk, tea.

DINNER—Rolled breast of veal in rice border, buttered carrots and peas, salad chiffonade, rye bread, fruit cup puddings, milk, coffee.

Corn fritters are almost as good made from canned corn as from fresh and the fritters themselves are more appealing on a cold winter day than a hot August one. To insure the corn being its best, open can, turn corn into a china or earthenware bowl and let stand an hour before using.

Corn Fritters

One can corn, 1 1-3 cups flour, 2 teaspoons powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 cup milk, 2 eggs.

Mix and sift flour, salt, sugar and baking powder and add to corn. Add milk and yolks of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Drop from tip of spoon into deep hot fat. Cook until a golden brown. Drain on brown paper and serve with syrup.

If a thermometer is used, the fat should be 370 degrees Fahrenheit. If a thermometer is not at hand an inch cube of bread from the soft part of the loaf should brown in 60 seconds when dropped into the hot fat.

Here's Speedy Relief From Bunions and Soft Corns

All Druggists Say Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction or Money Cheerfully Refunded

Get a two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) today. Every well stocked drug store has this, with the distinct understanding that your money will be cheerfully returned if it does not reduce the inflammation, soreness and pain much quicker than any remedy you ever used.

Your bunions may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with pads, shields, or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

Every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.—Adv.

CROPS REPORT SHOWS GAIN IN MANY SECTIONS

Total Valuation Increases Although Per Acre Yield Is Not So Good

The value of California's main crops for the year 1926 was $375,495,000, a slight decrease under 1925 in both value and production.

It is of special interest to Southern California that the crops upon which this section mainly depends show a heavy increase in both tonnage and acreage, there being an increase in the fruit crop of 215,000 tons over the previous year, while bearing fruits, nuts and vineyards show an acreage increase of 7.8 per cent over 1925 and an increase of more than 58 per cent over 1920.

The 1926 fruit crop was the largest in the history of the State, amounting to 3,937,900 tons, an increase of 1,129,704 tons over the of 215,000 tons, an increase over 1924 of 922,150 tons and an increase of 1,120,704 tons over the 1919-1923 five-year average.

Field Crops Total

The total production of field crops in 1926 was 7,674,934 tons, a decrease of 443,966 tons from 1925 and it is also true that the average ton value of $20.78 was a decrease from the $23.98 value of 1925.

These totals cover all field crops of the State, but it is also true of the fruit crop, the increased yield of 1926 being offset by a drop from 1925 prices and a larger drop from 1924, the ton values for the three years being $67.80 in 1924; $58.74 in 1925 and $54.85 in 1926. The average ton value has, in fact been decreasing for several years, the figures for the five-year period, 1919-1923, being $73.22.

In other words, the average ton value of the California fruit crop in 1926 was $18.37 less than the 1919-1923 five-year average.

The other side of the picture is that although prices have been steadily lower production has steadily increased, so that the total value of the 1926 fruit crop was more than $10,350,000 higher than the five-year average already mentioned. It is also true that while the 1926 crop was the largest ever picked from California groves and orchards, it did not bring as much money as the 1925 crop, the figures being $215,983,000 for 1926 and $218,653,000 for 1925.

Rainfall Record

The same situation extended to the State as a whole, covering all principal field crops. Although the 1926 crop brought total returns of $375,495,000, the value of the 1925 crop was $418,328,000 and the past year's total was also exceeded in 1924 when the aggregate was $392,844,000.

The rainfall, over the State as a whole, was about normal during 1926, no late Spring frosts occurred to damage fruit blossoms and a good set of fruit followed in the principal fruit growing areas. There was sufficient water for irrigation, except in scattered localities, and there were no extremely high temperatures during the growing season or any unfavorable weather during the harvest season. Due to heavy rains in April and early May, the wheat suffered to some extent from rust, but this was practically the only crop which experienced less than average favorable conditions.

In view of this condition, which extended generally throughout the State, it comes as somewhat of a surprise to learn that of fourteen principal field crops, only five showed acreage yields in 1926 equal to the yield of 1925. These are rice, potatoes, sugar beets,, cotton and hops.

Acreage Increased

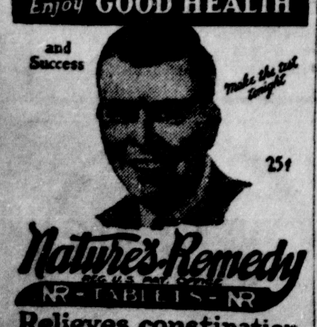

In the main however, the decreased acre yield was offset by increased acreage, the only shrinkage in acreage being in corn, tame hay, sugar beets, cotton and alfalfa. Corn acreage dropped from 81,000 to 77,000 acres; hay dropped from 1,777,000 to 1,699,000 acres; the sugar beet acreage decreased from 76,000 to 48,000; the cotton acreage dropped from 172,000 to 160,000, while the alfalfa seed acreage dropped from 16,000 to 14,400 acres.

On the other hand, the wheat acreage jumped 50,000 acres in 1926, the total being 653,000; the rice acreage jumped from 103,000 to 149,000; beans showed an increase from 240,000 to 305,000 acres and sweet potatoes increased from 9000 to 12,000 acres.

It would seem, from this review, that while Southern California held its own, the State as a whole did not entirely escape the effects of the agricultural depression which has existed for several years throughout the United States.

It may also be said, however, that due to irrigation, intensive cultivation and specialized crops, California has suffered less in proportion than any portion of the nation.

EXPECT CALIFORNIA WILL TAKE LEADING PART IN "CO-OP" MARKETING PLAN

California will likely play a greater part this year and coming years in co-operative marketing methods, bankers believe.

Government and state surveys continually are pointed to by other states in efforts to solve particular locality problems in fruit, vegetable, grain and livestock.

The claim is made that greater efficiency is displayed in California in growing and marketing crops of all kinds. This is the reason rural organizations of other states are now asking the government to handle surplus production along profitable lines for all concerned.

California growers and "co-ops" are invited to join 16 other co-operative groups in seeking government aid in equalizing distribution costs.

The government appears to be regarded with a division of sentiment locally.

Heavy producers and distributors of this vicinity do not see the proposition as healthy for local investors. They say conditions throughout the nation are so entirely different from the Pacific coast situation that "entangling alliances" are frowned upon.

Particular marketing methods are better understood here than anywhere else, growers say. Crop and seasonal condition are different.

The statement to California producers and distributors urges legislation which will "create a federal farm board with whose co-operation surpluses can be effectively handled by co-operative agencies created by farmers and distribute the costs of managing surpluses as broadly as the resultant benefits are distributed, that is, over each marketed unit of a particular commodity, through an equalization fee."

What is needed at this time by co-operative marketing associations and by all argiculture is a way by which unpreventable surpluses may be taken off the market and not permitted to depress the price of the entire crop below the cost of production.

For some crops this will mean storage and carry over from years of large production to years of small production. For others it will mean so handling the export surplus as to make the tariff effective.

In neither case will the mere granting of additional credit to co-operatives accomplish the desired purpose. No co-operative can afford to burden its members with the cost and risk of borrowing money to buy seasonal surplus and carry it over to the next year to sell it in foreign free-trade markets.

Nor can co-operatives engaged in marketing afford to borrow money for marketing purposes and place a charge upon all commodities to be handled by them over a long period of years to cover losses and costs incurred in buying and handling the surplus for the benefit of all producers of a given commodity!

Lettuce Eaters Look to Calif. For Heavy Crop

California produced more than half of all the lettuce consumed in the United States during the year 1925, and is the only state in the Union that ships this garden product continuously throughout the year.

This fact was brought out by H. H. Wellman, specialist in agriculture at the University of California, in the course of an address on "Progress in Agricultural Economics," delivered on the opening day of the University Extension conference at the college of agriculture on the Berkeley campus.

Completed Survey

Wellman has just completed a survey of the lettuce growing industry in the United States, showing in condensed tabular form the increase in production and consumption of the two chief varieties of lettuce, known as Big Boston and New York Iceberg. The information he gathered has been arranged in bulletin form as Circular 5 of the Agricultural Extension service, and is now on the presses.

On the basis of his findings Wellman gives as his opinion that there is reasonable room for a conservative expansion in the lettuce industry in California, in spite of the recent great increase in total production, providing the land used is primarily adapted to the production of this crop.

Speaking of the increase in lettuce production in the state, particularly of the Iceberg variety which is raised almost exclusively in western states, Wellman said, "California's lettuce acreage from 7140 acres in 1918 to 49,320 acres in 1925, an increase of 591 per cent in seven years.

That California is growing more important than eastern states in production of this crop is proved by other figures showing that the per cent of acreage increase for the United States as a whole was only 412 per cent for the same period.

Imperial Is First

"California produces more lettuce than all other states combined. In 1925, California shipped 58.2 per cent of all carload lots in the United States."

Other western states, principally Arizona, Colorado and Washington, though producing much smaller amounts of lettuce, have experienced even greater growths in shipments than California.

Within the state, approximately 90 per cent of the lettuce crop was produced in five counties, Imperial, Monterey, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and Santa Cruz, with Imperial producing 47.7 per cent of the total for the state.

New State Blue Book Proposed

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 26.—Publication of a new California State Blue Book, containing the constitution, outline of state government, biographical sketches of all state officials, and historical data of the Golden State is provided in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Fred C. RODEOS IN HAWAII

LIHUE, Kauai, Jan. 26.—Such names as "Palm Tree Pete," "Surfin; Sam," "Lava Lawrence," and "Thin Poi Teddy" may come into being in place of the similarly descriptive nicknames of the Old West, if interesting rodeos and round-ups in the Hawaiian Islands continues at its present pace. Roping and bull-dogging the wild mountain steer is becoming a popular attraction at island celebrations. A new record for roping was recently hung up here by a Hawaiian cowboy, who caught, threw and tied an animal in 32 seconds.

Foot and Mouth Disease Kept Out Of U. S. In 1926

No infection of foot-and-mouth disease gained entrance to the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, a report just issued by the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, shows. The field inspection division of the bureau, of which this protection to livestock is a major activity, is making it more difficult, year after year, for any foreign animal infection to enter the country.

Besides the various animal by-products, there is danger, also, from second hand bags, feeding materials, and hay and straw packing materials, which are liable to carry infection from foreign countries. Under department regulations, all such materials from an infected country which have not been disinfected or otherwise treated or handled in an approved manner prior to shipment, must be disinfected or destroyed after arrival in the United States.

It is noteworthy that importers have increased their efforts to have their foreign agents either use hay and straw which have been disinfected and certified by an American consular officer, or use other materials, such as excelsior and paper-packing materials against which there are no restrictions. Through co-operation of importers the volume of restricted hay and straw packing material has been reduced to less than 10 per cent of the total packing material used for import merchandise.

Ted Baldwin Sold To Philadelphia

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26. — Ted Baldwin, veteran Seattle third baseman of the Seattle club, has been sold to the Philadelphia Nationals, according to announcement here today.

Charley Lockard and Wade Killifer, owners of the Seattle club, attending the Pacific Coast league conference here, refused to disclose the price.

DISTRIBUTION COSTS

A study of food distribution costs in New York City made by experts of the department of agriculture shows that for every 26 cents paid by the consumer for fruits and vegetables, about 14 cents is the wholesale value and 12 cents is distribution costs.

AERIAL GOLF

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The course may be rough, but most golfers never find it too rough even to tee up the ball. That's the case, however, with many of the air pilots at Roehampton who play aerial golf. On windy days it is impossible to tee up the balls, but when the weather's fair, all's well. The golf course, to be sure, is laid out on the ground and flour bags are dropped by the flyers.

Lemon Trees of No Use After 30 Years, Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. —In deciding income tax cases on California lemon groves the board of tax appeals has established a precedent in holding that the normal useful life of a lemon tree is 30 years. The board hereafter will allow depreciation on that basis.

The decision was made in the case of the Kaweah Lemon company of Lemon Cove. The commissioner of internal revenue had refused to allow any depreciation on the trees. Only $639 was involved in the Kaweah case but the decision is considered important in view of the precedent established for the depreciation allowance on California lemon groves.

NUT MEN WILL HOLD MEETING AT TUSTIN H. S.

About 700 walnut growers of Southern California will attend the ninth annual walnut growers' institute to be held this year at Tustin, on Saturday, March 5, in the heart of one of the oldest walnut growing sections of California. Decision of the location of this event was unanimously arrived at during the recent executive meeting of representatives from all the southern counties at Whittier.

Orange county was represented by J. A. Smiley, chairman of the Farm Bureau walnut department; A. J. McFadden, Irvine; S. W. Stanley, Tustin, and H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor.

The Tustin high school authorities have already offered the use of their auditorium for the event. S. W. Stanley, director from Tustin, is arranging the local details, such as lunches, reception, road routing, etc. He states that Tustin community will come out in full force to give the visitors a real welcome.

The program committee is headed by J. A. Smiley, of West Orange. He will be assisted by the walnut growers' committee of the Orange County Farm bureau and the agricultural extension service.

Prominent authorities and speakers of the walnut industry will be featured on the program. An invitation has been sent to Dr. C. A. Reed, nut specialist of the United States department of agriculture, to address the growers on "The Competitive Influence of Various Domestic and Foreign Nuts on the Walnut Industry."

RECKLESS DRIVING CASE IS CONTINUED

The case of George White, truck driver, who was captured December 3, near the Irvine station, with 750 gallons of alcohol and who is charged with reckless driving, was continued in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday until February 1, because of illness of the defense attorney.

White is alleged to have purposely driven his truck into the car occupied by Officers D. D. Adams and Clyde Flower, who were trying to arrest him.

He also was charged with possession of intoxicating liquor at the time of his arrest, to which charge he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $500.

ROADS AID LAND VALUE

Farm lands in the almost isolated rural districts of the United States have increase din value by more than $2,400,000 as a result of construction of nearly 500,000 miles of improved highways, according to the American Road Builders' association.

SCIENCE FINDS WAY TO SPEED DATE GROWING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Uncle Sam has improved on the method of cultivating dates over the methods employed by the Arabs with the result that more and better dates are being grown from each tree.

This testimony was given by Dr. William A. Taylor, chief of the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture before the house committee on appropriations.

The Arab was content to let nature take its course but the American scientist goes farther. Dr. Taylor put it in the following words:

"It has to be remembered that the date varieties which yield fruit are strictly pistillate; that is, there are female trees which do not produce normal fruit with germinable seed, except by means of pollination from the male trees, and that fertilization of the blossoms in the main is brought about through the cuttings of clusters of male flowers from male trees, and hanging the clusters of male flowers above the female flowers in the female trees when the blossoms are receptive.

"It has been found in the last two years that a considerable control of the time of the maturing of the dates can be accomplished through the use of pollen from certain male trees; in other words, that the pollen from one type of male tree will accelerate the ripening of the fruit of the variety to which it is applied, and that another one will retard it. That does not appear to have been known to the Arabs, but it is likely to become a very important feature in the development of commercial date growing in this country, where the question of the time of ripening with reference to the length of the season in the particular valley where the trees are is met."

Wind Break Tour In County Planned

During the past three or four years over 12 miles of new windbreaks have been planted in various sections of Orange county for the protection of orchards against wind exposure. The principal varieties used for this purpose are the eucalyptus, Monterey cypress and Athel, Farm Advisor Wahlberg said.

The wind storm of last month precipitated a number of problems relating to proper handling of young breaks, according to Wahlberg. Certain precautions in pruning, heading and staking the young trees should be recognized by the grower, and to this end the agricultural extension service is planning a field tour which will visit a number of typical windbreaks. Opportunity will be given to study desirable practices in the maintenance of windbreaks.

The state extension forester will be one of the speakers.

The tour will be held Tuesday, February 8. Further announcement will be made concerning details.

Grazing Fees to Stand, Is Belief

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 26.—In the face of solid opposition from the 12 western states represented in the grazing fees conference, held here, it is likely that no increase in grazing fees on the national forests will be made this year, at least, it is stated by those close to the secretary of agriculture.

Secretary Jardine, who personally listened to the fire of opposition hurled against any increase of grazing fees by representatives of the states during the hearing, has not made any official statement in relation to the proposed increase.

It has been intimated by others that, upon his return to Washington, he will announce that there will be no increase in fees, at least this year.

HOW TO SAY IT?

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan.26.—As a result of the christening of Pepys avenue in Barnet, England, the old controversy as to the proper pronunciation of the famous diarists's name has arisen again. Authorities disagree over whether it should be "Peeps," "Peppis" or "Pips."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver — constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q.—I am in doubt how to prune a white grape and a black grape. One, I think is called a Muscat and the other tastes like a Concord. Both vines have been neglected until they are masses of brush. The black grape was originally trained up over the back porch.—W. C. J.

A—Muscats are given short pruning and the Concords long or cane pruning. You probably will find that the Muscat has a distinct head or stock and possibly several arms from which arise a number of canes. The canes should be cut back so that there will be left no more than 2 buds on each spur. Cut out entirely all weak canes and leave a total of not more than 4 to 6 spurs if the vine is vigorous. If weak, then half that number of spurs with one or two buds on each should be left.

Concords bear their fruit on laterals sent out from long canes. In pruning cut out weak and surplus canes and leave several that are from 6 to 8 feet in length, if over a porch or trellis. The number and length of thecanes will depend upon the strength and vigor of the vine. Those should bear fruit this season. Allow several new canes to grow this coming season as they will be the fruit-bearing canes for next year. The old canes that have borne are removed each winter, one or two buds being left at the base of each from which renewal canes must come.

Q—I came to California last summer and bought a home. I have a fine garden, but am bothered to death with large brown snails.—Mrs. W. E.

A—The formula for poisoning snails has been given here a number of times, but thew riter realizes that there are new residents continually coming to Santa Ana and for the benefit of them the directions will be repeated. Snails are a garden pest of no mean proportions unless one knows how to handle them.

Mix one (1) pound of calcium arsenate into 16 (pounds) of coarse bran. After the materials are thoroughly mixed dry, moisten with water to make a crumbly mash, wet enough to hold together when squeezed in the hand but not so wet that any amount of water can be squeezed out.

Next lightly wet down the area to be poisoned and scatter the mash as finely as possible, avoiding large lumps. This should be done, preferably, in the evening. As some plants are injured by the caustic action of the poison, it is just as well not to scatter any on foliage but rather on the ground altogether. The poison will remain effective and attractive to snails for several days if the poisoned area is lightly sprinkled each evening during that period.

Q—Tell me what to do to prevent potatoes from getting wormy in the ground. I am planting now and if there is anything I can do to keep worms out I would like to do it. Tomatoes had lots of worms in them this year also.—S. R. R.

A—Several worms attack potatoes in the ground, principally wire-worms and tuber moths. Wire worms are larvae of beetles and live in the soil for two or three years. Where they are numerous, as in light river bottom soil, they cause considerable loss. The only practicable control yet worked out is to plant trap crops such as pieces of tomatoes in the rows and after a week or so either dig them out and destroy them with the worms inside or drill calcium cyanide in the rows, the gas liberated from this chemical killing the worms attracted to the baits. The main crop can then be planted a few days later.

The larvae of tuber moths begin to infest potatoes just before or just after digging time. The eggs are laid by the parent moth either on potato plants or on the potatoes, if access to them can be had. The remedy is one of prevention. All host plants of the moth growing in and around potato fields should be destroyed. This includes stray tomato, eggplant, night shade, ground cherry and other plants of the solanum family. The potato plants should be kept well hilled up and the earth not allowed to dry out sufficiently to crack, so permitting the moths to penetrate to the tubers. After digging never allow the potatoes to be exposed at night, as the moth is a night flyer and will surely deposit eggs on any unprotected lot of potatoes. All bins or storage places should be cleaned out thoroughly before using them for potatoes again.

Worms attacking tomatoes may be either cut worms or corn ear worms. Cut worms are best handled by poison baits scattered around the plants. Bran forms theb ase of this material and Paris green or white arsenic the poison. It is sweetened with a little molasses and made more attractive by the use of ground lemon. Before tomato fruits are mature they can be protected from corn ear worms by dusting calcium arsenate over the plants. After the fruit is mature or nearly mature, no poison should be used on it.

Q—What would cause lemon leaves to turn yellow such as those I am sending you herewith? The trees seemed to be all right until a few weeks after the rains. Holes were blasted around them last summer. Is it possible that the blasting destroyed too many roots? Leaves on an orange tree appear to be badly deformed. Some leaves are smooth, but most of them all over the tree are rough and crinkled, although the color is good.—C. L. E.

A—Excess water around the roots is probably responsible for the yellow lemon leaves. Sometimes in blasting the subsoil or hardpan is not cracked deeply enough and as a result pockets form that hold the irrigation or rain water. Citrus trees must have sufficient drainage, else yellow leaves will follow heavy rains or irrigations.. Correction of this trouble would seem to be dependent upon securing good drainage.

Crinkled or deformed leaves, particularly when general throughout the tree, indicate an inherited characteristic. In other words, the bud from which this tree has developed was undoubtedly taken from a tree possessing the same characteristics. There is no remedy other than to bud or graft the tree over again.

Q—Can anything be done to kill worms in the garden that are destroying roots of cannas? They are an inch or more in length, slender, hard and yellowish brown in color.—Mrs. E. W. P.

A—Cut several potatoes in half and plant them in the canna bed. Fasten a wire or string to each one, above the soil so that the potatoes can be easily located. Wire worms are especially fond of potatoes and will soon find and penetrate them. Every two weeks or so pull the potatoes up and destroy the worms inside, replanting with the same or new stock. This method of trapping is inexpensive and effective. No chemicals to kill worms can be used in soil in which plants are growing, hence the only thing left to do is to trap the worms.

NEW STUDY MADE OF HEN BUSINESS

Extensive investigations in breeding and feeding of poultry were carried on by the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, during the last fiscal year, according to a report of the chief of that bureau In experiments with Rhode Island Reds and Single Comb White Leghorns for increased egg production, there was a higher proportion of 200-egg records than during any previous year.

Other experiments with poultry involved chick mortality, hatchability and fertility of eggs, inheritance of egg production, and various experiments in feeding for egg production. In feeding tests for egg production, it was found that omitting limestone, a shell-forming ingredient, from the ration, reduced egg production 50 per cent.

Poultry Stocks In Cold Storage Show Increase

Stocks of poultry, meats, and lard in cold storage are larger than at this time a year ago, but supplies of butter, cheese and eggs are smaller, according to the January cold storage report of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture. Larger quantities of apples are reported.

Total stocks of frozen poultry are placed at 144,230,000 pounds on January 1, compared with 111,501,000 pounds on January 1 a year ago, and 108,558,000 pounds the January 1 five-year average. Total stocks of meats are placed at 645,321,000 pounds against 615,731,000 pounds last year, and 744,565,000 pounds the five-year average.

Lard in cold storage aggregates 49,498,000 pounds against 42,478,000 pounds a year ago. Lard production during December is placed at 130,398,000 pounds against 147,716,000 pounds during December, 1925.

Stocks of creamery butter are placed at 34,355,000 pounds against 52,785,000 pounds last year; American cheese 54,495,000 pounds against 58,457,000 pounds; and case eggs 1,111,000 cases against 1,683,000 cases.

The quantity of apples in storage is placed at 4,067,000 barrels against 3,855,000 barrels a year ago, and 13,150,000 boxes against 11,868,000 boxes.

FINDS DAUGHTERS AFTER 15 YEARS

VISALIA, Calif., Jan. 26.—Following a search for his two daughters which lasted over a period of 15 years, and which took the inquiring father through 13 states, A. R. Cravy, native of Texas, found his 17-year-old twin daughters living comfortably in a picturesque little home in Three Rivers, near here.

One of the twins had recently married, and is now Mrs. Mona Lane, wife of E. H. Lane, of Three Rivers. The other, Miss Mildred Cravy, is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. E. Lutz, of Three Rivers, the two girls having been twice adopted since the separation from the father, 15 years ago.

In relating the pathetic story, which ended so happily, Cravy explained that he and his wife and four daughters were living in Gause, Tex., when Mrs. Cravy's health became impaired and the family removed to California, in hope of her regaining her strength. She died in Holtville, about 15 years ago, leaving the husband and four daughters, the aforementioned twins, who will be 18 years old in two weeks, and two older sisters, Jessie Lee, now aged 22, married and living in Los Angeles, and Naomi, aged 20, said to have been adopted and living in Turlock.

OFFER CUP FOR BEST EXHIBIT BY ONE FARMER

Sacramento Bank to Give Prize to Each Winner At County Fairs

To encourage the establishment of farms that always make money and a good living for the owner and his family is the object of the California National bank, of Sacramento, in awarding a sterling silver sweepstakes trophy for the best "one farm" exhibit made at any fair in California in 1927, which, of course, includes the 1927 Orange county fair.

"One farm" exhibits will be a feature of California fairs this year.

Every product shown in these displays must be grown by the farmer living on the farm or the members of his family. They will demonstrate the wide diversity of crops that can be grown on a California farm, and show conclusively that a farmer can not only produce practically everything he and his family eat, but that products can be grown or raised that can be sold for cash every day in the year. In this respect it is expected that Orange county competition will be very keen.

The awards at each fair will be made by the judge of the agricultural and horticultural divisions and the following uniform scale of points will be followed: Orchard products, fresh, 100 points; orchard products, dried, 100; nuts, 50; field crops, 100; garden crops, fresh, 100; flowers, 50; dairy products, 25; poultry products, 25; honey and bee products, 25; preserved fruits, 100; preserved vegetables, 100; meat products, 25; home-made clothing, 25; arrangement, 100, and neatness, 75—making a total of 1000 points.

The list of products, score and photograph of the first prize exhibit at each fair will be the basis for making the sweepstakes award.

The list of products shown and the score of the first prize exhibit at each California fair—with a photograph of the exhibit will be sent to a committee consisting of R. G. Sproul, vice president, University of California, Berkeley; R. N. Wilson, director of agriculture, California Development association, San Francisco, and Dr. George P. Clements, manager agricultural department, chamber of commerce, Los Angeles.

These three men will make the sweepstakes award.

That the winning of this prize will be a great honor not only for the winner, but the district in which he lives, goes without saying.

The story of the farm on which the exhibit is grown, together with the varieties and everything else about the exhibitor and his family, will make a story that will be one of the most valuable pieces of California advertising that has ever been written.

LARGE LIME PURCHASE

All records for the use of lime were broken in New Hampshire last year by the co-operative purchase of 5655 tons, or about 250 carloads, according to reports from the county agricultural agents. This is nearly double the amount reported for any previous year.

BETTER FOREST ROADS

Apportionment of the $7,500,000 road fund for the national forests among the state for the fiscal year of 1928 has been announced by the Forest Service, United States department of agriculture.

INOCULATION SUCCESS

Inoculation of legumes is highly profitable in about 95 out of 100 cases when properly done, reports W. R. Carroll, assistant in soil biology at the Illinois college of agriculture.

SOIL SURVEY

Since the start of the soil survey in Illinois, about 6500 soil samples, representing 14 of the more important agricultural soil types of the state, have been analyzed by the experiment station of the Illinois college of agriculture.

PROFIT IN HOGS

Another good year for hogs is predicted by W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist at the North Carolina state college. His belief is based on a government report showing a future market for hogs.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

ORANGE COUNTY HISTORY TOLD WOMAN'S CLUB

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—The history of Orange county and the history of the local Woman's club were stressed at a meeting of the local organization here yesterday. The occasion commemorated the 19th anniversary of the founding of the local Woman's club.

T. E. Stephenson, managing editor of The Register, addressed the club on "The History of Orange County." Stephenson reviewed the history of the county from the time of the Indians to the present. He particularly stressed the history of the county during the period of 1769, when the Portala expedition, the first white expedition in California, traveled through Orange county.

The history of the local Woman's club was given by past presidents of the organization who were present at the meeting. A musical program was presented. Mrs. May S. Jackson, president of the club, presided. The program was in charge of Mrs. T. B. Talbert, chairman of the history and civics committee of the organization.

Following the program the usual social hour was enjoyed by the club members.

Fred Gooden Is Tendered Party At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Jan. 26.—A surprise birthday party was staged at Fonda inn Monday evening in honor of Fred Gooden, who is a sub-contractor in laying the water pipes over the 2000 acres comprising the town of San Clemente.

The color scheme of the decorations was the shades of orange, and in the center of the table was a gaudily dressed clown. Traffore Huteson won a pair of twins which he immediately presented to his wife.

Ole Hanson drew a merry-go-round for guessing the largest number of answers to a questionnaire which was passed among the guests.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hanson sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hanson jr., Mr. and Mrs. Trafford Huteson, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Easley, Miss Wilson, William H. Steveley and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gooden.

After the dinner the entire party repaired to the clubhouse and danced until after midnight.

The music was furnished by an orchestra brought out from Los Angeles.

ANAHEIM ELKS DUE FOR SURPRISE

ANAHEIM, Jan. 26—Several surprises are in store for members of the Anaheim Elks lodge who attend tonight's meeting, according to Oscar W. Heying, exalted ruler of the local herd.

In addition to the regular lodge session and initiation, the meeting will be featured by the introduction of a number of past district deputy grand exalted rulers and a vaudeville performance.

Preceding the lodge session a dinner is to be served in the dining room to all mombers and visitors.

The dinner is intended as a compliment to the members in appreciation of the co-operation accorded the officers of the lodge in putting over the annual charity drives which have been extremely successful, Mr. Heying said.

Hold L. W. Binkley Service Thursday

ORANGE, Jan. 26.—Services for Lowell Wayne Binkley, 44, who died suddenly Monday evening following a heart attack during the midst of a baseball game, will be held from the C. W. Coffey funeral parlors tomorrow at 2 p. m.

The Rev. Earle P. Cochran of the Presbyterian church will read the services assisted by the Rev. T. J. Coburn, of El Modena. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery, with the Masonic lodge conducting grave services.

Mr. Binkley is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Binkley; a son, Glenn, and a daughter, Mildred, who are students at the local high school; five brothers, a sister and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Binkley, of Goshen, Ind. He was a member of both the Masonic and I. O. O. F. lodges of Orange.

Mr. Binkley had been caretaker and truant officer at the El Modena school since he came to California five years ago with his family.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Jan. 26—Miss Dora Knox, of Pasadena, kindergarten teacher, has been added to the staff of teachers at the Placentia union grammar school.

The Rev. Roland E. Griffith is the new minister at the Placentia Church of the Nazarene, supplying in the place made vacant by the Rev. Oscar J. Finch, who moved to Fullerton to take charge of the newly organized church there.

Herbert Foss, Jake Edwardson and Lewis Edwardson left on Sunday morning to spend four days duck hunting in Imperial valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Parsons visited Mr. and Mrs. William Krick on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Sadie Iler entertained on Sunday evening at dinner, Mr. and Mrs. John Iler and family, John Brownwood and Miss Marguerite Bruce, all of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Easten enjoyed a drive to San Clemente on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cline and daughter, Miss Maria Cline, and friends, Miss Margaret Snell and Miss Virginia Van Gilder, of Fullerton, spent Sunday at their cottage at Newport Beach.

Harold Fair, manager of the Capper Furniture exchange in Placentia, and Mrs. Fair and son, Cameron, drove to Riverside on Sunday to visit Mrs. Fair's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mondotta spent Sunday at Beaumont, guests of Mrs. Mondotta's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. McDowell.

Jack Harmony, Rex Berkhart and Harry Ipsen drove to Big Bear valley on Saturday evening and returned on Sunday evening.

A Sunday dinner was enjoyed at the William Krick home, when two birthday anniversaries were celebrated. Mr. and Mrs. Krick's son-in-law, John E. Scott, former bank manager in Placentia, and his son, Jack Scott, celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott and their three sons and Mr. Scott's niece and house guest, Miss Helen Edgecombe, came up from their home at Escondido on Friday and spent the week end here. On Saturday, the Scotts and Miss Edgecombe drove to Pasadena to visit relatives and were luncheon guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bradford, at Altadena, former residents of Placentia. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Christensen, of Bradford avenue, were invited to the birthday dinner at the Krick home.

TUSTIN CLUB SEEKS STOPS ON BOULEVARD

TUSTIN, Jan. 26.—Efforts to secure a boulevard stop on Main street near the kindergarten building are being made today by members of the local Motherhood club. Club members yesterday appointed Mrs. Charles Archer and Mrs. H. Pankey as a committee to confer with school trustees and traffic officials of the county in an effort to secure the stop or an officer to protect the children.

All traffic through Tustin at present is directed past the kindergarten building, due to paving work on the state highway. Teachers have been acting as "traffic officers" but, according to a report at the club, motorists fail to show the teachers any consideration. Several children have narrowly escaped being struck by speeding motorists, it was reported at the meeting.

A pot-luck supper will feature the next meeting of the Motherhood club. Husbands of the members will be guests of honor. The meeting will be held February 9. Mrs. W. S. Leinberger, Mrs. Fred Schwendeman and Mrs. A. L. Shellhous are in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Frank Fowler, president of the organization, presented a report on the Modern Parenthood convention, which was held in Los Angeles recently. Mrs. C. A. Palmer, teacher in the local grammar school, presented several reading numbers.

Among those present yesterday were Mrs. J. DuBois, Mrs. Quincy Page, Mrs. Walter Pollard, Mrs. R. Killams, Mrs. J. H. Pankey, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Mrs. Cecil Maxson, Mrs. Arthur Lindsey, Mrs. Roy Runnells, Mrs. Viola Newell, Miss Estelle Burch, Mrs. P. C. Brooks, Miss Myrtle Matkin, Mrs. J. Danielson, Mrs. Ernest Watson, Mrs. Frank Greenwood, Mrs. Charles Archer, Mrs. Frank Fowler, Mrs. Clarence Nisson, Mrs. A. L. Shellhous, Mrs. R. Pafford, Mrs. W. Tantlinger, Miss Mildred Morrow, Mrs. W. Moore, Mrs. L. E. Allen, Mrs. W. S. Leinberger and Mrs. Fred Schwendeman.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Jan. 26—A report on the combined missionary societies of the Talbert and Greenville churches of the Methodist church, south, shows a total of 18 members enrolled, those responding to roll call being Mrs. A. T. Cole, Mrs. Anna Kuffle, Rev. and Mrs. B. L. HUNTINGTON BEACH BANKS SHOW $700,000 INCREASE IN DEPOSITS DURING YEAR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—Huntington Beach banks had a total gain of more than $700,000 in deposits during the past year, it was shown today in a canvass of the three banking houses. An increase amounting to nearly 40 per cent has been marked up by each bank.

The branch of the Security Trust and Savings bank had the largest money gain, having an increase of nearly $400,000. The deposits of the bank are now about $1,400,000.

The Home State bank and the First National bank each had gains of approximately $150,000 in deposits. The deposits in each of the two banks total more than $500,000. Total bank deposits at the present time break all records, according to bankers, the total being $2,400,000.

Discovery of oil in the west end of the city, with resultant large expenditures of funds, is largely responsible for the great increases, according to officials of the financial institutions.

ASHLEIGH NAMED CLUB PRESIDENT

ANAHEIM, Jan. 26.—Warren Ashleigh has been re-elected president of the White Temple Forum club at the annual election meeting in the parlors of the church. H. W. Lewis was renamed vice president and L. R. Phillips was elected secretary-treasurer.

Perry Mathis, chairman of the nominating committee, read the nominations which were unanimously accepted.

The famous Cotton Blossom Singers of the Piney Woods Country Life school, Piney Woods, Miss., appeared on the program. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Cecil Willits, of Santa Ana, and duets by the Misses Beatrice and Gladys Miller, of Anaheim.

Reports of Oil Gusher at Yorba Linda Are Denied

YORBA LINDA, Jan. 26.—Reports of a gushe ron the Damon and Benchley tract near here are erroneous, according to the owners of the land. The Nugent well, which was the one reported to have come in with an estimated production of 2000 barrels per day, is being drilled at a depth of 4300 feet.

Expectation that the well will develop into a producer is admitted by J. F. Nugent and George T. Nugent, owners of the well. The well was bored through signs of oil and gas at 3100 feet about three months ago, it is said.

L. B. Operator to Drill Oil Well

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—One new oil project was started in the local oil field yesterday. It was started by J. H. McMahon, of Long Beach. The site is on Nineteenth street, between Acacia and Magnolia avenues.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Jan. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler, of San Diego, spent the week-end at the B. M. Selover home. Friends will be interested to learn that Mr. Butler, who is fruit inspector in San Diego district, has been transferred to this district and will bring his family here soon. They will probably locate in Fullerton.

Mrs. Nellie B. Moore, who has been ill, is reported as much improved.

Mrs. C. H. Eichler is able to be out again after being ill with the flu.

Miss Delores Bussee entertained 20 little friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Busse, of Richfield road, on Saturday to celebrate her 10th birthday.

Miss Delores was the recipient of many pretty gifts. Invited guests were Mildred Anderson, Dorcas May, Marjorie Knights, Roberta Selover, Glenna Hooten, Elenore Engle, Sarah Jane Allbee, Grace and Ernestine Reyes, Bernice Smith, Albert and Billy Yerington, Henry Chance, Robert Ryan, Enright Bussee, Nolan Hooten, John Hammer, John Apaltague, Stanton Williams and Norman Foss.

Leroy Johnson entertained at his ranch home on Santa Fe avenue Sunday for Long Beach friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Horne have built a small house on their ranch near Carlsbad and plan to spent several months there. Mr. Horne, who was formerly in the nursery business, has planted several thousand bulbs on his ranch which require his attention.

Mrs. Ernest Walker entertained at luncheon at her home on Thursday a number of friends who have formed a garden club. Following a 1 o'clock luncheon members discussed gardening. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Eldo West, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Della Miller, of Fullerton. Mrs. J. W. Hargrave is to be hostess for the February meeting.

A committee from the local Woman's club is sponsoring a card party in the club house this evening for which a nominal charge will be made. Refreshments and prizes are to be features.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hargrave, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Seamans and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walker attended church services at Pasadena Sunday and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker of that place.

The small son of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Cochran, who has been ill, is convalescing nicely.

George E. Shaw, former manager of the Foothill Groves plant, is now sales agent for Bac-Sul, a fertilizer product and has been calling on friends here this week.

George McCracken, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. McCracken, is convalescing nicely from a broken collar bone, sustained while playing at school.

Friends here have received graduating services of the San Diego high school class of which Margaret Sangster, formerly of this place, is a graduate.

H. B. FINES FOR 2 DAYS TOTAL $925

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—Fines assessed here yesterday by City Recorder C. W. Warner amounted to $475 and brought the total for the first two days of the week to $925. Monday, the city recorder assessed fines aggregating $450.

George Wagner, 35, of 905 Nylic Court, Long Beach, was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or spend 250 days in jail yesterday when he was found guilty of a reckless driving charge. He has not paid the fine, according to reports.

George Hodes, 42, of Long Beach, a companion of Wagner, was given his choice of paying $50 or spending 50 days in jail, and Nathan Whitis, 40, of Long Beach, another companion of Wagner, was fined $25. Both were charged with being intoxicated. Hodes had not paid his fine today. Whitis paid the fine.

Thomas Gallagher, 44, a local dish washer, was sentenced to pay a $100 fine or spend 100 days in jail, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated.

R. E. Gray, 32, of Anaheim, was given his choice of paying a $50 fine or spending 50 days in jail, after pleading guilty to a charge of being intoxicated. He was unable to pay the fine.

'Garden of Shah' To Be Presented By Anaheim Clubs

ANAHEIM, Jan. 26.—"In the Garden of the Shah," a colorful operetta in three acts, has been chosen as the vehicle which the boys' and girls' glee clubs of the Anaheim union high school will use this year to make their annual public concert appearance.

The production is to be presented by a cast of more than 60 singers, with the following taking the leading solo parts: La Velle Cheatham, Constance Randall, Roberta Eley, Kenneth Hall, Simeon Tolle, John Eley, Walter Taylor and William Ward. The remainder of the singers will comprise the huge chorus.

The setting of the production is to be typically Persian in its atmosphere and students of the art and stage craft departments of the school, under Miss Madeline Conover, are hard at work designing and constructing the sets and costumes.

Food Sale Held By Trinity Guild

ORANGE, Jan. 26.—The Woman's Trinity guild of the Episcopal church realized $21 from the food sale conducted in the plaza Saturday, according to a report submitted by Mrs. A. L. Hitchcock, chairman, at the semi-monthly meeting yesterday. Discussion of plans for a party to raise money to purchase a new gas range for the kitchen of the parish social hall occupied the remainder of the meeting. No action on the matter was taken.

SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, Jan. 26—The Rev. I. N. Evans, state secretary of the California Missionary board will deliver the address in the San Clemente church February 6, it was announced here today. The preaching service will start at 11 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and family, of this community, who have been vacationing in Europe since last November, are on their return to San Clemente and are expected here soon, according to word received by friends. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler own one of the large Spanish houses on the ocean front.

Mr. and Mrs. McGilvory, of Pasadena, spent the week-end at their new home on Pasadena Knoll.

A flight of steps recently constructed to the San Clemente reservoir, is now open for use, it is reported.

J. Easley, local grading contractor, has moved his blacksmith shop to a new location, about a half mile south of the lumber yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Meisch were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick in Los Angeles Sunday.

Oil Boom at H. B. Causes House Shortage

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—This city is faced with a scarcity of houses, it was revealed today. Rent houses are in demand every day and, according to realtors, there are no houses to be had. The great influx of oil workers during the past few weeks has caused the scarcity of homes, it is reported.

AIRPORT FIELD DAY SCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY 4

FULLERTON, Jan. 26—Fullerton's airport field day was definitely fixed for February 4 and a goal of 1000 workers was set at a highly enthusiastic meeting of the general committee held at Chamber of Commerce headquarters yesterday.

Sub-committees were appointed to take charge of different phases of the organization and campaign, and plans were adopted for making the meet unique in the history of the city. Support of all the community bodies is to be sought. The Kiwanis club and the Fullerton Realty board already have gone on record as backing the enterprise. Others are expected to follow this lead.

County and city equipment for grading and levelling the runways will be augmented by tractors and rollers from different local firms. Plenty of material will be available. The main concern now is "man power," which is needed primarily for the preliminary work, such as clearing weeds. Each of the volunteers will be asked to bring along a shovel, rake or hoe.

The field day is being planned not only from the standpoint of practical results in the way of labor and improvements but with a view to a general quickening of community interest and "selling" the townspeople the idea of aviation, awakening them to a realization of what a municipal airport will mean to the city.

There will be a series of aerial stunts staged by William Dowling, commercial aviator, who has just purchased a fast three-seater passenger plane which he will operate from the new field.

It is hoped to have the Fullerton City band out to play selections and add an air of festivity to the occasion.

Archie Raitt, secretary of the Northern Orange County Y. M. C. A., will have charge of the "feed bag" committee and promises to put on a barbecue dinner that will tickle the palates of the volunteer tollers.

The general committee comprises Howard A. Krause, chairman of the chamber's aeronautical committee; William Dowling, Lloyd Hulbert. Trustee O. M. Thompson, Dr. W. H. Wickett and Secretary Ray B. Leach of the chamber of commerce

Inaugurate San Clemente Dances

SAN CLEMENTE, Jan. 26—Monday evening the first of the bi-monthly dances was held in the beautiful clubhouse in the Spanish Village. An orchestra of five pieces dispersed popular fox trots, waltzes, etc., until after midnight. About one hundred couples were in attendance and if the first dance may be taken as a criterion of those to follow, dancing will be at a premium.

Before the arrival of the orchestra the guests had the pleasure of inspecting the beautiful new furnishings which were installed on Saturday.

BOLSA

BOLSA, Jan. 26.—Sterling Price, local rancher, who has a large acreage to spinach this year, began cutting his crop Tuesday and will probably ship the remainder this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller, of Hawthorne, former Bolsa residents, were visitors Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross.

Mrs. Earl Gardner was an all-day visitor in the home of her mother, Mrs. J. D. Shutt, and in the evening they were joined by Mrs. Gardner's four daughters, the Misses Bessie, Margaret, Myrtle and Dorothy, who were dinner guests in the Shutt home.

W. G. Dalzell has received word of the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Davis, 83 years of age. Her death occurred in Los Angeles, where she was making her home.

Warren Sargent, who has been ill for many weeks with influenza, is recovering from a relapse.

George Patterson, who for several years has held the position of bus driver for the Bolsa grammar school, resignes his position this week and has gone to Los Angeles, where he will further his education along the electrical line. Vick Walker, of Santa Ana, is the new driver.

Mr. Thompson, of Long Beach, a friend of Robert Kellar, was a Tuesday evening caller in the Kellar home.

Mrs. P. C. Stroud went to Pasadena Sunday to visit friends.

Z. M. Coelho, local dairyman, is putting up a new water tank at his dairy this week.

Mrs. C. D. Post, whose modern new six-room home has just been completed on her ranch, located one mile south and one-half mile east of Bolsa, took possession this week.

Earl Gardner, who has been at Marysville the past several weeks looking after property interests, is expected home withi na few days, the work on his land and that of his brother-in-law, J. D. Shutt jr., which they have been doing together, having been almost completed at the last word from Gardner.

Mrs. John Clark and young daughter came home Monday from the Santa Ana Valley hospital. Mrs. Clark and little daughter will remain a month in the home of Mrs. Clark's mother, Mrs. M. Shiffer, while Mr. Clark expects to return to Delta, Utah, to look after property interests. The closing of the doors of the bank in which Mr. Clark and his brother had deposits in Delta, caused the curtailment of the visit of Mr. and Mrs. M. Clark, who were visitors in the Shiffer home.

The club dance given last Saturday evening at the Bolsa clubhouse drew a large crowd and an equal number is expected at the one which will be sponsored by the club on this coming Saturday evening.

Fritz Goozens, who last year resided at the Uttersport ranch, called upon friends at Bolsa Sunday. Mr. Goozens is now living in Pasadena.

Miss Lucille Radford will arrive from Los Angeles Saturday evening to spend next week at home as the mid-semester vacation begins at that time. Miss Radford is a student at the U. of C., southern branch, and is busy with examinations this week.

Mrs. C. H. Rossman and daughter, Miss Metta Rossman, of Santa Ana, visited friends and former Bolsa neighbors one day this week. Both were just recovering from quite severe attacks of the flu.

The Rev. Walter McGehee did not join his family at Bolsa Saturday as expected, the work upon which he was employed at Salt Lake City, Utah, again causing him to postpone the trip. The two daughters, Esther and Blanche, who were to have accompanied their father, made the trip alone and are now with their mother and the younger children of the family at the home of their grandfather. Mr. McGehee will join his family as soon as possible.

Mrs. Anna Carlson and Edwin Carlson spent Sunday evening at Long Beach.

A. F. Walker is preparing his land for irrigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Trenery, of this place, attended on Tuesday afternoon the funeral service for Mrs. D. W. C. Dimock, of Smeltzer, whose death occurred Friday of the past week.

Ave Ross, who has been spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Richardson, is again a guest in the home of his son, Ralph Ross.

78 Cars of Navel Oranges Shipped From Placentia

PLACENTIA, Jan. 26.—The Placentia Mutual Orange Growers' association has shipped 40 cars of navel oranges and 20 cars of lemons since the opening of the season and has about 40 cars to put on the market.

The Placentia Orange Growers' association has shipped 30 cars of navel oranges and has about as many yet to pack, which will keep the packing house running for about two weeks longer.

Bradford Brothers have shipped four cars and expect that one more car will finish the navel season.

Placentia Co-operative Packing company has had four cars for the whole season.

2 ORANGE BANKS SHOW INCREASES

ORANGE, Jan. 26—Reports showing a gain since last January of $433,163.78 in joint deposits and a gain of $336,125.85 in joint assets, were presented to the directors of the Orange Savings bank and the National bank at the meeting of the boards of directors yesterday.

The National bank showed the greatest increase. In deposits, the National bank increased from $824,736.98 in January, 1926, to $1,067,267.44 at present. Assets showed a gain from $1,317,137.96 in January, 1926, to $1,505,904.88 this year. The total gain for the National bank was $431,297.38.

The Savings bank deposits grew from $633,565.79 last year to $824,199.11 at present. Assets for the Savings bank showed an increase from $778,208.91 last year to $975,567.84 this year. Total gains for the Savings bank read $387,992.25.

Following the hearing of the financial reports, the directors who have served the past year were re-elected. The directors in session elected the following officers for the National bank: F. L. Ainsworth, chairman of the board; J. R. Porter, president; K. E. Watson, vice president; Willard Smith, acting vice president; F. M. Gulick, cashier; B. J. Fletcher, assistant cashier; F. T. Goode, assistant cashier.

Savings bank officers were as follows: H. L. Haynes, president; F. M. Gulick, cashier, succeeding J. R. Porter; Fred Struck, vice president, and J. R. Porter, vice president.

C. P. Patton Heads Finance Concern

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—C. P. Patton was elected president of the Finance Service corporation at the annual business meeting of the organization held here this week. H. S. Young was elected vice president, R. L. Obarr, treasurer, and H. S. Hancock, secretary.

A board of directors was elected. The directors are D. W. Huston, C. P. Patton, G. O. Berry, J. E. Whitfield, B. T. Gothard, H. S. Young, J. K. McDonald, W. J. Williams, R. L. Obarr, E. H. Cookingham and Ed Manning.

The corporation recently paid its members a 100 per cent dividend after its first year of operation. The corporation members secured a lease on several thousand acres of mining land in New Mexico a year ago. The land proved to be oil land.

Recently, a portion of the lease was sold to a large oil company. The corporation still holds 7200 acres, however.

MESA BODY TO MEET

COSTA MESA, Jan. 26.—The first sectional meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the local Community church will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Carruthers on Newport road, it was announced today. The section which will meet tomorrow includes all members of the society who live north of Hamilton street.

Y. M. C. A. WORK EXPLAINED IN ORANGE SPEECH

ORANGE, Jan. 26—The most important work of the Y. M. C. A. worker, conferring with parents and advising them regarding their children who have become problems, is the side which is stressed very little, according to C. E. Morrow, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, who spoke at a meeting of the Maple street P.-T. A. yesterday at the school.

Conferences with parents of Orange children are a part of his daily duties, Morrow said. In the three years Morrow has been secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., he has advised more parents in regard to their children than he did in the five years preceding his coming here, he said.

Parents should learn to know their children while they are still youngsters, according to Morrow. They shouldn't wait until the child is nearly grown before realizing that there are problems which the child must meet and that intelligent advice on the part of the parent is not only welcome but needed.

Miss Idabelle Durgin, city school nurse, in a short talk, stressed the need for precautions against diseases which are considered of a minor character. She stated that disease in Orange is represented in a very small number of cases as compared with other communities.

George Sherwood, superintendent of schools, spoke on the need for a new building to replace the Lemon street school. According to Sherwood, the Lemon street school building is the oldest in Orange. It was erected more than 35 years ago.

Entertainment was furnished by the Rev. Earle P. Cochran, who sang. Mrs. Leon Des Larzes and Mrs. Charles Harrington were hostesses for the afternoon.

Snowball Charge Against La Habra Youths Is Dropped

LA HABRA, Jan. 26.—Stating that the case had been settled out of court, the deputy district attorney of San Bernardino county moved for dismissal of the case against W. H. White and Don Clark, local youths, charged with hurling snowballs at Mrs. Mabel B. Schenk, of Hollywood, when the case was called in Judge George R. Crane's court at Upland yesterday. The motion was granted.

Mrs. Schenk, in her complaint, charged that snowballs thrown at her by the two local youths on Christmas day in San Antonio canyon broke a pair of glasses she was wearing and cut and bruised her face.

ORANGE

ORANGE, Jan. 26.—Cars driven by Albert Leichtfuss, of Villa Park, and Arnold Schoenfeldt, of Orange, collided at the intersection of Lemon and Center streets, Villa Park, yesterday. Slight damage was done to the cars. Neither driver was injured.

Jaunto Jeminez, of El Modena, paid a fine of $15 in Recorder G. W. Ingle's court this morning on a charge of speeding 40 miles per hour in a 20-mile zone.

William C. Schoenfeldt, father of A. J. Schoenfeldt, of 303 North Cambridge street, who has been visiting in Orange for several weeks, left for Gardena this morning to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klinger. Schoenfeldt is manager of a lumber concern at North Tonawanda, N. Y.

Makes Hair Behave But Doesn't SHOW!

There's a way to keep your hair just-so, without any of that objectionable, "plastered-down" look. Just use a few drops of Danderine—comb it through hair, or use a Danderine-dampened towel—you'll be amazed at the way your hair then behaves, and its beautiful lustre!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff! Dissolves every bit of it. Puts scalp in the pink of condition. Invigorates hair and hair-roots. Why use anything else?

Ask Your Druggist

Get a bottle of Danderine and start its benefits today. Every drugstore in America has it, for only 35c. For the finest dressing you could find, and the best aid to hair health yet distcovrewdde to hair health yet discovered, just try—

THE GRAND JURY REPORT

Taxpayers of the county ought to read every word of the report of the grand jury. It is a citizen's duty to inform himself of what is going on in governmental affairs. Much of that information can be gained by reading news reports as they appear in newspapers. Information upon any point that arouses the interest of a taxpayer can be obtained by inquiries at the courthouse; it is the experience of The Register that public officials of this county are uniformly courteous and uniformly anxious to supply any information sought from them. In addition to other informative sources, the report of a grand jury is always important. While this report is made to the superior court, with a supplemental report this year to the board of supervisors, the report is essentially a report made by a body of representative taxpayers to their fellow taxpayers of the county.

One may not agree with all of the conclusions reached by the grand jury. In fact, The Register finds itself inclined to question two or three of the grand jury's conclusions. We aren't entirely "sold" on the idea of a citizen committee to make recommendations on salaries of county officers and help for county offices. We do not agree with the recommendations made for pay of county officers and deputies. We are awaiting further information before we reach a conclusion as to whether the county horticultural commission should have the numerous additional deputies recommended by the grand jury. We are informed that some of the grand jurors themselves are doubtful as to the wisdom of that recommendation, which was made hurriedly at the last meeting of the grand jury.

However, those matters are of minor consequence. They involve details over which differences of opinion are inevitable. Upon the larger and most important matters dealt with in the grand jury report, we agree thoroughly. Calling a halt on the formation of ill-advised road improvement districts, taking steps to protect county property at West Orange against flood menace, the suggestion that a protective district be formed to look after the hazards of the Santiago creek, co-operation in water conservation and fire prevention—these are matters in which we are in positive and emphatic agreement with the grand jury.

The grand jury's survey of school buildings and its examination of the affairs of county offices in itself is entirely worth while.

Service upon a grand jury is generally a burden upon the member. But it is a worth-while service. Though grand jury reports are sometimes neglected, some of the suggestions of every grand jury bear fruit. This year's grand jury report has suggestions that are worthy of careful consideration by officials and taxpayers alike.

A GRIM JOB FOR SCIENCE

How it got here no one knows. It came from Europe, and 1917 is given as the date of its appearance. Its visit is costing the United States millions of dollars. It is the European corn borer.

A farmer down in the Illinois corn belt was looking around in his fields one day when he discovered a tiny brown worm. He took it to the Kankakee county farm bureau. The adviser told him it was the corn borer and gave the news to the world.

The borer showed up mysteriously in Massachusetts in 1917. It has multiplied and spread until now its domain is a region of 100,000 miles. It has moved in all directions with the corn. If conditions are to its liking it can destroy an entire crop of corn.

In western New York many sweet corn growers lost their crops for the last two seasons; others took losses of 50 per cent. Now, with Indiana and Illinois menaced, serious possibilities lie just ahead for the national corn crop.

In the central states corn belt the annual production of corn runs to two and three billions of dollars. If the borer gets to playing with this crop, food prices may go to unheard of figures.

Experts have racked their brains. Congress has appropriated $10,000,000 to war on the pest. No dusts or sprays reach the evil invader because it burrows too deep. There has even been some discussion of establishing nation-wide cornless zones to fight the worm somewhat after the way rangers fight a forest fire.

The grim siege goes on. Here is an enemy no bigger than a man's little finger, and it is eating the cash right out of his wallet, but he can't pin it down. Science must find the way.

PHILADELPHIA'S EXPERIMENT

One of the most drastic moves yet made to remedy the traffic situation in a large American city is Philadelphia's new order prohibiting all downtown parking of automobiles.

The district wherein parking is forbidden is a mile and a half long and a mile and a quarter wide. Through this region automobiles may pass, but they are not to be parked at the curbing. They must keep moving between 6:30 a. m. and 7 p. m.

The effect of this ruling upon business will be watched with interest all over the country. Merchants are divided in theory—some declare it hurts their trade, while others assert that it is a help because an end of automobile congestion means more buyers can be accommodated.

The result of the experiment will be important, and will be of interest in cities the size of Santa Ana, where the effect of limited parking is of vital consequence to merchants. We are not prepared to establish a no-parking area; our concern is centered in, "how long shall they be allowed to park?"

SIMPLE LANGUAGE IN ITALY

Having reformed nearly everything else in Italy, Mussolini has got around to newspaper style. And here, it must be admitted, he seems on solider ground than in many of his other reforms.

He has ordered Italian newspapers to change from their usual ornate style to one of severe simplicity. Instructions issued to the staff of the official Fascist organ in Rome show what he means. Thus:

"It is absolutely forbidden, without the permission of the editor, to use for any motive or on any occasion whatsoever the words 'hero' or 'heroic' or 'heroism,' whether dead or living persons are referred to.

"Headings must be short and concrete, and refer to the matter of the news item.

"The use of a minimum of adjectives is recommended, especially in treating of ceremonies, fetes, etc., and also on the editorial page. The substantive should suffice. Our journalistic style needs purifying with at least a year of bare, severe writing. Use pumice stone on your periods.

"Remember that the paper is published for the many thousands of readers who have little time to spare from their daily work. Articles, therefore, should give the gist of the subject at once, clearly and soberly, and should not pre-suppose that the reader is already acquainted with the topic under discussion."

This, on the whole, is sound advice, most of which the best American newspapers try to apply, whether they succeed or not. Mussolini doesn't know everything, possibly not even as much as he thinks he knows, but he knows how to go straight to the point—which is the essence of good writing.

Now that Ma Ferguson is out of the Texas governorship, why don't Pa and Ma vindicate each other by running for President?

Smash Insurance Needed

San Francisco Chronicle

Compulsory automobile liability insurance is provided in a bill introduced at Sacramento. The principle is correct. California recognizes responsibility in industry. It demands that the manufacturer be financially responsible to pay compensation for accidents in his plant. No less should be expected of the motorist.

At one of the recent meetings of the Commonwealth club it was brought out that more than 600,000 automobiles are driven in California by persons who could not pay damages in case of serious accident caused by them. The result is that if the injured person gets a judgment for personal or property injury it is valueless because he cannot collect anything from the driver.

Opposition to this proposal of compulsory liability insurance is based on a fear of paternalism, and that it would lead the state into the automobile liability insurance business. It has not done so in Massachusetts, where such a law now is in operation. Nor is there any reason in California for confusing the good such a law would do by shouting "State insurance." Compulsory automobile insurance does not necessarily imply "State insurance" and instead of taking away business from the insurance companies the measure should add to its volume.

Existing conditions with regard to automobile accidents are intolerable. It is asserted that in this year 16,000 accidents can be expected from cars driven by those financially unable to take care of valid claims against them. Compulsory liability insurance would go a long way in removing this injustice to those suffering property losses or injury to their persons in automobile accidents.

Should Be Examined

Palo Alto Times

The proposed amendment to the present state law which would establish compulsory examination of all who hereafter apply for licenses to operate motor vehicles is a needed step in the direction of greater public safety. Under our present condition of traffic congestion—a condition that increases visibly from month to month—the public is exposed to dangers aplenty under the best of circumstances, without adding extra dangers by the licensing of irresponsible operators. Under the present law it is optional with the state division of motor vehicles whether or not an applicant shall be examined after submission of a verified statement to the department. With this condition obtaining, the granting of driving licenses is certain to become resolved into a mere formality.

It is significant that the proposed amendment has the approval of the Motor Vehicle conference, which is composed of representatives of the California State Automobile association, the Automobile Club of Southern California, farm organizations, chambers of commerce, leagues of city, county and police officials, and other civic bodies interested in fostering public safety in traffic.

Saving Wild Things

Toronto Globe

When the sailors on the frost-bound steamer in the St. Mary's river recently released a big moose from the icy waters and towed it to shore and safety, they unconsciously paid tribute to a modern school of literature which originated in Canada. This is the growing group of nature writers who, have interpreted animal life to millions of young readers and instilled in them a respect and love for wild things. An older generation of sailors—or landsmen—would have had great sport shooting the unfortunate moose. "It's a fine day; let's kill something," is a sentiment less popular than in our grandfathers' day.

LAUNDRY SANITATION

The washing of clothes in a crowded home, a modern apartment house, or kitchenet inevitably creates sanitary problems of importance.

A kitchen is a place for the preparation of food. Regardless of any sanitary questions, it is distasteful to think of the washing of soiled clothes in a kitchen when steam from the tubs, the boilers and the chemicals used mingles with the foods that may be prepared.

The ordinary family wash carries little danger of infection to the laundry workers, but freshly soiled handkerchiefs or underclothing should be boiled separately before being put with the rest of the clothes.

Most germs are readily killed by exposure to heat or sunlight. Moreover, soap, washing soda, borax and ammonia have the power of killing germs in various strengths.

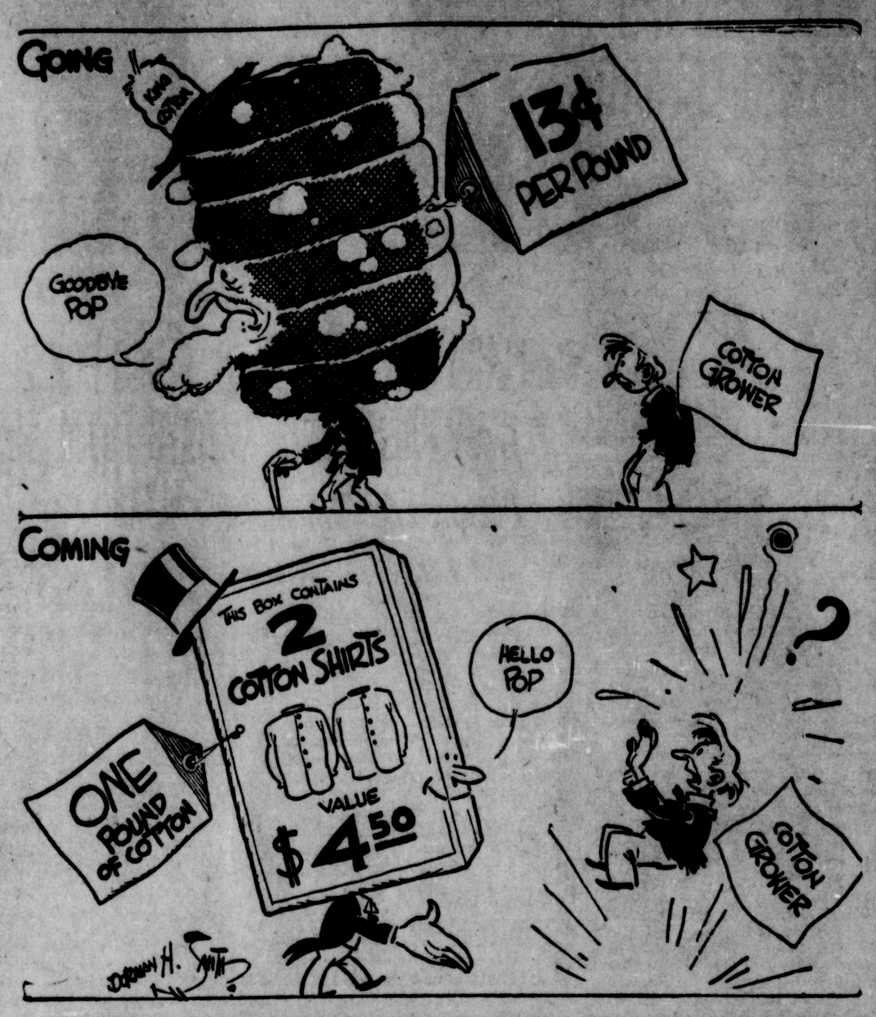

In the case of persons with serious contagious diseases, the soiled clothes should be kept separately and all linens thoroughly boiled before being allowed to come in contact with clothing worn by others.

The development of kitchenet and apartment houses has also brought about the development of commercial laundries which undertake the washing of all of the clothing as well as of stiff shirts, collars and special materials to which they were formerly limited.

In the modern commercial laundry the clothing for each family is sorted and kept separately so that there is little danger of contamination of the laundry of one family by the materials from that of another.

The development of modern laundry machinery has led, in practically all communities of any size, to the gradual disappearance of the home laundress and has been a distinct aid to hygiene and sanitation in the home.

The Why of the Squawk of the South

Years and Usefulness

San Diego Union

The age of usefulness is a term which has no more actual accuracy or dependability than that similar concept, "the average man." When such an authority as Dr. Nicoll, New York state commissioner of health, asserts that old people who live unproductive lives should be cast into the discard, he is not talking scientifically. Neither is his idea "advanced," simply because it is repugnant to our present customs. The idea was old when slave labor in prehistoric Greece was building the lion gates of Mycene. It is one of those ideas which have a certain surface glitter, which can easily be refurbished on occasion to look like new, but which human experience has long since found wanting.

Dates and ages are of course thoroughly artificial conveniences in human reckoning, and have no actual relation to the substance of human life or to the productiveness of the individual. To talk about an age of usefulness is to discuss a myth which has no more relation to practical fact than the moon's phases have to do with the fertility of seeds.

Averages are of course quite inaccurate, but in delimiting an age of usefulness it is not even possible to compute averages as a guide. Data for making an estimate are not only lacking, but unattainable. Nobody has a measuring stick for "usefulness." It might be possible, of course, to complete a list of 10,000 individuals whom contemporary opinion unanimously judged useless, and then to take an average of their ages as the chronological dividing line between usefulness and its opposite; but that ruling would be open to the immediate objection that the 10,000 examples included at least as many exceptions as conformations. It would also be discovered that a great many of the verdicts as to uselessness were inaccurate—for inaccuracy seems to be typical of such judgments. In other words, even a statistical formula for fixing upon the age of usefulness would be very doubtful in its results; and we have never seen a generalization on the subject which had the benefit of even that much authentication.

This matter of the usefulness of people who are called "old" comes down, in the end, to the findings of every-day human experience; and by this standard the "old people" win a clear verdict over all the statisticians and theorists who have ever discussed the subject. Draw the line of "old age" where you will, and then estimate the productiveness of the people you know who have passed that mark. You will not find yourself thinking about discards and euthanasia.

Perhaps as the race grows older we are beginning to realize more profoundly the value inherent in all the stages of human life, and in all the conditions of existence. And if contemporary thought is delighting itself with discovering the values that childhood's thought and feelings have to contribute, it is only because the worth of age's more articulate findings has so long been taken for granted. After all, no strand in the rich fabric of existence should be lost—neither the fairy gold of the child's thread, nor the serene silver spun by the years of contemplation.

Worth While Verse

AN APPEAL

Heirs of great yesterdays, be proud with me
Of our most envied treasure of the Past:
Not wide domain; not doubtful wealth amassed;
Not ganglia cities—rival worlds to be!—
But great souls, servitors of Liberty,
Who kept the State to star-set Honor fast,
Not for ourselves alone but that, at last,
No nation should to Baal bow the knee.

Are we content to be inheritors?
Can you not hear the pleading of the sod
That canopies our heroes? Hasten, then!
Help the sad earth unlearn the vogue of wars.
Be just, and earn the eternal praise of men;
Be generous, and win the smile of God.

JANUARY 26, 1913

The Orange County Triangle league met in the Central school building for the purpose of considering games suitable for recess periods in the public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smiley of West Orange, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

The following advertisement appeared in The Register: "For Sale—Eight-room house and garage, cement drive, one block from courthouse. If you want something that's fine you had better hurry as it is brand new and its $1500 too cheap. You can buy it now for $5500. S. A. Clark."

At a meeting of Orange county poultrymen it was decided to hold a poultry show at Orange February 17 to 21.

Announcement was made that the Orange county quarter centennial edition of The Register would be published in honor of the 25th anniversary of the city. A number of special articles written by Linn L. Shaw, J. P. Mitchell, Law H. Roberts, Kate Kennady Roberts, T. E. Stephenson and the Rev. J. Herndon Garnett, will appear in the booklet.

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles, based on the revenue act of 1926, written by the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue.

No. 9

In computing the tax on earned net income, consideration is given the taxpayer in trade or business in which both capital and personal service are material income-producing factors. The revenue act of 1926 provides in such cases that a "reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services" shall be considered as earned income. Such allowance is not to exceed 20 per cent of the taxpayer's share of the net profits of such trade or business. For example, a taxpayer received in 1926 from a business in which both personal service and capital are material income-producing factors, a net profit of $30,000. The 25 per cent credit is computed on 20 per cent of $30,000, or $6000. The amount payable is the tax on $30,000, less 25 per cent of the tax on $6000.

The earned income credit is allowed members of a partnership, such credit applying to the share of the net income belonging to each which consists of earned income. Where, as in the case of an individual taxpayer, capital and personal service are both material income-producing factors, the 20 per cent limitation applies. In such cases the salaries paid a partner should be added to the distributive shares to determine the "reasonable allowance for personal services." For example, the "A" partnership, consisting of two members, made in 1926 a net income of $40,000. Each partner drew during the year a salary of $7000. These salaries should be added to the net income, making a total of $54,000. Hence $27,000 is the distributive share of each partner. Twenty per cent of $27,000 is $5400. Each partner, therefore, is allowed an earned net income of $5400, although his salary was $7000.

If a partnership business consists principally in rendering personal service, the employment of capital not being material, but merely incidental, the earnings of such partnership are considered due primarily to the activities of the owners. In such cases the 20 per cent limitation does not apply, and the entire net income up to $20,000 may be treated as earned income when computing the 25 per cent credit.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $3,50, or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period ends March 15, 1927.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instru tions on Forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one-half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income in excess of $10,000.

Forest Fires In California

Riverside Press

A total of 1662 forest fires which burned over 584,601 acres and cost $565,136 to suppress, is, in brief, the 1926 fire record for the national forests of California, according to figures released by S. B. Show, chief of the California district, U. S. forest service.

Of the total of 1662 fires that occurred in and adjacent to the federal forests, 1138 or 68 per cent were due to human carelessness—as compared with 537 out of a total of 1915 fires in 1925. Smokers led the list with 427 fires, with incendiaries 178, railroads 170, campers 137, lumbering operations 52, brush burners 50, and miscellaneous causes 124. Lightning is credited with starting 524 fires.

The total area of government timber and brush land burned over was 215,508 acres, while 369,094 acres of private lands within and adjacent to the national forests were swept by flames. The total cost to the forest service of fire suppression was $565,136, or more than double the expenditures made for like purposes in 1925.

Fires in the national forests this year killed 296,000,000 feet of federal owned timber besides large amounts of young growth, destroyed 750,000 feet of cut logs, and occasioned damage to logging equipment, mills and improvements amounting to $216,000—making a total loss, based on conservative estimates, amounting to nearly one million dollars, of which more than three-quarters of a million dollars were timber losses. Figures on additional losses of forage, wild life, water conservation and recreational resources are not available.

The leading forest fires were:

Shasta, 329 fires, 85,542 acres burned.

Plumas, 181 fires, 30,988 acres burned.

Klamath, 161 fires; 111,412 acres burned.

Sequoia, 122 fires; 104,262 acres burned.

The Angeles, Santa Barbara San Bernardino and Cleveland national forests of Southern California, long noted as the "tinder boxes" of the state, had only 147 fires that covered a total of 41,384 acres—an area less than that swept the great San Gabriel fire of 1924, in the Angeles forest.

Smoking was prohibited on all national forests in Southern California throughout the fire season and, backed by similar ordinances in some counties, was rigidly enforced, with the result that of the 427 smokers' fires that occurred in the government forests of the state, only 46 occurred in the Southland. On the San Bernardino forest alone there were 108 convictions for violation of the smoking regulations, and the fines assessed totaled $2,144. The no-smoking regulation was later extended to the northern forests until on September 1, over 15 million acres of national forests in California were closed to smoking.

With the opening of the statewide hunting season on September 1, a large force of special registration guards was placed on the main roads leading into all national forests, and everyone entering the forests was required to register and was warned to be careful with fire. On the Modoc forest every automobile was required to be equipped with an ax and shovel, and on the Shasta forest every man in a hunting or camping party was required to provide himself with these fire fighting implements. The sportsmen's clubs of California gave able assistance to the forest service in the carrying out of registration and no-smoking orders by raising money for the hiring of guards.

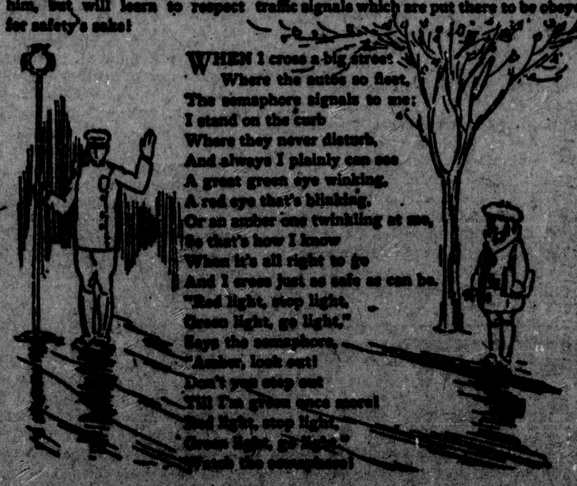

By and large, the 1926 fire season on the national forests was a strenuous one and almost equal in intensity to the disastrous year of 1924. Because of the prolonged dry season, low humidity and hot winds, fires started easily and made spectacular runs. The Deetz fire on the Shasta forest, on cut-over land, ran 2000 acres the first afternoon, was controlled, but broke out again and ran 3000 acres the second day. On the Plumas forest, the Little Last Chance fire, in virgin timber and young reproduction, swept over 25,000 acres in three days. Many fires outside the national forests attained sizes of from 10,000 to 75,000 acres.

But, the forest service says, this is only half of the fire story—the state forester has yet to report fire losses in California outside the federal forests, and when these figures are made public the combined losses of forest resources should be such as to awaken every citizen to the tremendous seriousness of the yearly fire problem of the state.

The Semaphore

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

WE pray for the safety of our children, and we are sad with those whose little folk suffer accidents, yet every day I see grownups grimly dragging children by the hand and taking deliberate chances in traffic. They blandly ignore the policeman or the semaphore, and hurry the child along. Traffic signals come often enough that it seems the minute gained disobeying the signal isn't worth the risk of having the child do the same thing when he's alone, and possibly losing out on the gamble. Why not stand on the curb and use the extra minute to teach the child? Say to him, "Now, you tell me when it's safe to go." The child will not only be proud of the confidence you place in him, but will learn to respect traffic signals which are put there to be obeyed for safety's sake!

WHEN I cross a big street
Where the autos so fleet,
The semaphore signals to me;
I stand on the curb
Where they never disturb,
And always I plainly can see
A great green eye winking,
A red eye that's blinking,
Or an amber one twinkling at me,
So that's how I know
When it's all right to go
And I cross just as safe as can be.
"Red light, stop light,
Green light, go light,"
Says the semaphore,
"Amber, look out!
Don't you step out
Till I've given once more!
Red light, stop light,
Green light, go light,"
Watch the semaphore!
